Pinchot's Victory.
The Graf Arrives.
Racketeer Technique.
Marx and Confucius.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

GIFFORD PINCHOT wins the Pennsylvania Republican primaries and will be the next governor of Pennsylvania, probably. A wet will run against him.

Some that do not agree on the wet and dry issue with Mr. Pinchot, will be glad to see in office a governor who is an exception to the rule of government by organized capital. Organized capital does not own Gifford Pinchot.

WHEN you read this the Graf Zeppelin will have landed in Brazil. Von Weigand, Hearst correspondent on the airship, reports a pleasant passage, with shortage of water, some passengers using cologne for bathing.

We are far from the days when the average American family "waited until Saturday."

The Zeppelin voyage is a tribute to German energy, efficiency, science and determination.

FRANCE permitted the Graf Zeppelin go sailing over all her West Indian colonies, except one place, on the island of Martinique.

Britain gave permission to fly over British Caribbean territory.

That nonsense about giving other nations permission to use the air should end. Anybody can use the ocean, of water, and do what he pleases on it, eight miles out. The other ocean, of air, soon to be more important, should be similarly regulated, anybody allowed to use it, anywhere, one mile or two miles up. International law should settle that.

NEW YORK'S racketeers and gunmen can teach their Chicago brethren something new in crime technique and daring.

Chicago gangsters shoot other gangsters, or, at worst, little people.

New York's racketeers were displeased with Albert J. Schwarzler, wealthy contractor and property owner. Apparently, he had not obeyed their orders. They stepped up to his automobile, shot him through the body, and departed in a red roadster. Schwarzler may live to realize that in our kind of civilization it is not wise to disobey racketeer gunmen.

THE "Red" movement in China, attributed to Russia, worries the Nanking government and threatens permanent disturbances and war.

Premature transplanting of new ideas into minds unprepared is dangerous.

The Chinese, not ready for the theories of Karl Marx or Reclus, take them too seriously.

Much better if they would stick to Confucius for a few more centuries.

UNION SQUARE, in New York, is to have a high flagpole costing $80,000, erected by the "Charles F. Murphy Memorial Committee." Mr. Murphy was a Tammany leader of considerable power, possessing the faculty of saying little and keeping his word.

The flagpole, which was to be erected in Murphy's honor, will dominate monuments to Washington, Lafayette and Lincoln, all in Union Square.

ON a second thought, the memorial committee decided that Mr. Murphy, although a powerful Tammany leader, was not greater than the three others in Union Square, so the flagpole is to commemorate American Independence.

Mr. Murphy, who had a sense of humor, would approve of that change.

TALKIES have worried musicians, making theater orchestras unnecessary. In Schenectady, with television by radio, General Electric Company has shown that one orchestra leader could conduct 1,000 orchestras at the same time.

Musicians planted in a theater, led by "television" pictures of an orchestra conductor miles away.

IT WAS suggested here the other day that books cost too much, and a book that can be manufactured for 40 cents ought not to sell for two dollars and a half. Three big publishers announce that they will cut fiction prices in half, selling $1 novels.

If somebody would print the best scientific books for 50 cents a volume, that would be even better news.

YESTERDAY in a most solemn ceremonial Pope Pius observed the "holy hour" centenary. Descending from his apartments in the Vatican, surrounded by members of the ecclesiastical and lay court, the Pope entered the Basilica at St. Peter's and remained kneeling for one hour in meditation.

The "holy hour" arch-confraternity was established 100 years ago in memory of the hour of agony in the Garden of Gethsemane, preceding the crucifixion.

Now it is celebrated by Catholics all over the world.

CROWD ASSAILS AUTO DRIVER

A mob of several hundred persons was held off by police today after threatening George Cunningham, 28, of Penn Township, arrested in Homewood charged with disorderly conduct and driving under influence of liquor.

Cunningham was captured at Brushton and Hamilton avenues, after a chase. Fleeing from the irate crowd, Cunningham sought escape through stores, yards and alleys after abandoning his automobile in Fleury way near North Murtland avenue.

According to Patrolmen William E. Bruce and John Kennington, Cunningham drove through Homewood streets at a reckless speed, sideswiping a Hamilton avenue street car, hitting a parked machine in Homewood avenue and narrowly escaping hitting an aged woman in Hamilton avenue.

The police learned Cunningham had quarreled with two youths and a girl at Kelly street and Brushton avenue. The trio had been passengers in the car. Cunningham jumped into his machine after a street brawl with the youths.

RIO AWAITS ARRIVAL OF ZEP

Dirigible Slated to Start 1,000-Mile Flight From Pernambuco Late Today

PERNAMBUCO, May 23.—(A.P.)—The German dirigible Graf Zeppelin, riding at its mooring mast today after completing last night its sixth trans-Atlantic crossing, was refueled this afternoon in preparation for the journey southward to Rio Janeiro tonight.

An unofficial announcement said the Zeppelin would leave here at 7 p. m. Pittsburgh time for Rio, and expects to arrive there in 20 hours or less of flying. The distance is about 1,000 miles.

Passengers who rode the giant airship from Friedrichshafen and Seville spent today in visiting Pernambuco and its environs.

CURIOUS HELD BACK

Inhabitants of this and nearby cities, watching the dirigible, today had to view it from a distance because no one was permitted to approach closely while the dirigible was taking on fuel.

After its trip to Rio De Janeiro and return, the airship will return here and prepare for the next jump—to Havana. From the Cuban capital it will go to Lakehurst, N. J., and then turn over the ocean again toward Seville.

The Zeppelin negotiated the

3 ROB BANK CAR, USE TEAR GAS

BENWOOD, W. Va., May 23.—Three bandits, with a tear-gas gun, held up J. W. Johnson, cashier of the Union Bank of Benwood, on the Wheeling-Benwood road today and escaped with two bags containing $10,000.

They had two autos, one parked nearby. They crowded Johnson's car against a concrete wall, wrecking it, and then discharged the gun.

Johnson was overcome. The bandits abandoned the car with which they had wrecked Johnson's, and escaped northward, in the direction of Pittsburgh, in their second car.

The money was being taken to Benwood to cash checks of Wheeling Steel Corporation employes. The loss was fully insured, bank officials said.

New Jersey Bank Messenger Robbed

CAMDEN, N. J., May 23.—(INS.)—Two bandits held up and robbed a messenger of the West Jersey Title and Trust Company today of about $6,700 as he was en route from the main office to a branch. The messenger was William C. Lloyd, 45.

The pair held a passing truck driver at bay with a sawed-off shotgun while they staged the holdup. The bandits' car bore Pennsylvania license tags.

WHY BALLOTS WERE MOVED BY POLICE

BROKEN CELLAR DOOR TO PLACE IN WHICH BALLOT BOXES WERE STORED

This broken cellar door at the office of Alderman Luke Sullivan is the reason Inspector Joseph Elsner ordered police to remove ballot boxes of the Sixth Ward to Penn Avenue Police Station for safe keeping, he said today. Controversy rages over the act.

City's Area Surpasses Cleveland; 1,341,458 Population Here

Allegheny County's population for 1930 is 1,341,458.

This territory which embraces the area of the city provided for under the Metropolitan Plan exceeds by 143,645 the population of Greater Cleveland, which includes all of Cuyahoga County, O. Greater Cleveland boasts of 1,197,818.

In the last 10 years the number of Allegheny County's inhabitants has increased at the rate of 13.1 per cent, the population in 1920 having been 1,185,808.

CHANGES TO BE SMALL

These figures were obtained today from totals compiled by George Metzgar, A. D. Levy and James E. Routley, supervisors respectively in the Twelfth, Thirteenth and Fourteenth census districts, which embrace the county.

Some insignificant changes may be made in these figures when a few isolated enumeration districts are re-checked, but it will not affect Allegheny County's standing among the great political subdivisions in the country.

EXPECTATIONS SURPASSED

The results exceed expectations of Census Bureau officials. The increase is marked by the rapid growth of that section of the county south of the Ohio and Monongahela rivers, where the population is more than 100,000 greater than 10 years ago.

In this area the percentage of increase was more than 29 per cent.

In the district north of the rivers the increase was 12 per cent and the old portion of the city and the territory between the rivers showed a growth of only 6 per cent.

An analysis of the returns shows the center of population in the county is swinging rapidly southward. This is indicated by the percentage of increase of the Nineteenth Ward in the city and the South Hills suburban district, where in some localities the growth exceeded 500 per cent.

FIGURES BY DISTRICTS

The figures in detail are:

Twelfth census district, north of the rivers, 365,920, against 269,618 in 1920.

Thirteenth district, south of the rivers, 448,440, against 343,979 in 1920.

Fourteenth district, between the rivers, from the Point to the Westmoreland County line, 387,096, against 552,530 in 1920.

Hampton Township's enumeration is not completed, but its total, accurately forecast and included in the figures for the Twelfth District, will not affect the returns for the county. It remains only for the final check upon the enumerator's returns.

Additions will be made in many districts where residents have been overlooked, these extra enumerations going on until the supervisors' offices are closed at the end of this month. As a result it is said the official figures to be given out from Washington later will show a slight increase over the local returns.

U.S. Modifies Home Brew Drive

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(A.P.)—Commissioner Doran today instructed prohibition agents that under the recent Supreme Court decision upholding the seizure of kegs, bottles, labels and the like used in the manufacture of intoxicants, it is necessary for the government to produce proof such paraphernalia was intended for use in the manufacture and sale of liquor before it can be seized.

WOMEN OPPOSE BLUE LAW, 5-1

Although women voters of Pittsburgh give stronger support to the Sunday blue laws than do the men voters, their antagonism to the ancient statutes is at the rate of almost 5 to 1, according to tabulations in the poll of the city being made by the Sun-Telegraph.

The total ballots cast in the poll to date is 20,766, divided as follows:

For the Blue Laws	7,696
For modification	1,479
For repeal	16,591

These totals are divided between men and women as follows: For the Blue Laws, 1,500 men and 1,196 women; for modification, 891 men and 588 women; for repeal, 11,198 men and 5,393 women.

Men voting in the poll number 13,589, while 7,177 women have cast ballots, or about 65 and 35 per cent respectively. While women constitute 35 per cent of the total vote, their votes represent 44 per cent of the total for Pitcher Ervin Brame of the Pirates today was seized with an attack of grip and ordered to bed. Brame was slated to pitch today's game against the Cubs, but he probably is lost to the team for a week. Heinie Meine will substitute for him on the slab.

3 COMMISSIONERS ADOPT M'GOVERN PROTEST BALKED IN COURT

Fisher Joins Other Leaders In Refusal to Join Bolt Arranged by Anti-Drys

The movement started by anti-dry forces of the state to place a candidate in the field at the general election in November against Gifford Pinchot, Republican gubernatorial nominee, gained little support from party leaders today.

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong and Mayor Charles H. Kline, both of whom supported Francis Shunk Brown in the primary, made it plain they would not bolt Pinchot for a "liberal" candidate, a stand taken also by Gov. John S. Fisher. Philadelphia Republican organization leaders have shown just as little enthusiasm over the plans for an anti-dry "coalition."

ARMSTRONG EMPHATIC

Commissioner Armstrong, asked what his attitude would be in case of a fight at the general election, said:

"What would you expect me to do? I am the Republican chairman of Allegheny County and in addition I always support the Republican nominees."

Mayor Kline, asked whom he would support, said:

"Why ask me that? I am a Republican and I always support the nominees of the Republican party at the general election."

FISHER REMAINS LOYAL

At the same time, in Harrisburg, support of the state administration to all candidates of the Republican party nominated for state-wide offices at the primary was pledged by Gov. Fisher.

In his pronouncement on the result of the factional contest

Votes Ordered Taken From Police Station and Given Over to Returning Board

The 20 "Strip" ballot boxes which Pinchot leaders protested were being held illegally in the Penn Avenue Police Station were ordered impounded today by the county and turned over to election return board, which started to function this afternoon.

County Commissioner C. C. McGovern, Pinchot lieutenant, previously had asked Judge James R. Macfarlane to order the removal of the boxes, but the jurist refused, contending it was not within his jurisdiction.

ARMSTRONG AIDS McGOVERN

Thirty minutes later the county commissioners met in special session and ordered the boxes turned over to the board.

McGovern moved that the boxes be removed and observers witnessed the unusual sight of Chairman Joseph G. Armstrong seconding a McGovern motion. Commissioner E. V. Babcock chimed in his assent, too.

A few minutes later, when the commissioners were swearing in the return board, McGovern threatened to disrupt the proceedings.

PROTEST OVERRULED

After Commissioner Babcock had administered the oath to the 90 members of the board, who will return the official count of Tuesday's primary, McGovern spoke out:

"Take your hands down. I want to protest, for the Pinchot committee, on the way this vote will be counted. I move that

DREW MAY GET SHORT TERM

Judge James B. Drew of the local Common Pleas court probably will be elevated to the Superior court bench before the regular term begins. Judge Drew, winner of one of the two superior court nominations in the Republican primary last Tuesday is looked upon by jurists and political leaders as the successor to Judge J. Frank Graff, of Armstrong county, who ran third in the race.

Judge Graff, appointed by Governor John S. Fisher to fill an unexpired term resigned from the Superior court bench, after the result of Tuesday's primary was made known and was at once appointed to his old position on the Armstrong County bench.

Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt For 'Maids' Union'

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—(AP.)—Unions of household workers are favored by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the governor of New York. She told the Council on Household Occupations that if such unions agreed with employers on standards better service would result.

TARIFF BATTLE COMPROMISED

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(INS.)—A final compromise of all differences between the house and Senate over the administration's billion-dollar tariff bill was achieved today when the conferees agreed on a new flexible cause, slightly modifying President Hoover's present powers to change rates.

The compromise would make the United States Tariff Commission a bi-partisan, fact-finding rate-fixing body and give the President power only to veto or approve its recommendations.

The bill in its final compromise form will be reported to the Senate Monday. The conference report then must be approved by both House and Senate before the bill is sent to President Hoover. Administration leaders expected a real battle in the Senate over adoption of the report, but no trouble in the House.

Steel Merger Fight Settlement Denied

CLEVELAND, May 23.—(AP.)—Reports of prospective settlement out of court of the fight over the billion dollar merger of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company and Bethlehem Steel Corporation, were denied today by Luther Day, ttorney for Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland capitalist, and leading opponent of the consolidation.

"There is no chance of a compromise," Day said.

Directors of Sheet and Tube met in Youngstown today to declare regular quarterly stock dividends.

Lindbergh and Wife Take Pleasure Trip

NEWARK, N. J., May 23.—(AP.)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh returned to the Newark Airport late yesterday after a pleasure flight of several hours in the flier's speedy plane.

After a chat with Mayor Jerome T. Congleton, they left for the home of Mrs. Lindbergh's parents, Ambassador and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, in Englewood.

50 Gold Star Mothers Deck Quentin Roosevelt Grave

FERE-EN-TARDENOIS, France, May 23.—(INS.)—Tramping for half a mile through mud that was ankle-deep in a wheat field, 50 American Gold Star Mothers today visited the grave of Quentin Roosevelt, son of the late Theodore Roosevelt, who was shot down with his plane in aerial combat during the World War.

As these women ploughed through the gummy ooze, the same mud that became a horror to the soldiers during the war, they picked popies that sprinkled the young, green wheat with spots of brilliant color.

They laid the poppies in a banked mass of fiery tints over the flier's grave.

At Coucy-le-Chateau, the Gold Star Mothers gazed on the sturdy foundations of the emplacement where the famous German "Big Bertha" sent shells screaming into Paris at long range.

Ranks of the Gold Star Mothers in France were swelled today by another group of 106 arriving at Cherbourg aboard the steamer Republic.

The eldest of the party, Mrs. Andrew M. Reid, of Maryland, an aunt of the wife of the famous Marshal Joffre, was bright and smiling despite her 74 years. She had been in France during the war, serving as a volunteer nurse in a French base hospital at Dinard.

MELLON AS DRY AS HOOVER, M'BRIDE TELLS SENATORS

LAW BETTER ENFORCED, DRY SAYS

Declares Secretary Goes Far as Associates Want Him to in Enforcement

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP.)—The conviction that prohibition is now being enforced more effectively than under the Coolidge administration was expressed to the Senate Lobby Committee today by F. Scott McBride.

Concluding seven days of testimony, the Anti-Saloon League superintendent was confronted with a letter he wrote last January which said he was convinced a complainant against President Hoover and Secretary Mellon was wrong. He wrote:

"There was a time when I had something of the same feeling. But on thorough investigation I have reached the conclusion that Mellon has gone just as far on prohibition enforcement as his superiors wanted him to go, and I do not believe he is now standing in the way of effective prohibition enforcement."

RETAINS SAME VIEW

The dry worker informed Senator Caraway he still believed Mellon "went just as far as those associated with him wanted him to go."

[illegible] it mentioning names, the senator inquired you mean his superior, of executive?"

McBride assented.

He was followed on the stand by Edward B. Dunford, Anti-Saloon League counsel, who testified its reports to Congress on political expenditures conformed with the law.

The committee adjourned until next Tuesday.

'DICTION' ENDED

The dry league has abandoned the practice of "dictating" appointments in the prohibition service to the White House and other appointive agencies, Mr. Bride testified today. He said the late Wayne B. Wheeler "might have dictated some appointments," but assured the Senators the league doesn't do it now.

He continued:

"The first prohibition commissioner was Mr. Cramer, the second Major Haynes and the third, Dr. Doran, the present commissioner. They were all ory to us."

WHEELER REPORT

r Blaine, (Rep.), of Wisconsin, read Wheeler's private report to the league executive committee in 9121, when Harding was president. It read in part:

"The two most prominent national prohibition enforcement officers in whom we were interested were the internal revenue commissioner and prohibition commissioner. We followed the usual league policy in seeing to it that recognized unfit applicants should not be appointed."

WHEELER WROTE DRY BILL

Wheeler, for years leader of the league, was revealed before the committee today as the real author of the Volstead Act.

From the files of the league, Senator Blaine produced one of Wheeler's confidential reports, which after setting forth that he had drawn up the bill, said:

"When I (Wheeler) presented ill to Mr. Volstead, he ral suggestions and er a conference ur friends In as in- dorsed.

Volstead . ime chairman of the . ary Committee.

CANNON SUMMONED

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, was asked by telegram today to appear before the Lobby Committee Wednesday.

The committee wants him to explain his alleged lobbying for prohibition and his activities in the 1928 presidential campaign.

INDIAN JAILED OVER STILL

The local prohibition enforcement unit today boasted of an arrest of an Indian, the first to be apprehended for a liquor violation here. He gave his name as Edward Robinson, of 858 Reedsdale street. He was arrested last night, agents said, while attending a still in a building in Point View road, Brentwood. The still and 30 gallons of moonshine were seised, and 2,446 gallons of mash were destroyed, agents said.

Shortly after Robinson's arrest, three women appeared at headquarters to post bond for the prisoner. Robinson said he was born in Canada. His mother, he said, was a half-breed French and Indian and his father a full-blooded Indian.

SENATORS O. K. FILIPINO BILL

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(INS.)—The Hawes bill, granting independence to the Philippine Islands after five years of temporary constitutional government, was approved today by the Senate Committee on Territories and Insular Affairs. The vote was 8 to 4, indicating the bill will be fought in the Senate.

The measure provides for tariff autonomy within five years by progressive steps. The first year free trade would continue, with the Philippines subjected the second year to pay 25 per cent of the duties charged against other nations. Each succeeding year, the tariff would increase 25 per cent of the rates against other nations until there would be full tariffs against the Philippines.

For five years the Islands would be under a temporary government with a local constitution, then the Islanders would vote on independence. If they approved it they would be free to govern themselves.

ROOMER'S SHOT PERILS WOMAN

Magistrate Ray E. Schneider discharged, in North Side Police Court today, a man who, while drunk and disorderly by his own admission, had fired a pistol in a rooming house last night and narrowly escaped wounding a woman with a baby in her arms.

Harry Burke, 35, a lodger at 706 Cedar avenue, was the defendant. Witnesses said he came home intoxicated and used bad language. Charles F. Thomas, 38, and his wife, Emmeline Thomas, remonstrated. Burke drew a pistol and fired. The bullet missed Mrs. Thomas, who was holding her 2-month-old son, Vincent, by only a few feet.

Burke's plea was that he was so drunk he did not know what he was doing. On his promise to find other lodgings, Schneider dismissed the case.

Armstrong, Jr., May Be State's 'Baby Senator'

Allegheny County may have the distinction of sending to the State Senate its "baby" senator in the person of Joseph G. Armstrong, Jr., who was 27 on May 9.

"Young Joe," as he is familiarly known to distinguish him from his father, County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, was unopposed in his fight for the Republican nomination for the Thirty-eighth district. He faces the Democratic nominee at the November Election.

Armstrong lives in the South Side; is married and the father of Joseph G. Armstrong III, who has just passed his fourth birthday.

Baby Plane Up 27,500 Feet, Setting Record

DARMSTADT, Germany, May 23.—(AP.)—A baby plane of the academic flying group, piloted by Aviator Voigt, today reached an altitude of 8,000 meters (about 27,500 feet. The flier claimed an international record. The previous mark for planes of this class is 7,730 meters.

DIKES IN FLOOD ZONE WEAKEN

NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—(AP.)—Crews working in relays continued today to fill sandbags and haul dirt to combat the steady rise of the Red River between Shreveport and Alexandria.

A number of families evacuated their homes after being warned levees were weakening.

Outside Shreveport, water from Cross Bayou was backing up toward the city limits, but the city proper was considered out of danger.

In Northwestern Mississippi, water still stood in many places. Andrew Aldridge, a 12-year-old boy, drowned while swimming in Deer Creek, which had left its banks near Greenville.

In Arkansas the Ouachita was the only river still rising and a gradual return to normal conditions was in prospect.

Plan for 'Mass Output' Of Cheap Books Grows

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP.)—Three Henry Fords of the book business—youngsters, comparatively, both in years and in publishing experience—sat back with quiet grins today and listened to comment and argument evoked by thir launching into mass production of books that can be bought at drug stores for $1 apiece and, lik magazines, be read and thrown away.

Four publishers are participating in th price cuts just made public. Thre are predictions of a price war to follow.

Arthur Brentano, Jr., until yesterday, head of the American Booksellers' Association, prophesied that by June 10 not four but 94 publishers would have made drastic reductions.

Although the association protested against the sale of books for 75 cents and $1 in drug stores, Mr. Brentano said:

"If the bookseller cannot compete wth the drug stores, he'll have to open a drug store himself."

WOMAN LEADER OF SALT RAIDS IMPRISONED

Mrs. Naidu Gets 9 Months; Indian Rebels Being Held Declare Hunger Strike

BOMBAY, May 23.—(AP.)—Mrs. Saorjini Naidu today was sentenced to nine months' simple imprisonment as leader of the Mahatma Gandhi civil disobedience salt raiders at Dharasana, Wednesday.

Mrs. Naidu, who took the Mahatma's place as leader of the passive resistance volunteers after the arrest of Abbas Tyabji, was arrested when, with her followers, she made a second onslaught upon the government salt pans.

EVERY LEADER PUNISHED

So far, every prominent leader engaged in salt raiding has been incarcerated. Mrs. Naidu's successor is V. J. Patel, widely known Nationalist.

The war council of the All India Congress, after deliberating whether it was worth while to swell the number of prisoners in the jails at Worli, finally decided to stage another raid on the Wadala salt works today.

The raid was carried out by 100 volunteers. Police again went into action, and before the procession had gone far in the direction of the salt pans, 60 volunteers had been arrested. The remaining 40 continued to march toward Wadala.

Two hundred and fifty Nationalist volunteers, arrested in the recent salt raids and held in the detention camp at Worli, have begun a hunger strike in protest a, the diet offered them.

DECIDE ON NEW RAIDS

Undeterred by the moving of troops to Dharasana, Surat and other localities where the government operates salt depots, Indian Nationalists today planned further mass raids against the salt pans.

Serious repercussions are feared from a speech by A. J. Patel, resigned president of the Indian Legislative Assembly and new head of the civil disobedience campaign, before 100,000 Indian Nationalist sympathizers here last night.

Actress Takes Pills, Dies; Inquest Asked

CHICAGO, May 23.—(AP.)—Jean Farrel, an actress said to have appeared in "Rose Marie," died in Grant Hospital today under circumstances which led the attending physician to ask an inquest.

According to Barbara Bossie, another actress, Miss Farrel recently had been unable to sleep. Last night, she said, Miss Farrel took six medicine tablets although the directions on the bottle prescribed only two.

COUNTY SEIZES BALLOT BOXES IN 6TH WARD

Attorney Ralph Frank present this protest."

Attorney Frank moved forward to speak.

Chairman Armstrong, nonplussed for a moment, asked:

"Is there a second to the motion?"

There was no second; the motion was lost. The return board went to work.

VIGIL ENDED

McGovern explained later that his protest was based on his contention that the return board was largely made up of appointments of Armstrong, a Brown-Davis leader.

With the board's start, McGovern and other Pinchot followers ended the three-day guard they have been keeping over the return sheets in the courthouse, fearing attempts to change the totals so that Pinchot might be counted out.

McGovern contended that Alderman Luke Sullivan acted illegally when he turned the Strip ballot boxes for the Sixth ward over to the police. Sullivan's counsel, before Judge Macfarlane, retorted that the boxes were still in Sullivan's custody but had been placed in the police station because the alderman's office lacked the space.

TAMPERING FEARED

McGovern had suggested that the opportunities for mishandling the ballots in the roomier police station were greater.

But Attorney W. Clyde Grubbs, representing the Pinchot committee, agreed with Judge Macfarlane that the law did not require that the boxes be turned over to the sheriff.

Judge Macfarlane said:

"This whole procedure is lawless. Unless you, Mr. Frank, can show me that someone has dumped these 80 boxes out, I don't care whether the custodian, Luke Sullivan, has hired a safe deposit box or put them in a police station. What's the use of talking about something you don't know anything about? The last advice I had was that the boxes were in the police station. My advice was that they are safe."

Attorney Frank interjected:

"I do know something about this. The law provides that the nearest justice of the peace or alderman is the proper custodian. There is precedent behind our action."

PRECEDENTS SMASHED

Judge Macfarlane replied:

"There are a whole lot of precedents that ought to be smashed in these election cases. I smashed some in this election."

Penn Avenue Police Station is commanded by Inspector Joseph Elsner, who was appointed by Mayor Kline on the recommendation of Congressman P. J. Sullivan.

The Sixth Ward is the home of Congressman Sullivan, who appears to have won the Republican nomination in the Thirty-fourth district over P. J. O'Malley, of the state auditor general's office. The district compises the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh and Fifteenth wards.

COLORFUL CONTEST

The Sullivan-O'Malley contest was one of the most colorful of Tuesday's primary election and resulted in charges by O'Malley that police under Elsner slugged O'Malley watchers and overseers appointed by the courts.

O'Malley's friends claim that the unofficial returns are wrong and that when the Sixth Ward ballot boxes are opened and the official count is completed, Sullivan will be defeated by about 1,400 votes.

Sullivan counters that gross er- O'Malley's strongholds, particularly the Fourth Ward, home of State Senator James J. Coyne, sponsor of O'Malley.

When McGovern was balked last night in having the boxes brought to the sheriff's office he assigned aides to the police station to watch for attempts at tampering. They were Attorneys Ralph H. Smith and E. O. Spotts and Ray Deever and C. C. Campbell.

They complained today that the police had been insulting and that one of their aides, Leo Riordan, had been forcibly ejected from the police station.

McGovern has arranged for a staff of experienced checkers who will assist Maj. W. R. Reese in following the return board's tally of every election district, and where the official record varies substantially from the semi-official count, that particular ballot box will be opened, McGovern declared.

which resulted in defeat of two of his appointees, Senator Grundy and Judge J. Frank Graff, the Governor said:

"The entire ticket as nominated on Tuesday will receive my support. I consider the campaign was waged fairly and that the candidates are entitled to support."

In Philadelphia, State Senator Samuel W. Salus, a member of the Vare "war board," said yesterday that Pinchot, having fairly won a "clean, hard fight," would get the support of the Philadelphia organization, whose record for party regularity is viewed as an insurmountable obstacle in the way of a fusion ticket.

PINCHOT LEAD 14,000

With Pinchot leading by 14,000 in the unofficial computation, the official count began today in most of the 67 counties of the state, under the watchful eyes of political leaders.

Unofficial figures from all but seven of the state's 8,701 election districts gave Pinchot 632,060 votes and Brown 618,185.

Four precincts in Lackawanna County, one in Berks and two in Allegheny County are unreported.

A formal protest against the vote in Luzerne County, which gave Pinchot a plurality of 26,852 votes over Brown, was entered in Wilkes-Barre, as the official count was started.

PACT SCORED AS DENYING PARITY

Navy Officials at Hearings Aver Other Powers Profit At Expense of America

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The United States abandoned its time-proven principles of national defense by assenting to the London naval limitation treaty, Rear Admiral H. H. Hough, of the Navy General Board, declared today before the Senate Naval Affairs Committee.

Admiral Hough said the United States had abandoned its right to build the type of ships best suited to America's national defense and that, as a result, the United States did not achieve parity with Great Britain.

PRINCIPLES ABANDONED

He then went on to say:

"I feel that definite principles which we have consistently maintained over a long period of years have been abandoned in this agreement. I feel we have abandoned our sovereign right to build the type of ship best suited to us and have lent ourselves to a type not suited to our needs. My feeling is that we have been dictated to on what ships we should build."

The Admiral said he did not believe the United States achieved parity with Great Britain. He held that limiting 8-inch cruisers militated against national security, and declared:

"Parity with Great Britain cannot be obtained during the life of this treaty. It is essential that we have at least 21 cruisers of the 8-inch gun type and yet the treaty limits us to 18. These three extra cruisers are essential to parity."

Both Great Britain and Japan obtained what they wanted in the London naval treaty while the United States gave up its most vital type of fighting craft, Commander Harold C. Train, one of the naval experts at the conference, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today.

FAILED TO GIVE PARITY

Agreeing with the majority of testimony from naval officers, he declared the treaty failed to give parity and constituted abandonment of America's basic demands.

Chairman Borah, of the Foreign Relations Committee, who has indicated support of the treaty, manifestly tried to hurry his hearings along, but Chairman Hale, of the Naval Committee, helped his witnesses in their detailed criticism of the cruiser provisions, in particular.

RESCUES HER AFTER LEAP IN RIVER

Woman Had Sought Death Rather Than Yield Baby Following Estrangement

Reconciliation of an estranged McKeesport couple resulted today from the wife's attempt to end her life by jumping from a bridge into the Youghiogheny River and the husband's heroic effort to save her.

Both were drowning when a third participant in the dramatic incident, witnessed by 2,000 persons, came to the rescue.

John and Gertrude Decora, parents of the two children—Martin, 6, and Jack, 3—had separated a month ago. Mrs. Decora, 23, went to live at 3601 Indiana avenue, McKeesport, and obtained a position as waitress in the Imperial Restaurant, 1110 Walnut street, that city. Decora got a room at 2117 Walnut street.

ASKS BABY'S CUSTODY

He called at the restaurant last night and told his wife she would have to surrender the baby, though she might keep the older child. She left the restaurant and as they walked along the street, discussing the matter, Mrs. Decora said her heart was breaking and she had a good mind to jump into the river and end it all.

She left her husband and started toward the Fifth Avenue Bridge over the Youghiogheny. Decora turned into Water street, which runs under the bridge. Skeptical at first, he had misgivings as she reached the bridge. Standing by the waterside, watching her, he threw off some of his outer garments.

There was an immense throng on Water street, waiting for a parade that was to proceed to Bettis Field for a celebration of "Air Mail Night," sponsored by the Men's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church of McKeesport.

LEAPS INTO RIVER

Reaching the middle of the bridge, Mrs. Decora resolutely clambered over the railing and plunged into the river.

Decora hurriedly doffed more clothing and rushed into the water. By this time, all eyes were focussed on the impending tragedy.

Decora reached the woman and grasped her, but it was soon apparent that to save her was beyond his strength. Both were manifestly in distress when Otto Landanan, 24, of 407 Water street, McKeesport, went to the rescue. Valiantly struggling, he managed to drag both to safety, but in doing so struck something in the water which cut a deep gash in his leg.

When the three reached shore, Mrs. Decora was unconscious, Decora exhausted and Landanan almost at the end of his resources.

Mrs. Decora was rushed in the police patrol to the McKeesport Hospital and there resuscitated.

Toughness of New Fiber Material Demonstrated

More than 200 bankers, manufacturers and city officials last night saw Dr. Paul G. von Hilderbrandt, an inventor, with a flame of 6,400 degrees Fahrenheit, sever a nine-inch block of his new fiber material at the rate of one inch per minute. A few minutes before the same flame severed a nine-inch steel plate in 25 seconds.

Dr. Hilderbrandt

The demonstration, made at a gathering in the William Penn Hotel, was for the purpose of acquainting the guests with a new fiber building material composed of the wood waste of the lumber industry.

The demonstration was given under the direction of officials of the International Fibre and Chemical Corporation, a newly-chartered Pittsburgh organization. The company is erecting a demonstration plant at Springdale.

Following the demonstrations there was a discussion on the future and merits of the new fibre. Those taking part were H. L. Mitchell, president of the West Penn Power Company; Dr. von Hilderbrandt; H. B. Salkeld, of the West Penn Power Company; John A. Donaldson, president of the Joy Manufacturing Company; Lester Bernstein, representing the Philadelphia Company; J. M. Williams and Stanley Kelley.

Wide Use for Television Seen in Peace and War

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., May 23.—(AP.)—A wide panorama of the future possibilities of television in peace and war was unrolled today by Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson, whose predictions were inspired by the world premiere of life-size television images thrown on a theater screen.

Dr. Alexanderson, pioneer of this new development, sees the application of television to manifold uses, from entertainment as an adjunct to the home radio and a supplement to the talking pictures of the movie house, to the grim business of spying out an enemy's position for an army and directing crewless bombing planes.

He made his predictions after a group of singers, dancers and other entertainers, a mile away, had performed for an audience which included scientists and newspaper correspondents. For the first time the images appeared life-size on a six-foot screen. Heretofore television images have been shown in miniature on a 14-inch screen.

A new technique of entertainment will be required. As a supplement of broadcasting it can make a reality of the radio drama.

Political and educational speakers may use it as a medium and entertining personalities will comment on the news of the day. It is likely every moving picture theater in the large cities will have to be equipped to give a television act.

RECIFE (Pernambuco), May 23.—The Equator has been conquered by an airship.

The prophecies that an airship could not venture into equatorial regions without courting certain disaster are proved false.

When the Graf Zeppelin left the storm-laden skies of the Pacific and North Atlantic oceans the icy winds of Siberia and the snow and hail blasts of the Alps to receive credit slowly as a wraith here. The great ship had added the conquest of the equator another historical achievement to its already wonderful record in the air.

GIVES OFFICIAL TIME

It is the first time an airship has "crossed the line" and blazed a path through the uncharted air lanes over the vast South Atlantic Ocean. Europe to South America in two and a half days.

When the Graf was finally moored at the mast Dr. Hugo Eckener announced from the log book the official time of the coast-to-coast crossing. Spain to Brazil, as 59 hours and 33 minutes.

Dr. Eckener added the achievement of landing the Graf in the blackest night on a field unknown to him and with a strange landing crew of Brazilian soldiers who had never seen an airship before.

At 6:25 p. m., Pittsburgh time, we crossed the coastline at the edge of the city. Dr. Eckener crossed the city circled about hunting for the field until he found it.

CITY WILDLY EXCITED

The city was wildly excited. A continuous roar of shouts came up to us even through the roar of the motors. It was so dark we could scarcely see the light atop the mooring mast.

At 7:06 p. m. Pittsburgh time, the landing ropes touched the ground. The soldiers did not know how to pull the ship down properly and seemed afraid that it would fall on them. The Graf was light and didn't want to come down. Eckener had to open the gas valves a little.

Ten minutes later the Graf settled to earth so lightly that we didn't even feel it.

MILEAGE RECORD

In 59 hours, 33 minutes we streaked through the air a distance of 4,025 statute miles. Add- is the 1,500 miles over flown from Friedrich- to Seville, we have [illegible] 5,525 miles in the air since 1:18 p. m. Sunday with 14 hours and 32 minutes stay in Seville.

The Zeppelin ran for 14 hours between Seville and Recife with only four motors.

Aside from some unlocked for stiff beam and head winds on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings, which cut down our speed, the weather over the Atlantic was good.

ENCOUNTER DELUGE

The test of the ship which came on this flight was in the early hours this morning when the hours yesterday, when the Zeppelin ran into an area of an equatorial deluge like the rains which come in the "Zone of Calms."

Dr. Eckener had started the fifth motor at midnight in expectation of these storms and had ordered the bridge to "drive through them."

Keenly alert, he watched the effect of the tons of water that fell on the 763 foot long craft. No ballast whatsoever was dropped and only three-quarters of a degree angle of elevation on the bridge was necessary to offset what the "Storm King" said was a two ton increase on the weight of the ship.

The speed was little affected. Before 6 a. m. the Graf was through the storm.

SHIPS SALUTE

The Graf rushed over a half-dozen steamers during the day, all saluting and dipping their colors.

We shot across the equatorial line at 6:38 a. m. (Pittsburgh time) with Capt. Lehmann having the watch on the bridge.

At 1:40 p. m. we were completely past Brazil's penal island, Fernando do Noronha with its freakish, cathedral-like rock.

SHARKS FOLLOW ZEP

This is my third flight across the Atlantic and it has been the most pleasant of all. At no time was there the slightest tension or anxiety on the part of any of the passenge

Even four giant s under-neath us who tried to follow the Graf aroused no comment from the superstition

The Graf bore through another rain squall at 5 p. m. The passengers were more interested in the beautiful rainbow that in the rain.

Girls to Picture Dance Evolution

A program showing the evolution of social dancing in America will be presented by the girls' physical education department at Fifth Avenue High School in the high school auditorium next Thursday and Friday nights. Miss Margaret Mercer will direct the girls. Among the dances are the Indian dance, the hornpipe, minuet, the Puritan Maiden of Dare Dells, the harp dance, the schottische, the waltz and the Paul Jones.

Germans Battling Beetle Plague, Boil Pests

HANOVER, Germany, May 23.—(AP)—An Egyptian grasshopper plague is paralleled here by a May beetle invasion which is raging in many parts of Schleswig-Holstein, Northern Hanover.

Swarms of beetles are descending upon the fields in the streets and even invading homes. The situation has made suspension of school sessions necessary, the children helping their parents fight the bugs.

The younger generation is having a great time scooping the beetles into sacks, barrels and tubs. Boiling water is the method of extermination. The mixture then is fed to pigs and chickens, which seem to relish the diet.

ECKENER BESTS TROPIC PERILS

By DR. HUGO ECKENER,
Famous Commander of the Graf Zeppelin.

RECIFE, Pernambuco, Brazil, May 23.—The chief importance of this Europe-to-South America voyage of the Graf Zeppelin lies for me in the practical experience and my own observations of conditions in the Tropical Zone that must come into consideration for airships.

It has often been said that airships could not venture into these regions because of the tremendous downpour of rains and the great variations of temperature in the hydrogen our carrying gas.

I was never of that opinion but of course that was largely theory and now I have been able to make a practical test.

I have now seen how easily the difficulties that could arise from weather conditions that might exist in the Zone of Calms can be overcome by an airship.

There were no difficulties whatever from the great heat of the gas while the heavy downpour of tropical rains called only for one-fifth of our dynamic capacity.

I am certain that in these respects no conditions can arise in the tropic which an airship could not meet.

RIO AWAITING ZEPPELIN

flight from Tablada Airdrome, Seville, Spain, to Pernambuco in 60 hours covering approximately 4,350 miles.

Average speed for the trip was approximately 70 miles per hour.

THRONGS AT FIELD

All of Pernambuco and the countryside for many miles around continued to exhibit excitement unabated since the dirigible nestled into mooring here at 8:05 o'clock last night.

Hundreds remained at the field all through the night, watching the mighty air monster, the first ever to reach the South American continent.

It was Pernambuco's signal honor to first greet the Graf. Dr. Eckener, veteran commander of the airship, and those on board Pernambuco was making the most of it, and even the veteran travelers among the passengers and crew could not help but be moved by the whole-hearted adulation and welcome tendered them.

Crowds milled about the airship as mechanics swarmed over the craft, refueling, restocking the larders and checking over the motors.

RIO PREPARES

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 23.—(INS)—Preparations for the reception of the pioneering visit of the Graf Zeppelin to South America were rushed here today and there was an enormous influx of crowds into the city.

Reports of the excitement in Pernambuco served to arouse more enthusiasm here.

Several companies of soldiers have been mobilized to anchor the Zeppelin at the flying field since there is no mooring mast available.

Prince Louis Ferdinand, son of the former crown prince of Germany, a guest here of American Ambassador Edwin Morgan, will accompany the embassy party to the field to welcome the airship and to congratulate Dr. Eckener and his crew.

Brazilian army planes were prepared to go aloft in formation and provide an aerial escort of honor for the airship.

A vast consignment of mail for the United States was ready here to be transferred on board the Graf.

ZEP VOYAGERS GET EQUATOR SOUVENIRS

Certificates Observing First Dirigible Flight Across Line Given Passengers

By LADY DRUMMOND HAY.
Special Cable.

RECIFE (Pernambuco), May 23.—The Graf Zeppelin has juggled with the seasons. From a Friedrichshafen spring it has brought us in four days to the tropical autumn of Recife. Today it will give us a taste of the weather at Rio De Janeiro.

Aeolus, God of the Winds, in the person of Capt. Von Schiller, officiated at the air baptism with full honors of the mortals who, for the first time in the world's history, crossed the equator in an airship.

Nineteen passengers, including four women, received beautiful engraved certificates from the hands of Mrs. Windstill.

MEMENTO OF TRIP

The certificates had been designed by Dr. Eckener's artist brother, Alex Eckener, of Stuttgart. The passengers declare that they would not take $1,000 for this unique memento of the first non-stop passenger-mail flight from Europe to South America.

The passengers were summoned into the ship's salon at 8:30 a. m. Pittsburgh time to be received by Aeolus in state. The door to the bridge was flung open to admit Capt. Lehmann, playing triumphant music on his accordion, heralding the Wind God—Capt. Von Schiller—who appeared costumed for the part.

Prince Alfonso acted as interpreter in all languages for Aeolus' speech, in which he welcomed Dr. Eckener, his crew and passengers.

The most amazing feature of this trip has been the utter relaxation of the passengers. The holiday spirit has been just as carefree as that on any ocean steamer cruise. Everyone has done just as he likes. There has been a complete absence of tension.

ZEP'S 'DRIEST' TRIP

Chief Steward Kubis tells me that this has been the driest trip the Zeppelin has ever made. From Friedrichshafen to Seville with 22 passengers aboard and from Seville to Recife with 19 passengers aboard a total of four days' the liquor consumption was 35 bottles of light wine, two of champagne, one of brandy, one of whisky and one of benedictine. In the same time the passengers drank 300 quarters of mineral water.

The only passengers who watched our approach to South America with any tinge of sadness were those who are disembarking, Frau Hammer, Prof. Cardoso, Senor Herrero and Senor Barga.

At Rio de Janeiro William B. Leeds, the American millionaire who made the round world flight with us last summer, is coming aboard for the trip back to the United States. He is related to Prince Alfonso through Princess Xenia, his former wife.

Federal Air Chief Takes Glider Hops

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary of commerce in charge of aeronautics, enjoyed his first glider flight today and promptly took the second.

A program of glider flights wound up a Federal conference designed to draw up regulations for safety in motorless flying.

Young did his first gliding in an American craft towed over Bolling Field by an automobile. The other flight was made in a German machine launched by shock cords.

Cache Yields Hoard Of Czarist Official

BRYANSK, U. S. S. R., May 23.—(AP)—Nearly 20 pounds of rare gold and silver coins, jewelry, precious stones and antique fire-arms, believed to have belonged to the late Gen. Tregov, tsarist chief of police, today were discovered hidden in the garden of his former estate.

Tregov was the official held responsible for the massacres of "Bloody Sunday," January 22, 1905.

Auto Plunges Into House; Six Escape

BALTIMORE, May 23.—(AP)—An automobile plunged through the front of a brick house here and stopped with its radiator in the kitchen door. The four occupants of the car escaped without a scratch and a child and her older sister in the building were uninjured. The driver was arrested by a policeman who said he preferred a charge of operating while drunk.

Harvard Ibis Stolen, Yale Rivals Under Suspicion

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 23.—(AP)—The ancient and treasured wooden Ibis, emblem of the Lampoon, Harvard's funny magazine, was reported stolen from the Lampoon sanctum. Wrathful Lampy editors promptly cast suspicion upon the Yale Record and the staff of the Harvard Crimson, with which they traditionally have strained relations.

Suspicion was directed at New Haven because of the mysterious appearance of the stolen Yale fence last year at a Lampoon dinner and revenge might have prompted the taking of the Ibis. Crimson editors were so resentful that they should be suspected that they offered to pay the expenses of former Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen to come up from New York and investigate.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 23.—(AP)—A telegram signed "the Harvard Crimson" was received by the Yale Daily News telling of the theft of the Harvard Lampoon's Ibis.

The telegram read:

"The Lampoon's Ibis has been stolen. Do you know anything about it? Rumor Connecticut car effected theft. Copy of Yale Record found in place of bird. Ibis sacred symbol of Lampoon. Highly valued. Please wire reply collect and any information you may have."

RULING GIVEN ON POWER DAM

HARRISBURG, May 23.—(AP)—In considering plans for proposed dams, the Water Power Resources Board has the right to consider not only the structural and engineering features, but also to determine whether the proposed structure will injuriously affect public or vested private rights in the stream, William A. Schnader, special deputy attorney general, said in an opinion prepared for Charles E. Dorworth, chairman of the board.

This opinion follows closely on the heels of the dispute of groups of citizens in York and Lancaster counties over the granting of the application of the Safe Harbor Water Power Corporation to build a $30,000,000 power dam at Safe Harbor in the Susquehanna River. At that time the citizens carried their fight to the Public Service Commission seeking to have the power company denied the right to build its proposed dam unless a bridge were constructed atop the structure to connect highways in York and Lancaster counties.

The commission held that it did not have the power to pass upon this matter as it was entirely in the power of the Water Power Resources Board which had then already approved the application.

TEMPLARS END CONCLAVE

WHEELING, W. Va., May 23.—The fifty-sixth conclave of the Knights Templar of West Virginia was brought to a close last night with the grand ball and banquet. Officers were installed and presided at their first session. They are:

P. P. Spillman, Martinsburg, grand commander; Bishop W. L. Gravatt, Charleston, grand prelate; A. F. Shairer, Wheeling, grand captain general; S. C. Savage, Charleston, deputy grand commander; A. E. Knee, Bluefield, generalissimo; H. C. Hoffman, Clarksburg, grand senior warden; Horace D. Gast, Mt. Hope, grand junior warden; Charles Morrison, Parkersburg, grand standard bearer; William A. Beavers, Grafton, grand sword bearer; H. W. Dugan, Huntington, grand warden; Henry P. Smith, Fairmont, grand recorder, and J. C. Vandervort, Weston, grand treasurer.

SUICIDES END ELOPEMENT

LONDON, Ont., May 23.—(AP)—George Redfern, 42-year-old salesman, of Kitchener, and Rita Gardner, young and handsome girl from Baden, fell in love and ran away. Now both are dead.

Miss Gardner's body was found in a Montreal hotel a week ago Tuesday, two days after they had left Kitchener and Redfern's wife behind. She had died of poison. Redfern died yesterday of poison, self-administered as he was arrested here, charged with the girl's death.

A letter from Redfern came to his relatives in Kitchener, telling them of Miss Gardner's death. Redfern said she took the poison herself and he was going to throw himself into the river above Niagara Falls. Police found that a man answering Redfern's description had registered in a hotel on the United States side of the falls. But there they lost the trail.

Yesterday a man who gave his name as W. D. Barker, of Buffalo, arrived here from Toronto in a taxicab. With the chauffeur, to whom he owed a $9 bill, he sat down to breakfast. When the check was presented, however, he said he had no money.

Police were called. They recognized him as Redfern and arrested him. He admitted his identity and was taken to the police station. There, as he was being questioned, he collapsed and died.

They're standard quality—in a group of fine chiffon silk stockings made especially for Gimbel Day. Pure silk from top to toe, with silk-reinforced picot top, and dainty silk-plaited foot. GREATEST DAY IN THE ANNIVERSARY SALE . . . EVERY ITEM ESPECIALLY PRICED FOR THIS DAY ONLY!

200 PLANES SET IN PARIS SHOW

PARIS, May 23.—(AP.)—Two hundred planes of all sizes and power, flying in compact formation over the Vincennes race track and military field, is the aerial treat promised to Parisians during the National Aviation Show, June 8 and 9.

Eighty fast pursuit planes are entered for the speed races, 81 for exhibitions and stunt flying; 85 military planes will dispute the various events reserved for army craft and about 75 big passenger planes will be on hand to take sightseers aloft during the maneuvers.

The complete history of French aviation since its very beginnings until today will be depicted to spectators. They will see a Bleriot, 1909 model, propelled by a dwarf 45-horsepower motor, trying to keep pace with a Breguet 1930, hauled by a gigantic 650-horsepower Hispano-Suiza.

France's most famous pilots, for speed and stunt flying, Doret, Bossoutrot, Prevost, Lemoigne, Detroyat, Moutonnier and Delmotte, will participate.

Capt. Dieudonne Coste, France's premier distance pilot, has promised his co-operation; "unless, between now and June 7, something should happen which would make it impossible for me to compete."

Coste is preparing a Paris-to-New York trans-Atlantic flight, and he had expected to be ready to take off during the latter part of May.

CLOTHES BURNT ASKS DIVORCE

Pushed against a stove one night, while her husband was intoxicated, the clothes of Ruth E. Warnick caught fire, she testified in her divorce action against James J. Warnick, heard by Judge James B. Drew. She extinguished the blaze.

Mrs. Warnick, 26, who is living at the Y. W. C. A., claims her husband had constantly abused her, especially when drinking; called her vile names, and several times choked her. She said he insulted her before others at Oakmont. As a result of her husband's treatment she claims she lost 60 pounds.

Judge Drew asked: "How much do you weigh now?" The libellant answered, "One hundred and nineteen pounds."

$25,000 BONDS LOST IN MAILS

NEW YORK, May 23 (AP)—More than $25,000 worth of government bonds which mysteriously disappeared in transit from Huntington, W. Va., were the object of a search by postal inspectors here.

The bonds, which were shipped from the Huntington National Bank, were supposed to have been in a registered mail pouch with other securities from various outside points addressed to the Chemical Bank and Trust Company, New York. When the pouch was opened the government bonds were missing, although postal inspectors said the pouch seemed to have passed safely through each point of handling between Huntington and New York.

A record of bank and brokerage firms indicated the bonds had not been sold or traded. They were insured.

RICHMAN BROTHERS

221-225 FIFTH AVENUE

READ THE FACTS

In 1879, our first modest factory was established in Cleveland, as the outgrowth of a little shop in Portsmouth, Ohio, where my father began to make good clothes seventy-seven years ago.

From that day to this, we've made the best clothes we knew how to make. We've improved the quality and added more value, year after year, as wider experience and greater resources have made improvement possible.

We're proud to sell these clothes under our own name . . to back them with a guarantee which pledges not only our long reputation for business integrity, but every dollar of our assets.

The modest factory of 1879 has grown to the largest clothing factory in the world, employing 3800 skilled needle workers throughout the year. Every one of these employees is a part owner of this business . . every one connected with this company is the owner of stock purchased out of their weekly earnings . . evidence of their supreme faith in the quality of their product and the destiny of their company.

A second factory in Lorain, Ohio, adds thousands of suits, weekly, to the immense production of our Cleveland plant. Fifty-five retail stores in 50 cities, and 750 factory trained and bonded sales representatives, place Richman Brothers Clothes within convenient reach of every man in the United States.

Yet this is not a chain store organization. Our stores are factory branches, or service stations, established to facilitate the original Richman plan of selling "direct from our factories to you" . . . a plan which saves you the middleman's profit on every purchase.

The costly appearance and quality of Richman Brothers Clothes place them in a class so far above their price that there is no basis for comparison . . . they establish a standard of value without precedent in clothing history.

This crowning achievement of Richman's unparalleled progress, gives assurance that when it is possible to produce finer clothes of greater value, they will bear the Richman Brothers label.

Added proof of Richman leadership will be found in the splendid showing of new suits we now offer for summer wear . . . . suits that are fashionably correct in every detail . . . . tailored of fabrics identical in quality with those featured in many stores at $50, or higher . . . . a variety that affords wide choice of the newest patterns and colorings, in sizes to fit every type of figure perfectly.

Any Business Suit, Topcoat, Golf or Dress Suit in every Richman Brothers Store in the U. S. is always the same price.

GERMANS' WAR PLAN HIT BY VON BUELOW

"Second Bismarck's" Letter Scores Methods Used By Teutons in Conflict

BERLIN, May 23.—(AP.)—A letter written by the late Prince Bernhard Von Buelow, often called Germany's "second Bismarck," indicates that had he been chancellor early in the World War the history of that conflict might have been written differently.

Prince Von Buelow wrote the letter to Theodore Wolff, editor-in-chief of the Berliner Tageblatt, with the understanding that his views might be published after death. He died last year.

The Prince, who was considered the Iron Chancellor's foremost disciple and often was described as the only 100 per cent chancellor since Bismarck, throughout the nine years of his chancellorship (1900-09) rigidly adhered to Bismarck's dogma for Germany to foster friendship with Russia at all costs on one hand and always keep aloof from England on the other.

WANTED BRITISH PEACE

But in 1925, his letter confessed, that had he been chancellor early in the war he would have left nothing undone to reach a peaceful settlement with England.

"I never should have approved of the Reichstag's foolish peace resolution nor the Kaiser's whining peace letter to Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg," he said. "But through some serious intermediary like the king of Denmark, the Pope or the king of Spain I would have advised the English of our readiness to give up Belgium without any reservations, 'neatly and clearly.'

"If necessary, I should even have been prepared to consider a French-Lorraine combination. And even if there had been no inclination on England's part toward peace, which I doubt, there was no excuse for our blundering into Wilson's plan. On the contrary, it behooved us to concentrate all our forces, all our energies at home and at the fronts for a fight to a finish. The result could not have been more disastrous than after our capitulation.

"I should never have given Austria carte blanche in dealing with Serbia, but should have insisted on knowing the contents of the Austrian ultimatum before its dispatch to Serbia.

BITS BELGIAN INVASION

"In no circumstances should I have allowed the Austrians, after only a hasty perusal of Serbia's reply, to pronounce it inadequate, to sever all diplomatic relations and start military activities.

"Nor should I have had Germany send France and Russia a declaration of war and thereby estranged first Rumania and then Italy from our Central European amity agreement. Herein Von Bethmann and Von Jagow committed a grave blunder.

"Of course, I should never have agreed to an invasion of Belgium as long as the Belgian neutrality was not being violated by our adversaries.

"I doubt whether I would have permitted the submarine campaign, certainly not at the time and in the circumstances in which unfortunately this mode of warfare was introduced.

"And I should have insisted that immediately after the outbreak of the war our navy go into action irrespective of the risk or peril involved."

Duce May Send Son-in-Law To U. S.

ROME, May 23.—(AP.)—Diplomatic circles in Rome were gossiping last night about reports that Count Galeazzo Ciano, son-in-law of Premier Mussolini, may soon be sent to Washington as secretary in the Italian embassy.

He would take with him his wife, the former Edda Mussolini, whom he married April 24. The two are finishing their honeymoon in the south of Italy and are expected to return shortly to Rome.

Count Ciano now is secretary of the Italian embassy to the Holy See.

FIGHT ON DIAL PHONES AIDED

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—The Iowa Telephone Company was speechless last night in the face of a congressional outburst against the machine age as applied to dial telephones.

A sensational cause demanding that 450 of the dial telephones be replaced by the old-fashioned kind in the Senate side of the Capitol was regarded as favorable by some members of the House that Representative Abernethy of North Carolina introduced a resolution to instruct the House sergeant-at-arms to have the dial instruments removed from House offices also.

Officials of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company declined to comment.

Senator Glass of Virginia led the revolt in the Senate, complaining against being made an employe of the telephone company without compensation.

The Senate adopted his resolution directing the sergeant-at-arms to order the telephone company to remove the dials. In the House Abernethy added to the Virginian's plaint the assertion that "telephone companies are putting in dials for the purpose of doing away with operators, tending thereby to increase unemployment."

FRENCH TROOPS MOVE FAST

WORMS, Germany, May 23 (AP).—Evacuation of this city will terminate on May 30, so many troop removals have been made in the last few weeks that the garrison already is reduced to between 600 and 800.

Shipments of army material are going on rapidly. The next transport of troops is scheduled for May 30 and the final shipment of material two days later although the last military police may not leave until June 5.

Gen. Guillaumat, commander-in-chief of the Army of Occupation, today returned from the military conference at Paris. As he sailed past Worms towards Mayence he was shown the highest military honors by French troops drawn up on the Rhine shore. A special detachment mounted guard on the bridge as the steamer approached. Bands played the "Marseillaise" and troops stood at salute. The steamer did not stop. Gen. Guillaumat was similarly honored at all other French garrisons down the Rhine.

McHugh, according to Mrs. Woods, called at her house and asked if she cared to buy hosiery. She missed the coat later and informed police, who testified they had found it in McHugh's possession.

INSANITY FAILS AS DEFENSE

In Criminal Court today Clarence E. Fish, of Steubenville, O., was found guilty of two charges of robbery and one charge of felonious assault.

His defense was insanity. His attorney, George H. Verady, testified Fish offered him $50,000 as his fee, and Mrs. Fish added that he had told her he was going to become wealthy with J. P. Morgan in the motion picture business. Assistant District Attorney Adair, in contradiction, produced Fish's notebook, which contained same statements.

Fish was captured after holding up two downtown restaurants—Gammon's and Null's—in Smithfield street, and firing a shot at Patrolman Charles Nebaur, the captor.

ENRIGHT FACES OIL FAKE QUIZ

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 23 (AP.)—Roy St. Lewis, United States district attorney here, said last night that Richard E. Enright, former police commissioner of New York, would be called by Federal officers to explain his reported connection with the defunct Universal Oil and Gas Company here.

Lewis announced previously that Dr. Henry Knight Miller, editor of "Psychology," a magazine published in New York, would be called in the case.

Investigation of the company's affairs followed the arrest of seven of its officials on charges of mail fraud here recently. They are free on bond. S. E. J. Cox, not listed as an official of the company, but also charged with mail fraud in connection with its activities, is in jail in default of bond. Cox, formerly an associate of Dr. Frederick Cook, the Arctic explorer, served a sentence in the Federal Penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., for mail fraud in connection with the sale of oil stocks several years ago.

Lewis said Enright will be asked to explain two checks, one made out to Mrs. Nellie E. Cox, and indorsed by Cox, her husband, for $1,000, and one for a similar amount made out to the Universal Company and deposited under the company stamp.

4 REDS FACING DEATH TRIALS

ATLANTA, Ga., May 23.—(AP.)—Two white women and two Negro men were held without bond after hearing in Recorders Court here, under capital charges of attempting to incite insurrection, following their arrest at an allegedly Communist meeting here.

The law defining attempt to incite insurrection as one punishable by death unless a jury recommends clemency, was passed in 1861.

Two young white men, M. H. Powers and Joe Carr, already were held under similar charges in connection with a meeting several months ago.

Those held yesterday were Ann Burlock and Mary Dalton, white, both giving Atlanta addresses, and Gilmer Brady, New York, and Henry Story, Atlanta, Negroes.

The gathering was announced as a meeting of the American Negro Labor Congress to protest against recent lynchings in the South.

Truck Crushes Rider to Death

MEADVILLE, Pa., May 23.—(AP.)—Clifford Snyder, 24, of Meadville, was killed last night in a truck accident near here when the machine left the highway and then was driven back to the road as the driver momentarily lost control. Snyder, who was riding on the rear of the truck, fell off and was run over when the vehicle came back to the highway. The driver of the machine was J. V. Crawford, of New Richmond.

Flirtatious Girl Causes Wreck, Ties Traffic

CHICAGO, May 23.—(AP.)—A flirting handkerchief wrecked two automobiles, tied up traffic on a heavily traveled boulevard, ruined two dispositions, took up two hours of court time and in general added to the confusion of Chicago's noon-time rush.

The kerchief, waving from the hand of petite Sally Garland, 18, towards Dennis Finnegan, 22, caused his automobile and that of John Marks, to collide, damaging both machines and ruffling everything except the handkerchief.

In court, womanlike, Sally changed her mind.

"I mistook Mr. Finnegan for someone else."

Boost in Civil War Pensions Approved

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP.)—The House bill to increase the pension of veterans who served for the United States in the Civil War from $65 to $75 a month was passed by the Senate.

The bill, which goes back to the House for concurrence in a minor amendment, would grant $100 a month to veterans requiring "regular aid and attendance of another person."

Olson Suspect Given Freedom

SHREVEPORT, La., May 23.—(AP.)—Police Chief Bazer has announced the release of Harry French, Windsor, Ont., youth arrested here several days ago under the name of Terence O'Rourke, because he was suspected of being Erdman Olson, the slayer of Clara Olse, in Wisconsin in 1926.

Bazer said that advices from Canada had established that the youth was not Olson.

TOWN PERILED BY ICE JAM

AKIAK, Alaska, May 23.—(AP.)—Several villages on the Kuskokwim River are flooded. The breakup and flow of the river to the Bering Sea has been blocked by a large ice jam below Akiak.

The jam is between this Eskimo village and Bethel, where a mission, reindeer camp and native village are located, 30 miles below here. Bethel is likely to suffer considerable damage when the jam breaks.

There is great concern here for native families who are in muskrat camps along the river and who have no boats. In other villages, it is learned, communication between flooded homes has been maintained by boats. No loss of life has been reported.

Porto Rican Spurns Post, Censures U. S.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, May 23.—(AP.)—Luis R. Garcia Casanovas declined appointment as director of public works at Caguas, offered him by Mayor Gonzalez, recently appointed by Governor Roosevelt.

Casanovas in a letter stated that as a member of the Nationalist party he would support the policy of non-co-operation with the government of the United States which "has usurped the rights of our people."

APPEAL HALTS RECEIVERSHIP

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 23.—(AP.)—The temporary receiver appointed several weeks ago for the Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Association on application of a group of insurgent members, was discharged here by District Judge Tom G. Chambers.

Judge Chambers sustained the contention of counsel for the defendant management and directorate that all action in a receivership case automatically is suspended when an appeal is taken to the Supreme Court.

Attorneys for the defense have appealed to the Supreme Court from Judge Chambers' denial of their motion to discharge the receivership.

Pierson, president of the University of Maryland, urged President Hoover to support legislation for the development of education along mechanical and agricultural lines, with particular emphasis upon research for new processes to use agricultural waste.

MOSLEMS PRAY AS SHIP BURNS

JEDDAH, Arabia, May 23 (AP)—Moslem Arabs doomed to die in fire aboard the steamship Asia yesterday knelt and said prayers to Allah before flames took them.

Capt. Marchandeau of the Asia today described scenes of horror which attended the burning. The Asia was leaving Jeddah for Djibouti with 1,500 pilgrims aboard.

More than 100 are believed burned to death. The captain praised the gallantry and bravery of his crew in rescue efforts. The crew was saved, some of them climbed back aboard the ship to take off panic-stricken people.

Spectators gathered helplessly on shore to watch the awesome scene. The Asia was lying in the outer harbor, after taking aboard 1,500 pilgrims destined for southern Red Sea ports, when fire broke out and spread throughout the ship.

Signals were sent to ships in the harbor and about 950 pilgrims were put aboard other ships and 300 or 400 put ashore in small boats.

Driver Acquitted In Smashup Death

Leo Busch, 22, Electric avenue, East Pittsburgh, was quickly acquitted of involuntary manslaughter in Criminal Court. It was shown by witnesses that his automobile had skidded on an icy street in Pitcairn and crashed into a building, killing Robert W. Weissbach, 19, 600 Bessemer avenue, East Pittsburgh, who was riding with him in the car, last February 7. The case was tried before Judge Joseph M. Swearingen. Two other young men in the car were injured.

Bath Costs Liberty Of Escaped Convict

CANON CITY, Col., May 23 (AP)—Danny Reardon, erstwhile trusty in the Colorado state prison, was securely behind steel bars today because he halted an apparently successful escape and took a bath.

Danny, fed up with prison fare, walked away from the institution yesterday. Some hours later A. A. Fry, bath house proprietor at Florence, Col., 10 miles distant, found a stranger asleep in his establishment.

Searching guards arrived about the same time. The slumbering stranger was Danny.

"Took a bath and went to sleep," he said in weary explanation as he was shoved into the solitary "hole."

CHINESE END WAR ON REDS

AMOY, China, May 23 (AP)—Due to strong opposition of Communists the anti-Red campaign waged by Chinese authorities here virtually ended today.

The Communists apparently won their attempt to halt an official drive to expose Red activity in South China.

It was believed that discoveries made in the recent raids on Communist quarters here, which divulged evidence of a widespread Red propaganda campaign in Southern China, would not be followed much farther because of the antipathy of the officials and intimidation by Communists.

OLGA REGAINS AMSTER FUND

NEW YORK, May 23—(AP)—The income from a $100,000 trust fund established for Olga Eide Edwards by Nathan Amster, Boston traction magnate, was restored to her in Supreme Court.

The trust fund, set aside for her by Amster in 1927, had been suspended after her recent arrest for extortion, a charge on which she was convicted and given a suspended five-year sentence.

After promising again not to annoy Amster, who sailed Wednesday for Europe, Miss Edwards obtained court permission to go abroad, and was given custody again of her child, Lee Edwards.

EXCLUSION ACT UNDER FIRE

LOS ANGELES, May 23—(AP)—A resolution requesting Congress to reconsider the Japanese exclusion act and place Japanese seeking admittance to the United States on a quota basis was expected to find its way today into the general meeting of the seventeenth annual convention of the National Foreign Trade Council.

The resolution, sponsored by the Portland (Ore.) delegation, yesterday was circulated among 2,000 delegates in printed form and a copy given to the chair. No official vote was taken.

Portland members said they would insist official cognizance of the matter be taken before close of the convention.

Pittsburgh and New York City are chief contenders for 1931 convention honors.

40 IN 100 POLL VOTERS WANT DRY REPEAL

Final Figures of Digest Ballot Show But 30 Per Cent for Enforcement

NEW YORK, May 23.—Forty voters out of every hundred in the United States who participated in the Literary Digest's nation-wide poll desire the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, 29 prefer modification of the Volstead law and 31 stand for strict enforcement, according to the final report to be published in tomorrow's issue of the magazine.

A grand total of 4,806,464 of the 20,000,000 ballots sent out came back properly marked, as follows:

For enforcement, 1,464,098, or 30.46 per cent.

For modification, 1,399,324, or 29.11 per cent.

For repeal, 1,943,052, or 40.43 per cent.

VOTE SETS RECORD

The Digest says:

"The harvest of votes far exceeds the fruits of all The Digest's most famous and disputed presidential polls. Does not this indicate that the American people are more deeply stirred by the existing prohibition situation than they were even by the Hoover-Smith contest, whose astonishing outcome was so categorically forecast by our 1928 poll?

Compare the totals. The Hoover-Smith poll of some 19,000,000 ballots brought a return of 2,767,263 votes. That was unprecedented, but it fades perceptibly in the presence of our prohibition-poll harvest of over four and three-quarter millions out of twenty millions."

5 FOR ENFORCEMENT

Five states—Arkansas, Kansas, North Carolina, Oklahoma and Tennessee—registered a majority vote for strict enforcement as previously reported, and five gave a majority for repeal—Connecticut, Louisiana, Nevada, New Jersey and Rhode Island. The two extremes, by the final figures, continue almost neck and neck—going in opposite directions. Kansas, 57.67 per cent dry, Nevada 57.61 per cent anti-dry.

Thirteen states gave over 40 per cent of their votes for enforcement. Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Mississippi, Nebraska, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas.

Eighteen states are more than 40 per cent for repeal: Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Wyoming—and the District of Columbia.

Early Golfer Finds Friend's Home Ablaze

MILWAUKEE, May 23 (AP).—The enthusiastic golfer who gets up early enough to beat to the neighborhood and honks his horn while trying to round up a foursome came into his own here.

Patrick Harrington, an attorney, at 4 a.m. drove up in front of the apartment building where Dr. N. J. Wegemann lives. Harrington and Dr. Wegemann were going golfing.

He did not sound his horn. Instead he jumped from the car and dashed into the building crying "fire."

Two families vacated the building quickly. Dr. Wegemann didn't even have time to get his golf clubs, so the game had to be called off.

The fire, of unknown origin, caused damage estimated at $25,000.

MACDONALD'S POLICY BACKED

LONDON, May 23 (AP).—J. Ramsay MacDonald, bolstered by an overwhelming vote of confidence by his own party today turned his face toward political opponents.

The Parliamentary Labor party, meeting in closed session, voted 210 to 29 last night to defeat a motion of censure on the ministerial unemployment policy offered by Sir Oswald Mosley, Patrician Labourite, who resigned his place in the Cabinet as Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.

At about the same time it became known that Mr. MacDonald had refused the demands of David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, for certain electoral reforms, including proportionate representation.

TURKEY COPIES U. S. METHODS

ANGORA, Turkey, May 23. — (AP.)—Turkey is taking the United States as her model in her attempt to develop a prosperous nation.

Those policies credited to America—peace on earth, time is money, honest business, no bargaining, women first—were ticked off, one by one, in an interview by Tevfik Ruchdi Bey, foreign minister, as the mottoes of the new Turkey.

The interview was on the basis of development in American-Turkish relations, brought about by the going into effect of the treaty of commerce — the first between the two countries.

"It took only 30 minutes to elaborate the bases of that treaty," said the foreign minister, "because to the United States and the new Turkey bargaining is distasteful, and they can't afford to lose time thereby.

"Bargaining in international relations still unfortunately exists in some parts of the world, but the United States and Turkey want to do what is reciprocally just and do it in the fastest way possible. America and Turkey are quick to comprehend new ideas because both, as nations, created something new."

The foreign minister pointed out that American goods, as well as ideas, were gaining rapidly in Turkey.

Two Hurt in Auto Crash Get $15,100

A verdict of $15,100 was awarded to Rita and Lawrence McGuigan and their father, James McGuigan, North Braddock, in their suit against D. H. Chambers, Wilmerding, whose truck struck the McGuigan car, injuring the children. The case was heard before Judge Samuel H. Gardner, of Common Pleas Court. The accident occurred August 2, 1927, in Yost boulevard, Braddock.

SENATE CLEARS STATE OFFICER

JACKSON, Miss., May 23. (AP.)—Lester C. Franklin, chairman of the state commission, was found not guilty of high crimes and misdemeanors late yesterday when the Mississippi Senate, sitting as a high court of impeachment, sustained by more than one-third vote a motion for peremptory instructions.

The vote was 22 for the motion and 26 against.

Under an agreement entered prior to argument of counsel on the motion, if more than one-third voted to sustain the prosecution was to drop the charges and the Senate declare Franklin not guilty. Had less than a one-third vote been cast for the motion, then the next step would have been optional with Franklin.

As a result of the outcome and agreement, the Senate then without a dissenting vote adopted an order formally dismissing the six articles of impeachment voted by the House.

Thus, the second impeachment in Mississippi state history, and the first in 54 years, came to an end.

Impeachment of Franklin was based on six charges which grew out of a House commission investigation of an alleged clandestine settlement of a proposed $10,000,000 anti-trust suit by the state against Warren Brothers Company of Boston, Mass.

The suit was settled, according to contentions of the committee bringing the charges, for $80,000 in a Memphis hotel room, the money being paid in currency to Carl Marshall, Mississippi attorney, by George B. Crafts, general counsel of the road firm.

Man Sentenced For Auto Theft

Venezuela to Pay All Foreign Debts

CARACAS, Venezuela, May 23.—(AP.)—A special session of the Venezuelan Congress by unanimous vote authorized immediate payment of the outstanding balance of the country's foreign debt.

On December 31, 1929, the balance of the foreign debt amounted to $4,681,906. The treasury surplus was $22,740,150. The only remaining debt will be the internal one of $5,470,000.

GERMAN LOAN PLAN READY

PARIS, May 23. (AP.)—The final agreement for floating the $300,000,000 reparations loan under the Young plan will be signed in a few days in the tea room of the George V. Hotel, where the Young plan was elaborated.

Gates W. McGarrah, American president of the Bank for International Settlements, made a special request that this first important act of the world bank—issuance of the loan—be accomplished in the same place as was the plan which gave birth to the bank.

A preliminary meeting yesterday decided the partition of the allotted $82,000,000. Great Britain, States and France each will be allotted $82,00,000. Great Britain agrees to take $50,000,000. Holland and Sweden will take $25,000,000 each. Switzerland gets $15,000,000. Belgium and Italy $5,000,000 each and Germany is expected to take the remaining $11,000,000.

Another meeting will be held in the hotel tomorrow to discuss the price of issue.

Moonshine Kills Boy, Father Arrested

BARNESBORO, May 23.—Charged with involuntary manslaughter in the death of his 6-year-old son, James, Alexander DeDea was held for the grand jury. The child died May 5, the result of an overdose of alcohol. In the father's absence from his home the child found a pint bottle of whisky and drank practically all of it, death resulting soon after. The father admitted at a preliminary hearing that the child had frequently drank moonshine.

Indiana Man Buys Monongahela Hotel

OCEAN PLANES PASS TESTS

LOS ANGELES, May 23. (AP.)—Two airplanes, in which two aviators plan transoceanic flights within a month, successfully passed the Department of Commerce flying tests at a suburban airport here.

The planes, both low-winged monoplanes, similar to that in which Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh recently established a transcontinental flight record, are ready for delivery to Col. Roberto Fierro, director of civilian aviation in Mexico, and Harold Bromley, who plans a flight from Tacoma, Wash., to Tokio, Japan.

Bromley tested his own ship and announced that he will take it to Muroc Dry Lake, in the Mojave Desert, for load tests.

Col. Fierro's plane was tested by H. W. Catlin, plant pilot. The Mexican flier said he will leave Monday for New York. He will be accompanied by Arnulfo Cortes, mechanic, on the 10,583-mile route he has mapped out. Col. Fierro expects to fly nonstop from New York to Mexico City, over Central America to Bahia, Brazil, and to fly from there nonstop to Dakar, Africa. From Dakar he expects to fly to Paris and London before shipping his plane home. His craft carries 440 gallons of gasoline.

FLINT, Mich., May 23.—(AP.)—Six bands, hailing from four states, competed last night for premier honors in Class C of the national high school band contest, which started here yesterday.

The bands, survivors of the preliminaries in their class yesterday morning, were from St. Elmo, Ill., Hartley, Ia., Lanark, Ill., Nicolet High School of West Depere, Wis., Andover, O., and Algoma, Wis. Winners from among these finalists will not be announced until the contest is concluded tomorrow evening.

Seven bands were eliminated in the Class C preliminaries. They were from Oxford, Mich., Bates Township High School, Mich., Van Buren, India, Winchester, Ky., Benzonia, Mich., Eustis, Fla., and Anchorage, Ky.

Ten of the 23 bands entered in Class A, about which major interest centers, played in yesterday's preliminaries in that class. They were from Central High School, Lansing, Mich.; Harrison Technical High School, Chicago; Central High, Flint, Mich.; Emerson High School, Gary, Ind.; Quincy, Ill., East High School, Cleveland; East High School, Green Bay, Wis.; Mason City, Ia., Joliet, Ill., and Austin High School, Chicago.

WOMAN SEEKS NORRIS' SEAT

OMAHA, Neb., May 23.—(AP.)—Dr. Jennie Callfas, militant dry worker who was ousted as Democratic national committee woman after refusing to support Al Smith for president, launched her campaign yesterday for the Democratic nomination for the Senate seat now held by George W. Norris, Republican.

In outlining her platform, Dr. Callfas said, if elected, she would fight for a "revision of tariff rates to the benefit of agriculture," and that she would support the Federal Farm Board.

Dr. Callfas, who bolted her party because of Smith's views on prohibition, defended her rights to run as a Democrat, saying she had supported every candidate who stood unequivocally on the platforms adopted by the Democratic conventions. She is the first woman in Nebraska to file for a Senate seat.

RUNDOWN SYSTEM IS TRANSFORMED BY NEW KONJOLA

Pittsburgh Lady Finds Quick Relief From Nervousness and Kidney Trouble Through Modern Medicine.

If you are not feeling 100 per cent—if you suffer from troubles of the stomach, liver, kidneys or bowels, rheumatism, neuritis, or nervousness—help yourself to the knowledge of hundreds of Pittsburgh citizens who know from their own personal experience what a marvelous medicine Konjola is.

MRS. MATILDA GRIMM

Call upon the Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh. Get the facts, true and verified, about this super-compound of 12 ingredients—10 of them the juices of roots and herbs of known medicinal value. Among the many local Konjola enthusiasts is Mrs. Matilda Grimm, 7161 Kelly Strfet, Homestead Station, Pittsburgh. Konjola battles the very causes of the ills it is designed to relieve . . . works quickly and thoroughly, and makes good time after time after all else tried has been found wanting. What, indeed, could be wiser than to follow in the footsteps of those, who, to their everlasting joy, put Konjola to the test? Consider, then, the words of Mrs. Grimm, who recently said to the Konjola Man:

"I am feeling so much better in every way, as the result of my experience with Konjola, that I can not help praising this wonderful medicine to others. For the past year or so I have been in a weakened, rundown condition. My nerves were in a dreadful shape. The least disturbance or annoyance would startle me terribly. I was weak and had no ambition to do my work, but just had to force myself about. My kidneys were also out of order. I had a terrible soreness and stiffness in my back and over my kidneys. It was difficult for me to stoop over. I was getting up several times during the night, and in the morning I would feel as tired as when I went to bed.

"I tried many medicines but none reached my trouble. Then Konjola was recommended by a friend, and I made up my mind to try it. How surprised I was at the great relief I received. In just a few weeks' time my kidney trouble was banished. I can sleep fine and get up in the mornings feeling refreshed. The pains and stiffness in my back are gone, and I can stoop over without the slightest discomfort. My nervous system has been wonderfully improved and I feel better and stronger in every way. Konjola certainly proved its merit in my case."

This is just one of the countless thousands of stirring indorsements that fill the files of Konjola almost to overflowing.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, explaining the merits of this new and different medicine.

JEWISH STRIKE PEACEFUL

JERUSALEM, May 23.—(AP)—The Jewish Telegraphic Agency reports that the general strike of Palestine Jews protesting against the British government's suspension of immigration to Palestine passed yesterday without any untoward incidents of disturbances reports from every part of the country indicate that the strike was completely effective.

The Jewish National Council issued an appeal in the Arabic language to the Arabs in Palestine. The manifesto pointed to the peaceful intention of the strike.

"This day we wish to proclaim the possibility of peaceful common effort of all the residents of Palestine. We call on the Jewish people to mobilize all its forces for the realization of the Jewish national home."

The Jewish National Council also telegraphed to the Jewish communities in New York, Berlin, Warsaw, Paris, Vienna and other centers, reporting the strike and the reasons that led to it and appealing to the Jews for increased efforts on behalf of the Jewish national home.

The rabbis have decided that special prayers should be said against the immigration stoppage this Sunday on the eve of the new Jewish month.

R-100 DAMAGED IN TEST TRIP

CARDINGTON, England, May 23.—(AP)—The big British dirigible R-100 returned damaged to her mooring mast last night after a trial flight for her trans-Atlantic voyage to Canada.

About 30 feet of fabric near the stern was torn apparently by high air pressure, but the Air Ministry later said the defect was a minor one and the airship's officers announced that repairs would be quickly made.

The R-100 left Wednesday for a trip that took her over London, up the east coast of England and over the Midlands.

Before her return the Air Ministry announced that her flight to Canada would be deferred for a few days. It will probably be put off until the end of the month when the Canadian Parliament has finished its session. The postponement was decided upon after consultation with Ottawa.

Commander R. S. Booth knew nothing of the damage to the R-100's stern until he received a message from below. He said he was well pleased with the airship's behavior and that the new Rolls-Royce Condor engines had pushed the ship up to a maximum of 80 knots an hour.

The reception of weather maps by television apparatus proved satisfactory.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—The will of the late Sultan Ahmed Kadjar, dethroned as Shah of Persia in 1925, was filed here, dividing the bulk of his estate among his mother, three daughters and a son.

The sultan died last February in Paris and his will was probated here because of property he owned in this country. The value of the estate was not given.

Eight "temporary wives" or sigheh, were left an annuity of $1,000 each, with an additional $6,000 a year for each of the shah's legitimate children until they attain the age of 20.

Queen Malekeh-Diahan, of Paris, the mother, receives all of her son's real estate in Persia. The will stipulates that the four children, all minors, who now live in Brussels, reside with their grandmother.

FAMILY DOCTOR MADE MILLIONS OF FRIENDS

Fifteen years after his graduation Dr. Caldwell became famous for a single prescription, which now, after forty years, is still making friends.

Today Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the world's most popular laxative. Millions of people never think of using anything else when they're constipated, headachy, bilious, feverish or weak, when breath is bad, tongue coated or they're suffering from nausea, gas or lack of appetite or energy.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is made today according to the original formula from herbs and other pure ingredients. It is pleasant-tasting, thorough in the most obstinate cases, gently effective for women and children. Above all it represents a doctor's choice of what is safe for the bowels.

FUND TO OUST MAYOR RAISED

DETROIT, May 23.—(AP.)—A fund of $30,000 had been raised last night to finance the move to recall Mayor Charles Bowles, according to reports from the citizens' committee aligned against the Mayor.

The recall petitions, slightly altered but stating the original charges of "tolerating lawlessness by law enforcement agencies," and discharging Police Commissioner Harold H. Emmons "for ordering enforcement of law while Bowles was out of town," were being circulated. Workers claimed signatures were "easy to get."

Members of the committee stated they hoped soon to have 100,000 signatures of qualified electors, more than the required number to force a recall election. Supporters of the Mayor said they did not believe the necessary number of names could be obtained.

A call for volunteers to circulate the petitions was issued after a company specializing in that work refused to accept the contract. The refusal brought charges that pressure was exerted from the City Hall. This was denied by friends of the administration.

LIQUOR RUNNER ADMITS KILLING

SAN FRANCISCO, May 23.—(AP.)—Sought for the slaying of Melville G. Sturtevant, government witness in a liquor trial, and the wounding of Mrs. Grace Berri at a rendezvous at Tomales Bay Wednesday, Vincent Lucich, alleged liquor runner, surrendered with a flourish here to Chief of Detectives Charles W. Dullea.

Lucich telephoned to Captain Dullea from a restaurant and invited the officer to have lunch with him. Dullea accepted and over the soup and salami Lucich admitted the shooting and gave his version of it—self defense.

Sturtevant and Mrs. Berri, wife of Arnold Berri, one of the defendants in the liquor trial, were in an automobile near Tomales Bay when, the woman said, Lucich suddenly began shooting. First he shot Sturtevant twice in the back and then turned the gun upon her, Mrs. Berri told officers from her cot in a Petaluma hospital.

Lucich's version of the shooting was that he went to Tomales Bay with Sturtevant and Mrs. Berri at their request as they wanted to "show him a new place to land booze." He said they tried to "take him for a ride." Sturtevant shot it out with him, Lucich said, and then Mrs. Berri pulled a gun on him.

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM DFARR

Is there a more interesting character in the town than John Kane? He was born in Scotland 71 years ago. When he was 21 he came to America, shy, bewildered and broke. He found work in the mills, whose grinding, unceasing noises frightened the young immigrant. Then he became a street paver, later a painter—a painter, mind you, of freight cars and unpretentious houses. After hours he retired to his own modest home and while his wife looked on he painted the scenes impressed on his mind that day.

Of the technique of painting John Kane knew nothing. He set up his board and put color to canvas and hoped for the best. Mills, bridges and farms—these scenes appealed to him.

The artists we know are inclined to scoff at him, but he has done well. His paintings have been accepted in that most critical exhibition—the Carnegie International — three times. In the exhibitions of the Associated Artists of Pittsburgh he has been represented twice.

And now he has been further honored. Five of his oil paintings are hanging in a Boston exhibition—"Paintings of Nine Americans."

John Kane looks like a man who has worked hard all his life. He is of medium height, stoop-shouldered, he limps and his face is lined with years and labor. He is loquacious and likable, and his paintings are clearer than his conversation. Like most artists, he likes to admire his own stuff, and you can see him often gazing none too critically at those paintings of his which hang on Carnegie Institute's walls. But here is the most interesting line you can write about John Kane: As a house painter he was, possibly because of his age, very ordinary, if not a downright failure.

It has been weeks since we gave way to a sweeping statement, but right now we feel like making another, to wit: One half of the world doesn't know how the other half lives. This sweeping statement was inspired by the official program and topical committee reports for the twenty-first annual convention of the Master Boiler Makers' Association. One glance (and not a very good glance) reveals that two of the committee reports were entitled:

(1) What caused the recent epidemic of cracked side sheets and leaky stay-bolts in the fireboxes of modern locomotives, where previously under the same road condition and same water condition none was experienced?

(2) What is the most economical method of repairing cracked mud rings or corners, without removing the ring? Also the best method of keeping corners tight?

You come across things like this and you realize how little you know.

Honduras Sending Gold Dust to U. S.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP.)—Gold dust is on the way from Honduras to pay for a shipment of cotton goods. Gold is mined there and dust is a popular medium of exchange. The export agents in New York are to send it to the mint.

Hurrah for an old friend, Jim Davis, he is going to be the freshman senator from Pennsylvania. He beat Uncle Joe Grundy. Uncle Joe goes back to coaching now. He holds the same position with the Republicans in the Senate as Knute Rockne does with the great Notre Dame team. You don't see Knute crying because he is not playing on the team. EXONERATE SON IN FATHER'S DEATH

Sleuths Hold Mekonis' Demise Due to Fall in Attack Made on Wife

Convinced that Peter Mekonis, 39, of 1326 Franklin street, North Side, came to his death as a result of a fall in a misdirected attempt to strike his wife, Lieut. Frank Ferris and Sergt. Samuel Wheeler, of the homicide squad, said today they would not press any charge against Mekonis' son, Stanley, 19.

QUESTION FAMILY

The homicide sleuths said they would question Mekonis' widow and daughters today and probably present affidavits from them and the son to the coroner, with a recommendation that Mekonis' death be listed as accidental.

Before Mekonis died from a skull fracture, in Allegheny General Hospital, attaches informed police, he asserted members of his family had beaten him with sticks.

Ferris and Wheeler, however, after grilling the son, said they gave credence to his story that Mekonis, coming home intoxicated early Sunday morning, had fallen in a wild swing at his wife and struck his head against a marble mantelpiece.

SON ADMITS BLOW

The son admitted, the detectives said, that a few hours earlier he had struck his father on the jaw several times in defense of his mother. Stanley also said his father had fallen in the yard on his way into the house. He asserted his father had become abusive towards the family about two months ago, apparently having become despondent because neither father nor son had employment.

ELECTRIC MEN TO ELECT

Business topics lead the program events today on the closing sessions of the National Electric Credit Association convention in the William Penn Hotel.

Officers of the organization, composed of credit executives of manufacturers and distributors, will be selected tonight at a meeting of the national board following the closing session this afternoon. The convention opened yesterday.

Speakers of the sessions today are: President J. H. Lecour, of New York; A. C. Robinson, president, Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company; L. I. MacQueen, executive manager, Western Pennsylvania Credit Association; Attorney Frank W. Stonecipher; Rayford W. Lemley, Chicago and Prof. Vincent W. Lanfear, University of Pittsburgh.

Woman Hurt in Auto Crash Asks $25,000

It is averred by the plaintiffs that Miller ran into the car in which Mrs. Manuel was riding, when Miller turned into Moorewood avenue from Forbes street June 8, 1928. The plaintiffs are represented by Emanuel F. Schifano.

Dies on Beat

OFFICER KILLS SELF ON BEAT

Domestic troubles today were blamed for the death of Patrolman Charles R. (Dixie) Davis, 30, of 1314 Arch street, whose body, with a bullet wound in the head, was found on his beat at Eloise street and Pump way late last night.

Neighbors who heard a shot in the vicinity found the patrolman's body and his service revolver nearby. Homicide detectives and police from the North Side Station said they were convinced Davis had ended his own life.

His wife, Mrs. Portia Davis, left him, following a quarrel in their apartment, Sunday, police say. Mrs. Davis told police her husband had been drinking for several months and was abusive, they reported.

Davis had been a member of the police force six years. He was a World War veteran, having been gassed and wounded.

"We hadn't been having any serious trouble, Dixie and I, except now and then, about his drinking," Mrs. Davis told police. "I left him for that, but I didn't mean it to be permanent. He called me on the telephone early last night, and wanted to meet me, but something told me it would be best not to."

Students to Hold 'Prep Prom' Tonight

The annual "Prep Prom" of Duquesne University High School students will be held tonight in the Fort Pitt Hotel. A large alumni delegation will be present, Walter E. Berringer, general chairman, said today.

The dance will be featured by a departure from the usual custom, favors being presented at the social event. Leo H. Smith, chairman of the favor committee, has selected a unique gift.

GIRL UNAFRAID

Ardeth Plans to Borrow Money and Buy Shop

CHAPTER XXXIX.

By the autumn of that year, The Caprice was living up to its name. Jeanette was tiring of her latest toy.

"I simply can't stand being tied down to regular hours," she informed Ardeth fretfully. "I never could stand it, even as a child. They had to take me out of school on that very account. I'm too nervous. Just knowing that I have to be down here at a certain time each day is simply harrowing my feelings. Really, Ardeth, the responsibility is killing me!"

This, from Jeanette, who never appeared at the shop until one, and then only to give a few nervous and totally unnecessary orders on her way to some bridge tea, caused Ardeth to turn hurriedly away to hide the smile trembling about her mouth.

The responsibility of The Caprice had long since ceased to weigh on Jeanette—except in her imaginations.

Ardeth it was who did the buying of the stock as well as the selling now. Ardeth, the first to appear in the morning; the last to leave at night. Now that she had lost Ken, this small store had come to mean the dearest thing in life to her. It put purpose and order in her days. It was more than a means of livelihood, it had become her own creation.

She noticed the signs of restlessness on Jeanette's part, with alarm. Suppose Jeanette should sell out to someone . . . Suppose she should impetuously decide to fling over the whole thing . . .

Tom noticed the worry in her face when he took her to dinner that evening.

Ardeth Uneasy

Smiles at Suggestion To Buy Shop

"It isn't just the fear of losing my position," she admitted across the restaurant table. "I can always get something to do. But it's the place itself. I love it, Tom. You come to love a place when you see it growing every day. Of course Jeanette was responsible for its success in the first place; she got the right people coming there. But it's going on its own now. If she wasn't to come in once a year I could keep it going—yes, and—increasing.

Her cheeks were flushed, her eyes glowed with earnestness. Looking at her across the table like this, Tom reflected that it was a long time since he had seen her so alive. After the staggering blow of Ken's marriage she had seemed to withdraw from the world. Tom mentally blessed the frivolous little shop.

"Look here—why don't you buy it and run it yourself?" he asked suddenly.

She flashed a smile at him. "Thanks for the compliment! My savings would just about pay Ah Ling's salary for a month! Oh, well, there's nothing I can do. When Jeanette's tired of a thing—she's tired of a thing. And maybe it isn't so black as it seems. She might sell out to someone who'd want me to keep on managing the place. Maybe I won't have to give the darling place up."

Talk Business

Tom Willing to Loan Her Money

"You don't have to give it up," Tom returned quietly. "I just told you—buy it."

Her blue eyes fastened on the steady brown ones regarding her across the table. "That's sensible! I haven't a cent—"

"You have all you need."

Her face went pink. "You mean—borrow from you—"

"Why not? This is a business proposition. You said yourself the place was a money-maker. I'm looking for an investment—Now wait, keep your shirt on! I'm serious. What do you think Jeanette would take for a down payment?"

He drew out a pencil and poised it over the tablecloth.

The crisp business tone, the shrewd narrowing of the brown eyes reassured her.

Two hours they lingered at the table, heedless of the hovering waiter. The cloth was covered with figures when they finally rose to leave, and Ardeth's face was radiant.

"You look like a little kid that just found her Christmas sock full." Tom said fondly as he helped her on with her coat. "You are only a kid after all, Ardeth."

"Are you afraid?" she asked proudly. "I don't want to do this unless you think—"

"Shut up." Tom returned, pleasantly brusk.

When he stopped the car before her hotel he held her hand for a moment and looked earnestly down into her face, noting for perhaps the hundredth time the soft sweetness of her mouth; the little pointed chin which would just fill the hollow of a man's palm.

You modern girls beat the Dutch! Here I am, waiting like old faithful Dobbin, to give you my worldly goods in front of a parson whenever you give the word, and the most I can get to be is the silent partner in a business deal."

Notes Change

Different Since She Left The Harrisons

"You should be thankful that I leave you a little money and a little liberty instead of taking all of both!"

Tom opened his hand reluctantly. "You're the doctor! Whatever you say goes. But if you want to increase the partnership—"

She laughed with determined gaiety and waved him a flippant goodby as he ran up the steps. But her heart was sore with pity. Why was life like that? Why must one hurt another, unwillingly. First, Neil. Now this good fellow . . . hurting him as Ken had hurt her . . .

In the mirror of her dresser she saw the change Tom had noticed in the restaurant. Warm interest in her eyes, heightened color on her face.

She had come far from the scared girl who had left the Harrison flat and taken this small room. The last two years had given her poise. Reading, studying, suffering—they had put depth behind what had been the glowing beauty of youth.

She was in a fever of anxiety to speak to Jeanette about the shop the next day. But Jeanette did not come down all morning. It was not until Ardeth returned from her own luncheon that she heard Jeanette's resonant voice coming from the Smokerie.

News About Ken

Ardeth Overhears Conversation; Is Angered

"Cecile was furious when she learned about it and they had another jolly row. Poor Ken, his life is one row after another, she's taking advantage of her condition to air her nasty temper when ever she pleases——"

"What did Ken say?" That was Phyllis Hawkins' voice vibrant with curiosity.

"Oh—his reason was that he was sick of living on Parker money. He'd just reached the breaking point and decided to cut loose from Dad's office and start on his own. A defiant gesture, my dear, but really he was driven to it. Cecile staged a tantrum, of course, and pretty nearly cracked the plaster. She knows she can get away with murder right now." Jeanette's voice was scornful. "You'd think she was the only woman in the world whoever expected to have a child! She uses that as a whip to crack over Ken and whip him back in line——"

The words were a whip now—striking out into the outer shop to whip the blood from a girl's face, to lash pain and a swift, wild rage into Ardeth's heart.

Totals in Traffic Count Being Tabulated

Facts about tens of thousands of motor cars and other vehicles are being tabulated by the City Traffic Engineering Bureau today, following a check of traffic in the Triangle yesterday by police and Boy Scouts.

Troops of Scouts from many sections of the county sent nearly 1,100 boys into the downtown, where, in relays, they marked the number of cars passing each downtown corner.

In 22 points where access to the downtown area, and from it, might be made, patrolmen handed out and collected survey cards. The object was to find the number and types of vehicles. It is believed the count will show fewer horse-drawn vehicles than ever before.

The count is being conducted today under the direction of Acting Traffic Engineer Donald M. McNeill, in the City-County Building, where machines have been installed especially for the purpose.

Swindlers Get Cash, Trip To Homeland Off

Dominic Fagnani's plans to join his wife and family in Italy were at an end today and police were making efforts to locate two fellow-countrymen who swindled him of his savings—$2,000.

Dominic, 37, of 124 Winslow street, earned the money as a marble setter during the five years that he had been in this country, and he longed to return to his family.

Yesterday morning as he was waiting for a street car in Larimer avenue to go downtown and make arrangements for the trip, he met two Italians, police said. The two, Dominic said, promised him a good position in Italy if he would furnish their transportation there.

Dominic agreed. After drawing his money from a bank, he rejoined the two strangers, gave his money to one of them and they started downtown together.

On the way one of the men became ill and Dominic was asked to step into a drug store and get something to relieve him. When he returned the men were gone.

FIVE INDICTED IN RUM QUIZ LET OFF

Government Not to Push Trial of Meyer Brothers, McCann; 3 in Atlanta

The indictment charging the four Meyer brothers, Mickey, Gus, Sam and Joe, and Peter J. McCann, of the South Side, with attempting to influence witnesses summoned before the Federal grand jury that conducted the 1928 city-wide rum probe, was dropped by the government.

The indictment returned June 9, 1928, was nol prossed by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, on motion of United States Attorney Louis E. Graham, made with approval of Attorney General William Mitchell. The motion read that the government did not have sufficient evidence to warrant prosecution.

Three of the brothers, Mickey, Gus and Sam, caught in the grand jury quiz as leaders in bootleg liquor traffic on the South Side, are now serving sentences in the Atlanta penitentiary. In the quashed indictment they were accused of conspiring to influence John Sitar, Mike Melha[illegible]ski and others.

HILL RESIDENTS SUSPECTED AS RINGLEADERS

Five Involved in Drug Sales Given Paroles for 2 Years by Federal Judge

Nick Christy, alias Nicholas Prezios, 32, of 1106 Wylie avenue, and James De Giorano, alias James Dorsey, 24, of Webster avenue, said by government narcotic agents to be a source of supply for illicit drug traffic in the Hill district, were arrested by government agents and city detectives. Bonds were set at $5,000 each.

The two men, said to be sellers of smuggled morphine and other drugs in ounce lots, were arrested on bench warrants of the Federal Court, having been indicted at the present term of court. The government agents are attaching much importance to the arrests.

PAIR PAROLED

Christy Cummings, 34, of Ward street, and Israel Cohen, 36, of Bedford avenue, were placed under parole for two years each by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker when they pleaded guilty to selling and possessing drugs. Both are previous offenders. Cummings was in jail since last December, awaiting trial, and Cohen was recently released from jail on a county charge.

Henry Sylvester, Domenic Colucci and Phillip Morelli were placed on probation for two years by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, when they pleaded guilty of conspiring to violate the Harrison narcotic act.

FOUND DRUGS

On December 3, 1929, narcotic agents seized a small quantity of morphine and other drugs in the poolroom of Colucci on Hamilton avenue. In making their pleas in court the defendants said that the drugs were found in an old building by Sylvester, who is a contractor, when he was making some alterations.

Sylvester, it was testified, turned the drugs over to Morelli and the latter in turn handed them to Colucci. Government narcotic agents learned of the latter's possession and raided the poolroom. A large number of character witnesses appeared in behalf of the defendants.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's Question: What did Tuesday's election indicate concerning prohibition sentiment in the state?

MRS. ELIZABETH PARK, East End, demonstrator: That is difficult to determine. You may say that Pinchot won on a dry platform, yet you must not forget that he received many votes from the anti-drys because of his own popularity and freedom from the "machines."

Mrs. Park

HELEN BRIGGLE, East End: It is my opinion that the wet ticket of Phillips and Bohlen received a larger vote than many thought it would. This shows sentiment against prohibition. The anti-dry ticket had a young organization, too.

Miss Briggle

BELLE NAGLE, Corliss, secretary: I do not think that the election indicated much of anything concerning prohibition sentiment. Bohlen and Phillips polled a large vote but not exceptional. Pinchot was dry and won, so what can you make of that?

Miss Nagle

LILLIAN DITTMER, North Side, stenographer: It didn't indicate anything in my opinion. Just because Pinchot won does not mean that he won because he was dry. On the other hand the anti-dry ticket did not receive as many votes as lots of people thought it would.

Miss Dittmer

J. F. MILLER, North Side, credit manager: The election returns showed an increasing prohibition sentiment. Look at Pinchot's vote for instance. The organization in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia was against him but he came through in spite of them. Phillips was a disappointment.

J. F. Miller

J. A. KIRK, Bellevue, salesman: Indications point to almost anything. The Phillips and Bohlen outfit polled a large vote considering how new and untrained their organization was. The opposite of this indication is Pinchot's wonderful victory as a dry candidate.

GIVEN $5,000 FOR JAIIL TERM

LONDON, Ky., May 23.—(AP)—Granting of $5,000 damages in Federal District Court here against former Circuit Judge A. T. W. Manning for keeping a man in jail 17 days because he refused to answer a question, was said here to be the first such damages ever awarded by a jury in this state. In 1924 when Manning was circuit judge here he ordered L. A. Ketchum, a field worker for the Ku Klux Klan, to jail for 30 hours for contempt of court because Ketchum refused to give the names of Klan members in this county. At the expiration of the 30 hours Ketchum still refused to answer and the sentence was repeated again and again, until he had spent 17 days in jail. He finally was released on a writ obtained in Federal Court.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals held that Judge Manning had acted illegally and Ketchum sued for $50,000.

EGYPT PARLEY RIFT REVEALED

LONDON, May 23.—(AP)—A white paper published last night disclosed that the breakdown in Anglo-Egyptian negotiations which terminated in London May 8, was due to the impossibility of finding any formula which would satisfy the Egyptian demand for unrestricted immigration of Egyptian nationals into the Sudan.

The document shows that little difficulty was experienced in negotiations on most points, although there was long discussion regarding the defense of the Suez Canal.

At first the Egyptians demanded that the British troops should all be concentrated on the east bank of the canal.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Bride-Elect To Be Much Feted

More and more attractive and more and more varied are the events of late spring. And this interesting little season of ours is going to continue until June. Adding interest to the many events of May and June will be entertainments of all sorts for [illegible] brides-to-be.

One of the most feted of the brides during the early days of the month of roses will be Elisabeth Leovy Stanley, daughter of the Frank Alan Leovys of Beechwood boulevard, who will become the bride of Lieutenant (junior) Annapolis of the Submarine Annapolis of Cumberland, Md., on Tuesday, June 10, at 8:30 o'clock in the Calvary Protestant Episcopal Church.

On the Sunday before the wedding the [illegible] Howard Hale Mellon Cuntze and Mr. and Mrs. George Kelly Hill will give a buffet supper at the Fox Chapel Golf Club.

That same evening the boys and G. Quarre will entertain [illegible] a movie party and supper at the home of Mrs. Quarre [illegible] Mrs. George P. Rhoads [illegible] Williams avenue.

On Monday [illegible] Leovy Elisabeth's sister and the Clarence Stanleys, Elisabeth's brother-in-law and sister, will give the rehearsal dinner in the Leovy home. And on the same day Mrs. Paul B. Duke will give a luncheon in her home for the girls of the bridal party and other friends of the bride-elect. The day of the wedding, Mrs. Alan S. Humphreys and Mrs. Frederick Gwinner III will give the wedding breakfast in the Pittsburgh Golf Club.

Last night a Pittsburgh man and an eastern girl were married. And a Pittsburgh man, Edward Purcell Mellon, was best man. The bride is Ellen Burbank, daughter of the A. Lincoln Burbanks, Burbanks of Montclair, N. J., and the bridegroom is John Arner Heinz Simpson of Pittsburgh. They were married in St. Luke's Episcopal Church of Montclair by the Rev. Luke M. White, the rector, with a reception in the home of the bride following the ceremony.

Weds In East

Lincoln Burbank, Jr., formerly Julia Louise Van Sicklen, of Chicago, Virginia Thurman, of Baltimore, Florence Oswald, of Boston, Jane Wayman, of New York, Katherine Williams, of Milwaukee, Wis., and Julia Vogt, of Montclair, were bridesmaids.

As I said before, Edward Purcell Mellon was best man, and William Hogg Baker, Jr., and Whitefield Hawkes, of Montclair, A. Lincoln Burbank, the bride's brother, Jacob Ancona, of Philadelphia, Vernon Lee, of Princeton, and Henry Merrill, of New York, were ushers.

The young Simpsons will spend their honeymoon abroad. In the fall they will make their home in New York.

The bride is a graduate of the Ogontz School and the bridegroom attended Lawrenceville and is a graduate of Princeton. He's a member of the Cannon and University clubs.

PLANNING RED CROSS BREAKFAST

MRS. GEORGE F. ALTER

MRS. GEORGE P. ROSE

Talking over plans for the May Day breakfast Monday at the William Penn, of the Pittsburgh Chapter American Red Cross, at which seven Gray Ladies will be graduated.

Mrs. Phillips Urges Less Talk

The home department should be the spiritual balance wheel of the entire State Federation, Mrs. John M. Phillips said yesterday afternoon in addressing an audience of home department chairmen and others who had assembled in the Woman's City Club at call of the district chairman, Mrs. James I. Armstrong. Mrs. Phillips, who is state head of the department, emphasized the two objectives of her department—American Home Sunday in every community the Sunday before Thanksgiving and home economics in every school in the state.

She talked a little about the garden work, newly borrowed from the educational department, and of the handcrafts contest sponsored by the home department in which a $500 prize is offered. Mrs. Phillips urged a return to handcraft work if for no other reason than to insure a busy and therefore happy old age. She decried the great amount of lecturing being done by and to club women. "Let's have less talking and do more work," she asked as she pointed out a number of practical ways in which the department can express its worth.

Mrs. Armstrong presided and called on each representative to recount what her club had done through its home department. There was a wide variety of replies, from baby clinics, community entertainment and lectures, in one instance the only thing of its kind that ever came to the town's community night's work and entertainment for the blind to exchange of recipes and club luncheons.

Impressing the garden idea, Mrs. Armstrong had provided dozens of tiny plants potted with her own hands, which were distributed to the women.

Tea concluded the afternoon, Mrs. Joseph Grandey and Mrs. James G. Chalfant pouring.

WOOLEN WEAVES ITS WAY TO SUMMER POPULARITY

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, MAY 23.—Wool winds its way through the pattern of the mode with an utter indifference as to the season of the year. For this year both Spring and early Summer will find ever so many women wearing dresses of light weight woolen fabrics and no doubt reveling in their easy comfort that such frocks afford. Such frocks are rendered piquant by touches of paque, and all sorts of other little details are used to add to their charm and attraction. The walking frock of simple cut with skirt of sensible length and width is a boon that has been withheld from us all too long judging by the warmth of the reception accorded it by some of the smartest women here. Such frocks go to lunch at the nicest places with a nonchalance that is the outcome of assurance and perfect faith in their charm and perfection of cut and detail. The woolen fabrics are very supple, can be gracefully manipulated and hang beautifully and so it is little wonder that they should be so much in demand.

THE SECOND little frock, which is a Lenief model, is of black woolen material. It is ever so smartly tailored with the perfection that always characterizes models from this house. The amusingly cut bolero is made in one piece with the front of the skirt. The latter is pleated at the front with two deep side pleats facing one another. The guimpe and the clever little standing collar vary the passion for pique by declaring themselves for crepe de Chine. This model is ideal for the youthful figure built on svelte lines and should be avoided by any other type.

ADMITS LETTING CHILD BURN

ERIE, Pa., May 23.—(AP.)—Mrs. Edna Mumbulo, on trial charged with murder in the death of her 11-year-old step-daughter, Hilda Mumbulo, said on the stand that she made no effort to save the child when her clothing was ignited by blazing gasoline.

The woman collapsed during her stay on the stand but revived after a short rest when questioning was resumed by District Attorney Otto Herbst.

"I don't know what happened. I don't, honestly," the defendant said in answer to a question. "I was cleaning my dress and the pan of gasoline burst into flames."

Asked what she did after the gasoline was ablaze, the woman said:

"I guess I just threw it away from me, towards the window. That wasn't a sensible thing to do, and I wouldn't do it again, but I was excited."

"Now, Mrs. Mumbulo," said the district attorney, "You let that child, the child you've told us you loved so much, stand in that blazing inferno and did not one thing to aid her. You know you could have saved her life, don't you? You refused to save the life of that child, didn't you?"

Mrs. Mumbulo stared into the crowd for several minutes while the spectators remained in silence awaiting her answer, which was "yes."

The defense rested and it was expected the case would reach the jury today.

SEEKS SENATE AS VINDICATION

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 23.—(AP.)—Former Gov. Henry S. Johnston, of Oklahoma, ousted March 20, 1929, by the State Senate on a charge of incompetency, today formally had applied for a place on the primary ballot as a Democratic candidate for United States senator.

The ex-governor was impeached after he called out National Guardsmen at Oklahoma City in an attempt to prevent sessions of the Legislature. He announced his candidacy for the Senate several months ago and has been campaigning actively on a "vindication" platform. Application was made yesterday to have his name placed on the ballot.

After the ouster Mr. Johnston, seventh governor of the state, said he had "lost the office of governor, but have retained my honor and integrity."

Modified in several major projects by the Senate Commerce Committee, the bill faces opposition in a number of its provisions. Senator Watson, of Indiana, Republican floor leader of the Senate, predicted the measure would take up all of next week in debate.

Richard Wagner.

When the German composer Richard Wagner, was 23 years old he married Minna Planer, a pretty singer and actress. Wagner was totally unrecognized as a composer and before long Minna saw herself doomed to drudgery and poverty in order that her husband might experiment with revolutionary forms in music and wait for the fame which he said was always "just around the corner."

When Wagner reached the age of 30, success loomed ahead. To Minna's dismay, Wagner fell in love with Mathilde Wesendonck, wife of a wealthy silk merchant and only a few miles

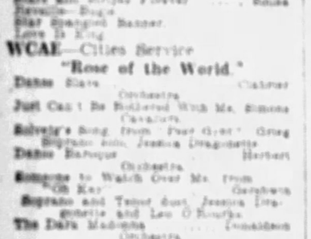
TONIGHT AT 8



An hour of charming music by the
CITIES SERVICE
ORCHESTRA AND CAVALIERS
WCAE and JESSICA DRAGONETTE and 32 other stations in the National Broadcasting Company's coast-to-coast and Canadian network

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

THE NEVILLE CHORUS of 20 voices will return to WCAE tonight at 9:30 o'clock for their second concert of the series.

On their first appearance at this station some weeks ago the chorus was well applauded by the listening public. Several persons of note in the Pittsburgh area are members of this organization, including Elsie Matz Bauman, Virginia Hartman and Neal Mowry. John Lawrence Rodrigues is the director.

Especially arranged numbers from "Faust" will comprise the first half of the concert.

Famous Loves. KDKA at 8:45 will tell the story of Richard Wagner's courtship.

Solveig's Song from Peer Gynt will be a Jessica Dragonette contribution to the Cities Service program on WCAE at 8.

Enrico Caruso's lovely ballad, Dreams of Long Ago, will be sung by Mario Chamlee (tenor) during the 10 o'clock program on WJAS.

DO YOU KNOW—

THAT hundreds of guests at the William Penn Hotel adjourn into KDKA studios daily.

THAT the smallest station in the world, WPEC, can be carried in one hand . . .

That the aerial on the short wave transmitter used by the Radio Miracle Man here recently was a hollow brass pipe 40 inch in diameter and only a foot long.

THAT Brad Browne of Columbus started out as a pin boy in a bowling alley at North Adams, Mass.

THAT the doors in most studios open out and not in.

THAT Will Rogers once broke horses for the British Army in Africa for $10 a month.

THAT Rogers now makes this much a minute when he speaks on the radio.

THAT James Whipple of the Trawlers program once was stranded in the South Seas.

THAT Chinese peasants regard radio as an evil spirit and run and scream when a set is played.

THAT $400 artists broadcast each month from NBC studios.

THAT goldfish is the new fad among local announcers.

THAT Jan Garber is the only orchestra leader who is permitted to do his own announcing over two rival networks in New York.

THAT Babe Ruth favors admits he is the best fisherman at KDKA.

THAT Lloyd C. Thomas, commercial manager of Westinghouse stations, disputes this claim and has purchased $72 worth of equipment for the big outdoor tournament.

THAT when a new dramatic sketch goes on the air many actors are called but few are chosen because a radio voice and histrionic ability rarely go together.

In an actress it's Personality

in a cigarette it's Taste

IT TAKES SOMETHING MORE than good looks to hold the center of the stage—and something more than mere mildness in a cigarette to win the popularity that Chesterfield enjoys.

IT'S THE TASTE, of course—and there's a lot of difference between mildness alone and mildness with taste . . . between ordinary tobaccos and quality tobaccos . . . between ordinary blending and the Chesterfield blend.

TASTE A CHESTERFIELD!—Mildness is there, of course, but much more . . . delicate richness, fragrant aroma, and—"TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price.

Strawberry Ice Box Cake

The moment lamb is mentioned on a menu, one thinks immediately of the two traditional accompaniments without which lamb might just as well be called by any other name—mint jelly and peas. This trinity is inseparable but just for the sake of variety I want to suggest an entirely new and different way of combining them without offense to the very best tradition. Why not serve the peas and mint in a delightfully cooling gelatine salad? You make it like this.

Chop a small bunch of fresh mint and cook it with 2 cups white grape juice for 20 minutes. Add 2 tablespoons gelatine which has been softened in half cup cold water; then add 1 cup sugar and

A SIMPLE STEP TOWARDS HEALTH

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a Daily Essential and Millions Know Its Effectiveness in Relief of Constipation

Perhaps the one simple thing you are not doing to guarantee permanent health is having sufficient roughage in your food. Absence of this roughage is the direct cause of constipation which results in so many other ills—headaches, listlessness, general depression, indigestion and, sometimes, serious disease.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is roughage. It is positively guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or the purchase price will be refunded. Two tablespoons daily (in serious cases, with each meal) is the proper amount.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also helps you to health in other ways. It is rich in iron, practically all of which goes into the blood, bringing red, healthy color to the complexion. It helps prevent anemia. Be sure to include it in reducing diets.

Many eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with cream or milk added. It is a delicious addition to cereals, fruits and soups. In cooked foods, such as bran muffins, it is just as effective in the relief of constipation. Recommended by doctors. Ask your grocer for Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Troubles that come with middle age . .

—are often caused by non-absorbent or chemically impure toilet tissue

A PROMINENT SPECIALIST estimates that 65 per cent of all men and women over 40 years of age are suffering from some form of rectal trouble.

An appalling condition! Yet not surprising in view of the gross indifference of most people to the quality of toilet tissue used in their homes.

Not until recently has the importance of bathroom tissue to health been fully realized.

Today, however, millions of housewives are insisting upon the toilet tissues that physicians and hospitals have thoroughly approved: ScotTissue, Sani-Tissue and Waldorf.

These three famous health-protecting tissues are made from hygienically processed fibres—"thirsty fibres."

Crumple a sheet in your hand. Feel its unusual softness . . . suave as old linen . . . actually cloth-like in texture.

Treat a sheet of ordinary glazed tissue this same way. You can actually feel its cutting edges—frequently sharp enough to cause a seriously inflamed condition.

Thirsty fibres are extremely absorbent—yet tough and strong. Without this absorbent quality thorough hygiene is impossible. This is why Scott Tissues are so much safer to use than harsh, glazed toilet tissue.

Scott Tissues are chemically pure—neither acid nor alkaline. The sheets tear easily and squarely at the perforations.

Never take chances again. Always be sure of safety by asking for either ScotTissue, Sani-Tissue or Waldorf.

Scott Tissues

Quart of Milk Daily Essential for Health

Every person needs at least a quart of milk a day, is Dr Copeland's dictum. However, he adds, it need not all be taken as a drink; it may be advantageously used in cooking.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Former Health Commissioner of New York City. United States Senator from New York.

Milk is the natural food of all animals including the human animal. It is one of the most wonderful foodstuffs existing.

Milk shouldn't be looked upon as merely a baby's food. It is good for persons of all ages.

It is a pity that many persons claim they do not like milk or that it makes them "bilious." Of course there is an occasional person who has some peculiarity and really is distressed by taking milk. But 99 persons out of 100 will thrive on milk.

One of our eminent dietitions, Dr. John Harvey Kellogg, has said: "Milk is a sort of fluid tissue and like other tissues is prepared from the blood; hence it is not surprising that the profound scientific study to which this remarkable food substance has been subjected within recent years has brought to light the fact that milk possesses some of the properties of the living blood from which it is produced. While still warm with animal heat, freshly drawn milk, like the blood, possesses the power to combat and destroy germs."

Vital to Health

Many of the foods we eat lack the food elements which are essential to perfect health. It is most important that we get an adequate supply of these life-giving elements in the foods we consume. To that end we should eat such things as cereals, and with milk. We should take all the milk products, and fruits and vegetables which contain the mineral salts and vitamins.

It is true that milk is made up to a large extent of water. Yet chemical analysis shows it to have from 12 to 15 per cent of solid elements which are vital to good health.

Not everything that is sold for milk is worthy of the name, but I am glad to say the day of bad milk is long past. Public health officials and the great distributing companies see to it that the milk supplies of the great cities are of the best and there is little milk that is not pure and wholesome.

Drink Milk Slowly

Farms, barns and herds are examined and regularly inspected. Creameries and milk plants are under constant supervision.

There is every reason why the milk supply should be pure. Pasteurization of milk makes it safe. Improved refrigeration in store and home keeps it safe for human consumption.

In drinking milk it should not be considered a beverage, but as a food. It should be sipped or drunk slowly enough so that it can be mixed with the saliva. Digestion begins in the mouth, and if milk is taken with other food and taken slowly enough, it will be properly digested.

Not all of the daily supply of milk need be taken as a drink. It may be used in the cooking and taken in puddings or other desserts, in soups and other foods. Most of the bread we eat is made with milk, so that we get it in more than one form.

Every person needs at least a quart of milk a day, whether as a drink, in foods, or any way you prefer, but have it at any cost. It is a vital food and should be given a place in every household. It is as necessary as water or sunshine and should be a universal food.

PRUDENCE PENNY'S RECIPES

garnished with lemon slices and sprigs of parsley.

RICE MUFFINS—Sift together ½ cup flour and 3 teaspoons baking powder and mix with 2 tablespoons sugar and ¾ teaspoon salt. Rub 1 cup cold cooked starch into the dry ingredients. Add 1 cup milk to 1 egg, well beaten; then beat the egg and milk into the dry ingredients. Blend with 3 tablespoons melted shortening. Bake in greased muffin tins in a hot oven about 30 minutes.

TOMATO SAUCE RIVIERA—Add ¼ teaspoon black pepper to ¼ cup olive oil and cook for 2 minutes. Cut 1 small onion in thin slices and cook in oil until tender, being careful not to brown it. Mix 3 tablespoons tomato paste or canned tomato sauce with ½ cup water, add to the oil in three installments, allowing the mixture to boil up after each addition. Add 2 cups canned tomatoes, 1 bay leaf, 2 cloves, and cook for 45 minutes. Add one tablespoon sugar and cook 10 minutes more. Tomato catsup may be substituted for the tomato paste. This recipe makes about 1 1-3 cups sauce when finished.

GRAPEFRUIT-CHERRY SPRING SALAD—One can grapefruit, 20 red cherries (canned), 10 toasted almonds, French dressing and lettuce.

Arrange segments of grapefruit on bed of lettuce to form an eclipse. Allow 4 segments of fruit for each serving. In the cavity between segments, place a row of cherries which have been pitted and stuffed with the halved toasted almonds or other nut meats. Serve with French dressing made with grapefruit juice, according to the following recipe. Serves six.

One teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon paprika, 3 tablespoons grapefruit juice and ½ cup salad oil.

Mix the seasonings well, add the fruit juice and oil and shake or beat until slightly thickened. A small piece of ice added to the mixture hastens the mixing.

STUFFED DATE AND PINEAPPLE SALAD—Twelve slices of pineapple, 12 (one-quart package) dates, 12 nut meats, ½ cream cheese, 2 tablespoons cream, French dressing or fruit juice, Lettuce and mayonnaise.

Stuff the dates with the cream cheese, which has been rubbed to a paste with the French dressing cream or juice. Press a nut meat into the center of each date. Arrange 2 slices of pineapple on a bed of lettuce so edges overlap. Place a stuffed date in center of each slice. Top with mayonnaise or fruit salad dressing, for which receipe follows.

SPRING SALAD—Peeled chilled tomatoes, celery, chopped minced onion, sliced radishes, sliced cucumbers, French dressing, lettuce, mayonnaise.

Mix together the celery, onion, radishes and cucumbers and chill thoroughly in a covered container in the electric refrigerator. Peel the tomatoes and chill thoroughly. At serving time scoop out the centers of the tomatoes. Use the centers for or a lettuce leaf and top with mayonnaise.

Bald Eagle Killed In Fight With Airplane

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 23 (AP.)—Farmers in Little Buffalo Valley, Perry County, reported that a bald eagle had lost a battle with an airplane there.

Several of the farmers said the eagle made a furious rush on the plane as it appeared over the mountains. In one of its rushes, the bird struck the propeller and its head was severed.

Spectators on the ground saw an object fall from the ship and fearing it might have been a person, hurried to the spot where it landed and found the eagle.

The bird had a wing spread of more than six feet.

The identity of the aviator was not learned.

Teaches Hero

Carol Lombard is one of the girls who teach Buddy Rogers all about the big city in "Safety in Numbers" new talkie in the Stanley.

Clifford was imported from Ireland to play the boy in John McCormack's initial vocalfilm "Song O' My Heart." He is going to school now, but every afternoon at 3 he reports to the Fox publicity office, rolls up his sleeves and goes to work. Tommy is earning his salary between emotings, all right.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Hollywood is now having its fifth annual motion picture tennis tournament. Objection was made to the eligibility of a prospective entrant on the ground that he had not worked on a picture for six months.

An actor-member of the tournament committee was approached to settle the controversy.

"Sir," he frigidaired, "Not having worked in six months is no distinction these days. Do you want to enter the tournament?"

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

Man About Town

It has probably happened to you, too. And it is a devastating feeling. So imagine the plight of two Salvation Army workers who are in New York for that worthy organization's annual convention. He seemed to be about 50, and she looked about 45. At any rate, they both appeared a little frightened as they entered Dinty Moore's famously known restaurant on 46th St.

Moore's is one of the rendezvous in the Bulb Belt for the sportsmen and their hearts. The tariff is within their means, and they think nothing of paying $1.50 for a dish of ham and eggs, or $2.50 for this and $1.75 for that. The Salvationists, however, must have mistaken Moore's recently renovated windowless white front for Childs or the other moderate-priced restaurants, as they ankled in and were placed at a pavement table for two.

We paused to watch them study their menus, for we wondered how Salvation Army preachers could afford the steep fees exacted by Mr. Moore. And it was a touching scene. He paled as he followed the fare bill obviously seeking a dish for less than half a dollar. They must have studied their menus for at least fifteen minutes, and the waiter patiently stood by with his pad and pencil poised. The uniformed old gent finally looked at his companion for counsel. Their orbs met, and you could sense their embarrassment.

He turned to the waiter. "We just wanted a bite," he said apologetically, "and I do not see the sort of sandwiches we wanted. Just bring us coffee for two, please." The waiter went to the rear and soon returned with the java. They merely sipped some of it and then called for the check. "Fifty cents," said the waiter.

"Yes, I know," answered the Salvationist, as he hid his tiny coin purse in his lap from the stares of the curious. He extracted two quarters—and a dime for the waiter. "Thanks very much," whitefooted the sympathetic plate-juggler, whose tips average plenty daily, "but we are not permitted to accept tips here."

It's little things like that that make big paragraphs like these.

Then add things that burn you up and knock you cold. One of the column's truer pals unfolded it. In the forenoon he passed a colored femme mendicant on Broadway near 44th street. She caned her way along the walk and her eyes were masked by dark spectacles. On her bosom she featured a placard reading: "Blind."

He tossed two-bits into her cup. "Bless you, bless you," she said. That sundown he patronized an 8th avenue butcher's with his wife, and recognized the woman's voice.

She was giving the butcher a call-down because the chicken she had just purchased still contained "pin" feathers!

In Carl Laemmle, Jr.'s excellent chin-ema version of "All Quiet on the Western Front," the grandest of the spellbinding thrillers, Raymond Griffith, one of the better Hollywoodmen, has a small part. He plays the role of the dying French soldier. A legend from the West Coast has it that Laemmle, Jr., sent for Griffith and said: "It would please me greatly if you would play an unimportant role in this film. I want you because I know you will play it right. How much would you want to do it?"

"Just $2,500 a week," said Griffith.

"Oh, we had no such price in mind, Raymond," said the stunned producer, "I couldn't pay that much for a small part."

"Then I'll do it for nothing," Griffith is supposed to have gallantly answered. And, according to the tale-tellers, Griffith worked sans fee.

Only to serve as target for the New York critics, some of them pointing out that "Raymond Griffith, who very recently was a great star, had slipped and is now playing minor roles in pictures."

When almost anyone'll tell you that the very fine movie's outstanding few moments are those supplied by the dying French soldier.

One of the better sillies swiftly making the rounds of the squares was started by Webster, the grand crayonist, who pinned it on his character, "The Timid Soul." In case you missed it: A chump without an umbrella or other covering is standing in a fierce downpour of rain. A friend paused in amazement:

"Why, you big fool!" he scolds, "you'll catch your death of cold standing in all this rain getting soaked to the skin!"

"I know," replies the yap, "I've been waiting here for four hours now, and if that guy don't show up in another ten minutes, he can go and borrow that hundred dollars from somebody else, by golly!"

Nifty—Locals, perhaps, are acquainted with the splendid likeness of George M. Cohan that neatly fills a door in the basement of the Times Bldg. The caption reads: "The Author of a Hundred Hits." A punster had typed and glued this flip crack (intended for his plagiarists) below the original title: "The Hit of a Hundred Authors!"

Speaking of "stylists," Miss Florabel Muir, of the Dailynews' Hollywood staff, reported: "My grapevine workers report Ronald Colman is That Way about Kay Francis and that when he gets back from dear Old London with all the divorce papers signed he and Kay might middle-aisle it."

"Dutch," the former East Side character who now is one of the Times Square crowd. He makes a living daily with this trick. He seeks a four-horse race mentioned in the rags and then goes to four racetrack followers who live in different parts of the town, giving each the name of a different nag. "You can slip something to me tomorrow if you place Soandso to win the fifth race today."

Thus, he makes a "killing" when there's a four-horse race.

"Dutch" was the late Arnold Rothstein's "bodyguard" for several years. Rothstein always feared a certain East Side gang and was under the impression that "Dutch" was a part of it. One day he met "Dutch" and the timid Rothstein curried favor with him. "I like you," said Rothstein, "will you be my bodyguard?"

"Dutch" agreed and for many years was on Rothstein's payroll, but never was called on to protect Rothstein.

One night "Dutch" and Rothstein were in Reuben's for a sandwich. An intoxicated man stumbled over the "bodyguard's" outstretched foot. It infuriated the drunk, who punched "Dutch" on the nose. "Dutch" cried like a baby, and held his smashed face.

"Well, I'll be damned!" ejaculated the amazed Rothstein, who was so sore at himself for being a sucker for "Dutch" all those years that he fired him on the spot, without even giving "Dutch" the customary two-minutes' notice.

MILLION DOLLAR HERO SINGS TO LADIES IN STANLEY

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH.

Charles Buddy Rogers is down in the Stanley. He's the rich young hero of "Safety in Numbers," the new screen attraction which opened yesterday. And as such he wears pajamas, sings songs and goes in for the romance.

Three months before he is to receive a $20,000,000 legacy, his uncle sends him off to New York to learn about life and such from three girls of the "Follies." Which certainly is something new in the line of uncles.

Mr. Rogers, of course, is a pretty good student. Right at the beginning he goes buying $2,000 bracelets.

IN THE BOUDOIR

The picture is a sort of jumpy affair. The song and the music come for no reason at all. There is even a rehearsal of a big-time stage revue right in the apartment of the three girls.

There are numerous scenes in the boudoir. And there is quite an exhibit of that stuff that is known as "intimate apparel" in the store ads.

The film is light and fluffy entertainment. The cast includes Carol Lombard, Kathryn Crawford and Josephine Dunn.

HARMONICA MUSIC

The lowly harmonica gets a lot of attention on the stage in a revue, "Smart Smarties," which is a bit reminiscent of Gus Edwards' "Schooldays." The schoolroom is there and so are all the "bad" little boys and girls, who have a rough and tumble time of it. The old scarecrow from the wheat field comes to life and dances into the schoolhouse. The "schoolmarm" kicks her ankles above her head. And Borrah Minevitch leads his harmonica "orchestra" and has the audience in an uproar. It is all a lot of fun.

Dick Powell, Overture-Making Broudy and Organist Armstrong make appearances.

Wounded by Thug, $10,000 for Capture

NEW YORK, May 23.—(INS.)—From his hospital bed, Albert J. Schwarler, New York builder, today offered $10,000 reward for the arrest of gunmen who shot him yesterday. His brother, August, previously offered $5,000.

The builder was ordered from his car in front of an apartment house he owned. When he refused, a gunman, who escaped, shot him. Business rivalry may have been the cause, police said.

It's a good bet that you can find the very room, house or apartment you are interested in, advertised in today's Classified Ads.

HARRISBURG, May 23.—(AP.)—Alfred E. Breem, second vice president of the Guaranty Trust and Safe Deposit Company of Shamokin, has been arrested on charges of embezzlement of $57,450, the State Banking Department announced last night.

James A. Taylor, deputy secretary of banking, said the Shamokin institution is fully protected by surety bonds and will not suffer from the shortage. Breem is free on $60,000 bail.

RUSS ADMITTED UNDER BOND

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP.)—Thirty-five Russians, representing four Soviet trade organizations, were allowed to enter the United States under bond after being detained for more than 24 hours at Ellis Island by immigration officials.

Bonds of $500 for each man were posted by the Amtorg Trading Corporation, business representative of the Soviet in America.

The party was detained under a new immigration ruling which requires individual examinations of Soviet citizens entering the United States. They will study industrial conditions here and place orders for machinery.

CHICKIE By ELENORE MEHERIN

Infant Dead When Chickie Gets to Physician

CHAPTER XCIII.

Chickie closed her eyes, the little cold face pressed against her own. The wind swept them—it went into her soul and laid it desolate.

There was no sun—no light—no pallid hill upreaching to the sky. Nothing but wind and death and this too-awful pain.

She [illegible] about the tiny form. She said imploringly: "It's not the same. Just the same." But praying thus her thought shook with fear.

She listened for its heart, fancied she heard a wavering pulse. She took a breath warming it and blew this in the baby's mouth. She could be sure then that its eyelids quivered.

But they did did they? Oh, answer that some one. And she put the chill face back against her own, went on and on, steadying herself against the trees, stumbling, getting up. Hurry—keep it warm—keep the breath there.

For she was afraid of the little shut eyes—afraid of the coldness that stole through her veins.

She wasn't going to Rutland now, nor to Jennie—not yet. She was going to the town—get on the train—take it to the doctor—oh, make him smile and say, "It's all right—weak, of course—"

A far distant whistle. That was the train coming. Its whistle shivered along her nerves, it drew her up rigid and sharp; it made a thundering in her mind. Suddenly she began to cry. Suddenly she said: "Oh, it's dead."

Holding it so close, she felt her feet sinking—a gentle sinking—going down and down, the trees wavering, slipping away, a darkness closing. No wind now and no chill, nor any thought at all.

Gets on Train

A moment's void, like an eternity. Then a warmth in her face, a chiding, triumphant whine. Wildie was at her side, licking her eyes.

She caught his neck. "Oh, dog—how did you come?" She pulled herself upward. She said: "Hurry, Wildie! Run!" And held to his neck—tumbling along like that.

The train whistled closer. Just around the turn. It was there—almost there.

The dog cast a puzzled, searching glance in her face, he sniffed at the bundle in her arms, but he trotted close at her side, letting her hand pull roughly at his scruff. Oh—she blessed him—thanks for the dog—

Now the engine's great black nose swept into view. She raised her purse, flagged the train. Some one lifted her on—some one helped her to a seat, saying kindly: "Sick ma'am? Baby sick?"

She nodded. She raised the blanket gently, shielding the tiny, moveless face.

On the train now, rushing. But Jennie, too, would be gone. Chickie thought with a broken despair. She won't live, either—I can't get there now—" She fancied Jonathan, his head bowed in his arms— But she didn't cry. She only ran her fingers along the baby's neck.

A faint moisture trickled from its lips. It brought a courage to her thoughts. Oh—she was a wild thing to suppose it dead—only sleeping—a stupor perhaps, but alive.

Infant Is Dead

So she brought it to the doctor.

Seeing her, a sharp admonition sprang to his lips. "Out! What do you mean, Mrs. Clayton?"

"The baby—look—" She opened the blanket.

He glanced at the child soberly, took it and laid it on the table. He asked simply: "When did it die?"

"No—d-e-d! No—it's not dead?"

"Yes."

She clenched the table, turning her head away, biting her lips. Then she asked faintly: "Are you sure? I thought it moved."

"It didn't move."

But she went up to it then, touched its lips, stooping down, laid her face against it. And cried and couldn't stop the tears.

But the doctor said: "It's better so, Mrs. Clayton. It had no strength—none at all."

"The cold didn't kill it. I didn't expect it to last this long. But the cold can hurt you. Why did you come? Why didn't you send for me? This is bad."

She said that she had started for the city, but on the way the baby got so chilled it frightened her—

"But this is madness, Mrs. Clayton. You take your life in your hands."

She went back to the dead baby, stared at it, fingered the red-gold curls. "Can it wait till I come back?"

Nurse and Doctor Kind

"Why, Mrs. Clayton? You can't do anything for the baby now."

She went up to the doctor and clenched his arm. She said: "I have to go. You—it know, doctor. I'm the only one they have. It will break my father's heart. Oh—can't you do something—can't you take care of the baby here for me? Keep it or something—"

Robert Emerson was a big man, with a large, intelligent face and fine, sharp eyes. He said quietly: "It could be buried here. Yes—you could do that. Do you want that, Mrs. Clayton? Of course, we could attend to that—an infant's burial is simple—"

She began to cry. Leave it—poor little thing—such a cold, lonely way to do. She wanted it laid away kindly. It should have flowers and a little white robe. And someone should go with it—she wanted to know where it would rest.

Well—a nurse could handle it.

She wanted it named—Merle Clayton—and a stone or a little granite cross. And she would return soon—oh, the moment that she could—

The nurse came in. She held Chickie's hand and said she'd dress it herself—she'd get a wreath of little pink roses or lilies of the valley. Chickie cried.

She said faintly: "Oh, everything as pretty as you can—"

Chickie Goes Away

The doctor clasped her hand. "I hope you won't suffer from this, Mrs. Clayton. I warn you against it."

She looked into his kind face. She said: "If your mother was dying—"

"Yes—I know—my mother died in such a way. I trust yours will live."

Chickie opened the purse where all her money was—her own—that she had earned and not the envelope with the bills Barry Dunne had sent.

She said: "I want it nice. How much will it take?"

"A hundred dollars. I should think about that."

"But for the stone, too. Oh, I want that! I want to come up here and look at it."

So she left them $150. That was a great deal for her. There remained $300 of all she had saved in her four and a half years of working.

But she gave to it far more than money—gave it the blithe, singing heart, the high joy that had been hers.

She was free now—free again. She could go to them. She stood a moment and her fingers loitered on the silken hair; her tears fell on the weazened, quiet little face. It seemed a pretty thing to her — a perfect little thing. She kissed it. She went away.

When Ma and Pa Were Young 'Twas Different, Says Fay King

By FAY KING.

MOST of the trouble at home between children and parents is due to small differences.

Every kid in the world would stick with parents in sickness and trouble. Parents would risk any danger to save their children in fire, famine or flood.

But over some little thing like spending money, or staying out late, bitter quarrels begin and often grow so great with nagging and stubborness that children run away, or commit worse folly in defiance.

Times change. Even 10 years makes a difference in everything. When Ma and Pa were young a dollar was a lot of money. Shows and restaurants meals were cheap. The town closed up at 10:30 o'clock.

But they were modern and popular in the way of their day!

Love's Reawakening

Madgie's Appeal to Mother Graham's Sense of Humor Smooths a Tense Situation

As I saw my mother-in-law's angry and horrified face and realized that I had been unable to choke back a chuckle at one especially ludicrous part of her tirade, I sat in a silence which only the world petrified could describe adequately.

If I have a fetish it is that of respect for elderly people. Sometimes in our life together I have been forced to stand up for myself against my mother-in-law whose temper is as uncertain as her heart is gold underneath her crustiness. But I have always prided myself upon being respectful to her even in those clashes, more frequent in the first years of my marriage than later. And never, never, in all our years together have I been so discourteous as to let her see me laughing at her, though she often is supremely mirth-provoking.

She put her hand to her throat as if she were choking, and indeed her anger was making it impossible for her to speak. I would have apologized only that I knew from experience it would only inflame her. So I sat silent, abashed, quaking—not from any particular awe of her, but from the fear that the passion into which she was driving herself would injure her seriously while she struggled for breath to voice her anger.

"So!" she began at last. "I have come to this, have I—that my son's wife whom I have loved as a daughter, can sit and laugh in my face? Margaret! Margaret!" to my surprise and horror the anger died suddenly from her voice and anguish sounded in it instead. "I—I never thought I'd hear that from you, never from you."

I sprang from my seat to her side, putting down the hands which she lifted to push me away and taking her into a close and firm embrace from which she struggled to escape, but in which I held her fast.

"I never want to see your face again," she wailed, half sobbing.

"Listen to me, mother!" I spoke firmly, almost sternly, as to a hysterical child. "You are a just woman, and you know that never have I given you a disrespectful word since I married Dicky. You have a sense of humor. Do you remember what you said just before I chuckled?"

I gave her no chance to answer but hurried on.

"You said something about not getting ever a pat on the head that a stray dog would receive. When you said it I had a sudden mental picture of you permitting a pat on the head from anybody, and honestly I think I would have laughed if I had known that the electric chair would be the penalty. It wasn't at you I laughed but at the picture your words called up. Can't you see that?"

She was listening and she had ceased to struggle against my embrace, although she was standing stiff and unyielding in my arms. I changed my tone to a coaxing one.

"Don't you know me well enough, Mother," I asked, "to realize that I wouldn't hurt you for the world? Remember my own little mother left me before I married, and you have been all the mother I have known."

"God knows I have tried to be a good mother to you, Margaret," she cried out suddenly with a breaking voice, and as she spoke the stiffness went out of her body and she slumped against me not in the paroxysm of hysterical sobbing which I had feared, but with a pitiful whimpering like that of a sorrowing child.

But I knew now what remedy to use. I have not conjugated her moods and tenses for years without being aware of the psychological moment to introduce a diversion. Tenderly I drew her close to me, and kissed her warmly. Then I spoke in the most matter-of-fact tones possible.

"Do you know, Mother, I have been so busy today that I haven't thought of the thing that I've been wanting to ask you ever since I came home. I've thought of it a dozen times, and then something would pop up and put it out of my mind. Are you going to make mincemeat for Christmas, or have we enough left over from Thanksgiving?"

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND.

What Is "Humanism"?

Every now and then somebody springs a brand new cult, a brand new philosophy, or a brand new WORD on us.

The newest and most popular word of the moment is "HUMANISM." And you are going to hear a lot about it for the next few years.

It comes as manna from heaven, just as we were expiring of boredom from the long overworked words "Psychoanalysis," "Self-expression," "Sax" and "Modernism."

"Humanism" doesn't mean what you probably think it does. It doesn't mean what Dad means, or what Husband means, when he says, "I'M only human!" just after he has done something particularly inhuman or unhuman, or sub-human. Oh, quite the contrary!

It doesn't mean be kind to animals, or love your neighbor, or pity the poor—humanitarianist. That's only part of it.

* * *

As far as I can make out from the mass of muddled misinformation on the subject, it means the Divinity of Man. It means that being a Human Being is the rarest privilege and the greatest responsibility in the Universe.

It means that in every Human Being there is a drop of divinity, which endows him with infinite, limitless possibilities, and at the same time places upon him the responsibility for living UP to and fulfilling those possibilities.

Which is some Large Order! "Noblesse oblige" is the spirit of its teachings, meaning that nobility obliges you—and you and you—to develop all the higher and finer things within you to their ultimate degree.

And WHAT a joyful relief that is, after all this chatter about "being yourself," which thus far has meant being your lowest self and as much of a savage and an egoist as you dared to be.

It looks as though "Humanism," if it works, might deliver us from jazz and from free love and from modernistic furniture and jungle dances and vulgarity and money grabbing—and even from rumble-seat petting and futuristic "art." For, its ideal is the worship of the beautiful, the spiritual, the lovely and the inspiring!

It is the Great REVOLT against the savagery and materialism of the last decade—and perhaps it will bring us back to sanity! Maybe it will make gentlemen of road hogs, thinkers and scholars of speed maniacs, music lovers of jazz hounds, and human beings of money grabbers! You never can tell.

Yet, after all, "Humanism" is just a new name for something that is as old as civilization. Marcus Aurelius preached and wrote it. Emerson wrote and taught it. And the poet sang it, when he said, "Build thee more stately mansions, oh my soul!"

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Water—Inside and Out

DR COPELAND

Too few people realize the importance of drinking plenty of water. This is very much a matter of habit, and it is an exceedingly good habit to acquire. It is so simple that we forget it and overlook it.

Probably the most common trouble of mankind today is constipation. The intestines need flushing out with water taken as a daily beverage and they cannot work properly without it.

Water is the most important substance of the body. The weight of the body is made up of seven-tenths water. That is, if you weigh 100 pounds, 70 pounds of that weight is water.

Water is the basis of every fluid in the body, as well as being a part of all the tissues. Water in the form of perspiration is being given off from the body at all times. In the blood and gastric juices it acts still further to supply body needs.

You can see for yourself that we need a great intake of water every day. If you don't consume enough, something unpleasant is bound to happen.

An adult needs to drink as much as six glassfuls of water every day, and a child a little less. Some of it, of course, is taken in other drinks of various kinds and in foods, but an adequate supply cannot be gotten in this manner. You just have to drink a certain amount of clear water every single day if you want to keep in good health.

Summertime is a time when the most of us are nomads—that is, we are on the "go" somewhere or other much of the time. People are vacationing everywhere. There is lots of mischief done by drinking impure water during summer days. On a hot day thirst overcomes us in the most unexpected places. The boy or girl on a hike through the country, or in woody places, drinks at the first drinking place, not questioning whether the water is pure or not.

Every autumn at the end of the vacation season single cases or epidemics of typhoid fever appear in various places. Invariably these originated in some rural places where careless persons drank of contaminated water.

You cannot trust to the appearance of water in strange places, even though it appears to be crystal clear. It may contain deadly germs from unknown sources. Don't drink at the first spring you come across. Be sure the water is pure and free from contamination. Children should be taught this and have drilled into them the dangers of drinking from unknown waters.

If you want your child to have sparkling eyes, rosy cheeks and radiant health, teach him to form the habit of drinking water freely every day. He cannot form this habit too young. Fresh air, water, good food, exercise are needful adjuncts to good health.

The extent to which you drink water and eat fruits and vegetables will have its direct bearing on that important daily elimination of bodily wastes without which health cannot be maintained. It is so important that you drink plenty of water, and it is so simple that there is really no excuse for not making it a fixed habit and living up to it to the full extent of your power.

Make it a point to have good health. You owe it to yourself and to those around you. You cannot have good health without obeying the laws of health.

Household Hints

Ointment of zinc oxide is useful to have around the house. Applied to light scars, it will do away with them. Rubbed onto the rosey nose, it acts as a mild bleaching agent. It heals facial eruptions. Pushed under the finger nail eaves, it removes stains. Very versatile in its beauty services.

And when the pie was cooked out boiled the juice. Too often that is the sad experience of the pastry maker. It would be so much pleasanter to say, "And when the pie was cut it was succulently juicy." After scalloping the edges of the crust together, take a strip of old, clean white muslin from the kitchen drawer, dampen and press it around the rim of crust. When the pie is baked the cloth is easily pulled away and magically the juice is just where it should be.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

The sun's rays are invigorating to the physical system, but they raise the dickens with the texture and delicacy of the complexion. Let us hope that the sun-tanners will take their sunnings slowly, oiling the skin carefully after exposure to the burning beams. Repeated tanning thickens the skin.

Warm water is a solvent of grease and atmospheric dust, and that is why it is necessary for the cleanliness of the skin surface. It cleans the teeth better than cold water does. Cold water is tonic and should be used after the bath and the facial tubbing. It is an excellent astringent. It should be poured over the body and into it. There is nothing like the water cure for puffs under the eyes, or to clear a muddy skin.

Properly fitted shoes don't have to be "broken in." When shoes cause pain it is because the shoes are too full of feet. One size wider or longer, or a different last, will provide comfort. Tight shoes cause headaches. Anyhow, chiropodists say so.

Mothers who would have small daughters develop a normal body framework must give the youngsters plenty of sunshine and fresh air. If possible, the air should be free of atmospheric impurities; therefore life in the country is likely to be better for a child than city existence, much, of course, depending upon proper feeding and general hygienic attentions.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The Height of Rudeness

DEAR MRS. BEECKMANN:

What would you think, say, or do when someone who comes into your home often asks the prices of clothing, furniture, in fact, everything new or old, and looks particularly at price tag if still attached? And positively no end to questions of one's personal affairs.

KATHRYN.

Oh dear, oh dear, why will people be so rude and so mindful of things that are none of their business? The only thing that we can do is to hold as fast to our manners as we can, and still do something to indicate that there are some things that we wish to have our business only. Perhaps the best way is to adopt a light manner, but gracious always, of course, and meet the questions as if we didn't take it particularly seriously. For instance say, "Ah, that's my secret!" or "Really, I'd be ashamed to tell you," or "You wouldn't believe it if I should tell you really you wouldn't." After a few tossings off like this, I am sure that the rude questions will cease.

Who Writes First?

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

If a young man asks a lady to write to him while she is away, and she consents, who should write first. D. L.

He writes first, if he has her address, since it is reasonable that he should first take advantage of the prerogative for which he has asked. But, in the event that he has not her address, naturally she should write first.

If One Has Not Met the Bride

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it correct to give a wedding gift to a bride if you do not know her? I am going about with a young man and his brother is to be married in the near future. I know this young man well, but have never met his bride-to-be. E. J. C.

Yes, this is in good form. That is, if you really wish to send a present because of your friendship for the fiance, it is correct to send it, but it must be sent to the bride-to-be, addressed to her at her home.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, May 24

The planetary outlook for this day may not be read as a propitious one, although it holds testimony of stirring and far-reaching events. There may be sudden change of plans and prospects attended by either travel or change of environment. There may be many stubborn obstacles to overcome, with delays and anxieties, as well as the menace of fraud and duplicity. To gain much success will call for excellent judgment and sagacity in handling affairs.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of change of plans and prospects, with probable change of environment or journeys. Delays and obstacles, as well as menaces of fraud or treachery, call for sagacity and wise discrimination in the handling of affairs and also personalities.

A child born on this day may be restless, changeable and may lean toward adventure, but it should be given early training in stamina, resolution and the courage to combat many obstacles to its ambitions. It should be given an optimistic outlook on life.

The Talking Picture Story of

"CAUGHT SHORT"

Starring

MARIE DRESSLER
POLLY MORAN

Based on

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Caught Short," Written by Willard Mack.

A Cosmopolitan Production.

William Smith spent a lot more time in the boarding house of Marie Jones than he did in the boarding house of his mother, Polly Smith. And he didn't have anything to do with it.

"I can live without your mother's prunes," whispered William Smith to Jenny Jones one night after a dance, "but I can't live without your mother's daughter."

"After we're married I promise never to serve croquettes," says Jenny.

William and Jenny forget that their mothers battle together so much while they sit in the front parlor of the boarding house and tell each other how nice they are.

"Promise me you won't listen to Rudy Vallee on the radio any more," says William to Jenny.

"I won't listen to any one except Professor Einstein when he talks from Berlin," Jenny promises.

Jenny makes her mother to tell her that she is going to marry William. Her mother says:

"Heaven help you—I can't!"

"Don't you like Billy?" Jenny asks.

"It isn't that. But what are you planning to use for money?" her mother inquires.

Next morning Jenny thought the vacuum cleaner needed oiling. But when she went into the room where her mother was working she found there was nothing the matter with the vacuum cleaner. It was her mother moaning low over the prospect of having William Smith for a son-in-law.

"You'll never know where your next meal is coming from," Mrs. Jones sniffed.

"That'll be better than knowing it's coming from last Sunday's chicken," replied Jenny brightly.

Readers Express Strong Views on 'Robber Tariff'

By B. C. FORBES

RECENT columns dwelling on the bright side rather than the dark side have drawn letters from unemployed and others who declare that conditions in their territories are far from satisfactory. And the territories range all the way from Seattle to Detroit, in the North, and from the Southwest to the Atlantic seaboard.

Unemployment is described as very serious, a view which one can't blame an out-of-work breadwinner for having.

The tariff comes in for very sweeping condemnation.

H. M. Wonn, who describes himself as a "Kansas clodhopper," in the course of a very long epistle, says:

"You very often quote the opinions of bankers and business men, but seldom the farmer, so I am going to give you his opinion for a change.

"I have been a wheat raiser for years. We have been promised relief for 20 years. Finally, the McNary-Haugen bill was drafted, which the farmers approved, and it passed both branches of Congress, but Coolidge said 'No.' All we asked was a little indirect tariff, the same as we had been paying to our INFANT industries for years on every piece of machinery we used.

"In the last election farm relief was the biggest issue, and Hoover promised a special session. The Farm Board was formed. Did they buy 10 bushels over our exportable surplus and make our tariff of around 40 cents effective? No; they were in the market one day and out in the next—just as the foreign buyers did so effectively right after the war. Oh, boy, haven't they given us a good skinning!

"The funny part of it is when wheat was selling around $1.25 a bushel, certain breads were selling for 9 cents a loaf. With wheat at 82 cents, they are still selling at 9 cents.

"I am a clodhopper; but would love to have the chance to tell them a thing or two."

M. T. McShane, Lincoln, Nebraska, after dwelling upon the extent of unemployment in various cities, states:

"There are thousands of men unemployed, willing workers, now stationed in the wheat belt of the Middle and Southwestern states, waiting for the reaper to begin its annual work.

"I think the best thing that could happen to relieve the unemployment situation would be for Mr. Hoover to veto the 'robber' tariff bill, if it is presented to him in its present form.

"Agriculture has been in the 'dumps' for a considerable period, and the rest of the country is just beginning to feel the effects of the farmers' condition.

"We are about to lose one of the best customers we have, Canada, on account of the high tariff rates, something like $200,000,000 a year in Canadian business will soon be diverted to Great Britain. We must do business with other nations, and we cannot maintain their friendly business relationship by sticking up a tariff wall that not only prevents them from doing business with us, but in the long run will act as a deterrent to our own interests. I say this to let you know how some of us Middle Westerners feel. I am a Republican, not a free trader, but certainly there must be a happy medium somewhere."

ALFRED H. BENJAMIN, New York business man, writes, in part:

"I want to congratulate you on your column 'sounding the gong' regarding the tariff. If this tariff bill goes through, it will destroy our trade and hurt us a great deal. We cannot afford to offend 32 nations who have protested, all of whom we do business with, our best customers being Canada, Australia and Latin America."

H. P. GRAHAME, San Francisco, wants these questions answered:

"Outside of the new planet, where can the U. S. A. expand her foreign trade, with Europe determined to reduce her purchases and the U. S. A. obliged to receive European goods in payment of interest on war debts and private investments amounting to about $15,000,000,000 of capital, and the interest on private investments in Canada, South America, Russia, etc., amounting to about 10 billion capital?

"Unless hours of labor are reduced without reduction of wages, how are you going to absorb the millions now unemployed, and the coming more millions through still greater machine efficiency and mergers of corporations?

"And how can the American farmer hope to compete, when his produce is sold PLUS the large profit of middlemen, railroads, etc., with Soviet Russia, whose products are sold without these burdens?"

IT IS WELL for us to listen once in a while to what the other fellow has to say. Plenty is being said these days, as these sample letters reveal.

New York Discount Rate Is Unchanged

NEW YORK, May 23. — The New York Federal Reserve Bank made no announcement as to any change in its rediscount rate from 3 per cent. The 3 per cent rate has been in effect since May 1.

STOCK COURSE TO HINGE ON BUSINESS

Prospects for Profits to Determine Future Trend Of Market; New Era Seen

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Irrespective of the transient exchanges of stock among professional traders, it becomes increasingly apparent that the real future course of the stock market depends on the prospects for business profits.

Just as during the boom period, superfical observers were insisting that good times would last forever and that the business cycle had been adjourned, now the pessimists are alleging that the current recession is more than a short term downward corrective swing—the beginning of a prolonged, deferred post-war readjustment which will last through the years. This viewpoint is likely to be equally fallacious. Since business touched a new peak last summer, business receded rapidly until December, and since that time changes have been largely seasonal in character, with seasonal factors promoting business activity and employment after the winter period.

PAYING FOR EXCESSES

Of course, as George E. Roberts, economist of the National City Bank, indicated in a recent address, the country has been paying for its previous economic excesses. Unquestionably, before the slump there was a tendency to overexploit and overstimulate prosperity. High pressured selling not only absorbed the full purchasing power of consumers, but extension of the instalment plan discounted future purchasing power.

In judging what lies ahead, it is essential to decide whether the zeal and energy of merchandisers will be relaxed. For one, I do not think that vendors will allow business to settle down to a dull routine, but will resume the use of all the arts and wiles of psychology to turn the vague desires of the public into purchases of merchandise and services.

The great problem of business in the aggregate is to discover new stimulants to business. In the decade which closed last year, the restless urge to move from crowded cities into the suburbs, the increasing demand for automobiles, and for newer products such as radios, electrical refrigerating machines, and even airplanes, augmented the stream of purchasing power. Unquestionably, inventors are today experimenting with test tubes in industrial laboratories out of which will come new products which will woo dollars from the public. Then as business gets its impulse for revival, the effects will become cumulative, the one trade will interact favorably upon another, multiplying the forces making for prosperity, which will serve to redeem the idle time of unemployed laborers.

TO EMPHASIZE SELLING

Irrespective of whether the primary impulse for revival comes from a pent up demand for automobiles, or for a resumption of the building of individual homes resulting from a radically improved financing plan, or from a new industry or from improved export demand, it seems plain that great emphasis will be placed in the next decade on the art of selling and on the psychology of advertising. The reason for this shift of emphasis is that the improved technology of production has brought the potential output of goods beyond the immediate consumable demand.

The balancing of consumption against production will not only mean the further elevation of master salesmen to the presidency of great corporations, but will also doubtless signify that the business of instalment selling is still in its infancy. Well-managed instalment companies help to create a new equilibrium in business by multiplying the immediately available purchasing power. The trend will be in the direction of stimulating sales by making the articles which heretofore were bought only by the more affluent classes available to the masses.

Business necessity accordingly will help toward the democratization of the use of the good things of life. It will become the essence of good business for enterprises to back President Hoover's ultimate aim to abolish poverty in the United States.

Chicago Scrap Down.

CHICAGO, May 23.—Heavy melting scrap steel is quoted $12.25 to $12.75, off 25 cents from previous quotations. Other scrap iron and steel prices are off 25 to 50 cents a ton, making a decline of 50 cents to $1 a ton within a week.

Canning Industry Outlook More Favorable

The season is not yet advanced enough to show definitely what sort of year the two important can manufacturers, American Can Company and Continental Can Company, will have, but a survey of government data on vegetable plantings for canning this year indicates early prospects are more favorable than this time a year ago.

Reports to the government from a representative number of packers indicate a 10½ per cent increase in acreage to be planted for peas, 11.6 per cent increase in corn and a 24 per cent increase in tomatoes. These three crops have a marked influence on earnings of can makers.

STOCKS SHAKE OFF APATHY AND RISE

Advance Resumed With Quiet Determination as Bears Dash to Cover

NEW YORK, May 23 (AP).—Speculation for the first was resulted with quiet determination in today's stock market and the bear element folded its tents and left the field. The market shook off its recent apathy, but moved forward with conservative restraint.

Resting on a little advance appeared to be based primarily upon the group movements. A speculative quality in the market had reached a professional position as the resistance fled. Its efforts to depress prices yesterday seemed to indicate. Gains of 2 points or more in leading utilities and industrials were common.

SEE DEPRESSION END

The day's business news was scarcely of a character to inspire any violent bidding up of prices but the feeling is growing in Wall Street that the current depression will have run its course by late summer. Furthermore announcement that $82,500,000 in reparations bonds will soon be offered here was regarded as a clue to the improved tone of the stock market.

The weekly Federal Reserve condition statement showed that the system was again supporting the bankers acceptance market. The brokerage loan tabulation disclosed a net increase of $8,000,000, but a further contraction of loans for others.

SCRAP PRICE CUT

Steel scrap prices were again cut 25 cents a ton at Chicago, making reduction of 50 cents to $1 for various sorts of scrap this week. The annualist weekly wholesale price index showed a decline of about one-third of 1 per cent from the previous week. Railway operating income reports for April continue to show some improvement over March.

The market rose almost briskly during the morning and while it turned rather quiet during the early afternoon it displayed sustained strength, failing to encounter renewed selling as it has on recent advances. J. I. Case, a recent bear target, shot up more than 12 points, and American Telephone selling ex-rights, Westinghouse Electric and the American Tobacco shares gained 4 or 5 points, or more.

Such issues as U. S. Steel, General Electric, Radio, Eastman Kodak, Allied Chemical, Johns Manville and Best & Co. gained 3 or more.

Sperry Flour Co. Advances Price 20c

SAN FRANCISCO, May 23.—Sperry Flour Company announces it is advancing the price of Gold Medal and Drifted Snow brands of flour 20 cents a barrel effective today.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, May 23.—Wheat prices underwent an early setback today influenced by the fact that predictions of widespread frost failed to be fulfilled. Evidence that exporters of North American wheat were not following advances counted also as a bearish factor. Opening at ½c decline to ½c gain, wheat afterward showed downturns all around. Corn and oats were likewise easier with corn starting ½c off to ½c up and subsequently suffering a general decline. Provisions tended to advance.

Lower prices here today for wheat were reached notwithstanding a rise in Liverpool quotations and despite bullish European crop advices especially about adverse field conditions in France. Reports about domestic winter wheat were also by no means reassuring dispatches from Nebraska in particular telling of thin spindly plants with short heads between Crete, Neb., and Hastings as well as onward to Superior, Neb.

Canadian crop prospects were authoritatively reported today as favorable for vigorous germination except in a limited section of Northern Alberta. If moisture continues sufficient and temperatures not too high, wheat development, the reports said, could be normal. Conditions in June and July, however, promise to be even more of a detriment than usual in regard to the final outturn.

INK-NEWPORT IN MERGER

NEW YORK, May 23.—The International Printing Ink Corporation has submitted to its stockholders a plan for merging with the chemical and dyestuffs division of the Newport Company. The merger will make available for the International Printing Ink Corporation the research and laboratory experience of the Newport Company.

A new company, Consolidated Chemical Corporation, will hold stock of three subsidiaries, the International Printing Ink Corporation, Newport Chemical Corporation, which will be formed to acquire the chemical and dyestuffs division of the Newport company, and the Ault and Wiborg Varnish Works, Inc., which will be segregated from the International Printing Ink Corporation.

Through elimination of duplicate facilities it is estimated that a minimum savings of $500,000 a year will be obtained.

Negotiations are on for acquisition of the California Ink Company and it is likely International Printing Ink directors will shortly take action on that proposal.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, May 23.—Prices firmed considerably on the curb market today. Unable to make much impression on the list by their recent selling operations traders tried their hand at the other side and had fair success with numerous representative issues. Gains were moderate and the market was inclined to be dull.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange giving all stocks and bonds traded in (00 omitted in sales column of stock list, 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

NAT'L SUPPLY'S SALES TURN UPWARD

Business This Month and Last Ahead of Previous Year; Pipe Orders Larger

NEW YORK, May 23

Although showing of National Supply Company in the first quarter this year was the poorest in recent years, company's business has lately shown a turn for the better. Gross sales in April were well ahead of April 1929 and business in May has continued to show improvement when contrasted with May 1929.

The company has recently been sharing in large pipe line orders for which valves and other fittings will be manufactured at National Supply Company's Dayton plant. In addition National will supply eight large gas fired boilers to be used in the new Toledo sewage disposal plant.

DRILLING CURTAILED

Company's business consists of the manufacture and sale of supplies for all branches of the oil industry. It has sales contracts with large manufacturers of gas and steam engines, and maintains over 100 stores and warehouses at points in important oil fields.

National's poor showing in the first quarter this year reflected curtailed drilling in California due to conservation measures. Notices to drill filed with the State Oil and Gas Supervisor in California during the first three months this year approximated 195, as compared with nearly 408 in the same period of 1929. Company's operations in midcontinent oil fields during the first quarter were about on a parity with the results obtained in the first quarter in 1929.

QUARTER'S NET OFF

For the first three months this year net income after all charges was $174,830, equivalent to 40 cents a share on 300,000 shares (par $50) common stock. This compares with $965,545 or $2.80 a share in the first quarter and $928,213 or $2.90 a share in the fourth quarter of 1929. In the first quarter of 1928 net income was $196,808 or 27 cents a share on 265,900 shares then outstanding.

LIBBY CAPITAL CHANGE O. K.'D

CHICAGO, May 23 — Stockholders gave approval at a meeting in Portland, Me., to a plan for revision of the capital structure of Libby, McNeil and Libby, according to word received here.

The proposed plan, submitted April 19, seeks to pave the way for expansion and payment of dividends on common stock where conditions justify.

Present capital stock of the company is $25,000,000 of preferred 7 per cent stock and $6,750,000 of common stock. Only $18,000,000 of the preferred stock had been issued at the time the proposal of revision was made. Dividends on preferred stock were three years in arrears.

The proposed change calls for reducing the authorized preferred stock to $18,000,000 and issuance of $11,780,000 of 6 per cent preferred stock, of which $8,000,000 would be exchanged for a like amount of first preferred, and the other $3,780,000 issued to stockholders in payment of accrued dividends as yet unpaid. The common stock would be increased by $15,000,000, of which $1,500,000 would be reserved for sales to employes and customers.

GERMAN LOAN ALLOTMENTS

PARIS, May 23.—Bank officials and treasury representatives of nine countries decided today on the designation of the $300,000,000 German reparations loan which will be floated under the auspices of the bank for international settlements, but did not settle the issue price of the bonds.

The loan will be known officially as "the German international five and one-half per cent loan of 1930." Another meeting tomorrow will discuss the issue price.

The United States and France will each absorb $82,500,000 of the loan. Great Britian will absorb $50,000,000. Holland and Sweden each $25,000,000, Switzerland $15,000,000, Germany $10,000,000, and Belgium and Italy each $5,000,000. Thus Germany will receive $100,000,000 from the issue for industrial development but will make an outlay of only one-tenth of that amount.

Will Decide Fate Of Northern Plans

CHICAGO, May 23.—Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific, states that at a meeting of the deposit committee in New York early next week it will probably be decided whether the Northern Pacific-Great Northern merger proceedings will be continued or abandoned. He said that adoption of the Couzens resolution by the Senate, which seeks to defer rail consolidations until next March, will not diminish the difficulties of the situation.

Five Notables Will Judge Letters That Pour in For Davies Contest

HOLLYWOOD, May 23.—Here are the five judges, each distinguished in some field of artistic endeavor, who were selected to award the prizes in the Marion Davies style contest.

They are:

Helen Koues, fashion editor of Good Housekeeping.

Eleanore Meherin, noted authoress.

Louella O. Parsons, motion picture editor of Universal Service.

Amos Parrish, fashion expert.

Henry Clive, world-famous artist.

Theirs will be the duty to read the thousands of letters which are being received at the New Pantages Theater, Hollywood, where Miss Davies' latest picture, "The Florodora Girl," opens June 4.

From those thousands of letters they will select two—one written by a woman, the other written by a man—and to the author of each of those letters a prize of $500 will be awarded.

ARRIVE IN GREAT VOLUME

Letters were received yesterday from practically every state in the Union, exceeding the combined total of the three previous days.

Some of them follow:

As I am writing from experience, I do hope that the styles of the nineties will never come back to stay. They are uncomfortable and I hope that our sweet and pretty girls of today need not be touched by that style.

Oh, it gives me a pain, just the thought of those hot summer days. How unhappy we girls were in those long sleeves, high necks, long skirts and stockings an inch thick. Give me the style of the last 10 years, for it gives you the joy to live, and the comfort of bobbed hair is worth so much to us.

ELNORA LOERCHER,
301 E. Glenar, Pasadena, Cal.

DECLARES CRASH FORCED

Our recent wearing apparel crash was forced upon us by modistes who either must furnish something new or, moderately speaking, watch their enterprise sink into plain and unadorned oblivion.

The change was cleverly and unhurriedly brought about, but before we had really considered it seriously it has seized us, turning our wardrobes topsy-turvy.

After last summer's revolting season of unenchanting semi-nudity, is it so astounding that girls should adore these lacy, fluffy, feminine frocks and the new and lovely lines featured in sport and street wear?

Girls have not lost their femininity nor that mysterious quality which men have deemed essential down through the decades. They are now only recapturing their beauty, which very nearly became eclipsed by their recent advancement of freedom. In this era of progress should we even go so much as think of returning to the added uncomfortable modes of the Florodora girl? And let us pray that the unattractive display of 1929 never descend upon us again.

With best wishes for every possible success for your picture and the present styles.

ELEANOR RIEDHOOS,
6742 Franklin place, Hollywood.

CONDEMNS EXTREME STYLES

With nothing new under the sun, present unsettled style conditions are causing undue consternation.

Life is change, hence the natural order of everything.

The hey-dey of extremely short skirts fortunately is past, as they were an extreme. Reasonably short skirts will always be in demand by the business and athletic woman as they realize the hinderance of cumbersome long skirts.

Styles of the 'gay nineties'—were very flattering, and if tempered with common-sense can be effective and beautiful after the novelty of their introduction have become normalized.

This style has a tendency to feminize and will do much toward placing women back on her pedestal.

Long or short hair will be the individual's problem, and with the established permanency of the beauty parlor can be dressed becomingly in either style.

Clothes monotony will be unknown during this era, each type finding its rightful niche.

FLO CLARENS,
7914 Norton Avenue, Hollywood.

COULDN'T PLAY TENNIS

What would a girl of 20 years ago say if a boy asked her to play a game of tennis? She would have considered herself insulted. If she had played, how would she have looked on a tennis court? Skirts dragging the ground, chasing a ball or jumping for a high ball. It would have killed her, and if anyone should have seen her she would have been disgraced for life. DOROTHY WARD, Agoura, Cal.

STYLES "ALMOST PERFECT"

The styles of the nineties were beautiful on some people. But today the styles are just what women have wanted for years. I think the styles of today are almost perfect and need no change.

MRS. EMMA ELLIOTT,
134 South Chicago street, Los Angeles.

STUDENT SAVES TIME

I am 16 years old and a student at Monrovia High School. I wonder what we would do if the old-fashioned dresses returned. When one has only about 20 minutes in the morning in which to dress, it would not be so easy to lace up high-top shoes and also lace up a corset.

I prefer long hair because it looks silly to have a formal dress on when you have a boyish bob.

LILLIAN McCREA,
594 Third avenue, Arcadia, Cal.

FEARS FOR ROMANCE

Kill romance and civilization dies. I cannot see romance in a pair of long or short legs, long or short hair. Or where there is nothing much concealed. Can a girl cast her eyes down and hide confusion behind her long, curled lashes if she is conscious that she isn't modest?

Give me the long dress, the long hair, woman's "crown of glory," the respect our fathers had for women. What use to live if woman if not looked up to? Can a man respect indecency?

Where are the dreams the child must have of romance if you dress the fairy queen up in abbreviated costumes? What child can visualize the Sleeping Beauty in a short frock?

If the athletic girl had never left off her dress—or she had been shamed away from the breeches on the streets, in the cars, on the golf links—and the near-to-nothing bathing costume (which is an abomination before God)—perhaps she would not care so much about athletics.

MRS. J. A. HENDERSON,
201 Yarmouth street, Dallas, Tex.

Sons, Grandchildren Share in Estate

Two sons and two grandchildren share in the $12,000 estate left by Mrs. Mary C. Nicklas, late of Mt. Lebanon, according to her will, filed for probate today.

Do You Favor Old Styles?

Do you remember the famous Florodora Sextete?

Are you familiar with the styles of the gay nineties?

Do you prefer those styles to the fashions for women to today?

Do you think those styles are coming back?

Put your ideas in a letter and send it to Miss Marion Davies at the New Pantages Theater, Hollywood.

$1,000 in prizes will be awarded for the best letters.

$500 will be paid for the best letter from a woman.

$500 will be paid for the best letter from a man.

The contest closes at 12 o'clock midnight, Saturday, June 14.

Widow Left Life Interest in Estate

The will of Lewis Hoberg, late of Shaler Township, filed in the office of the register of wills, leaves an estate of $25,000 in trust for his widow, Ella B. Hoberg. Upon her death it is to go to a son, Carl G. Mrs. Hoberg and the Bank of Pittsburgh N. A. are appointed executors.

Cantor to Appear At Davies Premier

HOLLYWOOD, May 23.—Eddie Cantor, stage and screen star, will be master of ceremonies for the gala premier on June 4 of Marion Davies' latest motion picture, "The Florodora Girl," at the New Pantages Hollywood Theater.

Dedication of the new theater will be a civic affair, with municipal and county officials, motion picture stars, and the general public participating.

The theater is rapidly nearing completion. The theater itself will be dedicated to the state of California, and the ceremonies will take the better part of the day, terminating in the premier that evening of "The Florodora Girl."

BENEFACTRESS VISITS IRENE

NEW CASTLE, Pa., May 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Ella C. Mountz, wealthy resident of Smith Mill, Clearfield County, who has become interested in the case of Mrs. Irene Schroeder, convicted slayer, yesterday visited the woman in her cell at the Lawrence County jail, where Mrs. Schroeder awaits action on an appeal from the verdict of a jury which recommended that she die in the electric chair.

Mrs. Mountz conferred with Mrs. Schroeder for about 20 minutes and then returned to her home at Smith Mill. At Smith Mill last night Mrs. Mountz said she had nothing to say regarding her visit to the jail and also that there was nothing to give out at this time as to whether she would furnish financial assistance to Mrs. Schroeder in her attempt to escape the chair.

Mrs. Mountz made known, however, that she would likely reach a decision within a week, when she might have something to say regarding the case.

Census Defines What Makes Factory

WASHINGTON, (AP)—When is a factory not a factory?

It was found necessary to expand the definition given by the dictionary in making plans for the biennial census of manufactures.

Factories are not factories when doing strictly custom work as differentiated from those whose products go to the general trade says the bureau.

When stores and establishments of other kinds make goods only incidentally they are not factories.

THEY play an important part in country club life, or at the office; out in the open, or in the business conference . . . They carry the banner of summer smartness wherever smart men gather. No Edge for American.
Slugging Spikes Theory.
Two More Bucs Lost.
Jones-Grimes Stand-Off.
Road May Stop Cards.
Singer Looks Winner.

BIG SCORES KILL RIVAL LOOP'S CLAIM

CLAIMS THAT THE pitching in the American League is superior to that in the National are not standing up so well in view of the developments of the last couple of days. Sandlot slugging and scoring have caused some of the games in the junior loop to look just as much like baseball burlesques as did earlier exhibitions of the same farcical type in the Heydler circuit, and to make the boasted American League edge sound all the more like a joke the stars of the world champion pitching staff of Connie Mack have been the chief victims.

Connie Mack

In two games yesterday, the Yankees walloped the Mackian flingers for a total of 30 runs and 39 hits. In one game they made 20 runs and 23 hits. In two days Babe Ruth cracked out six home runs. He made three homers in one game on Wednesday, and Lou Gehrig made three in one game yesterday. And this was not the first instance of the sort, as in another recent game at Cleveland this same hurling corps, supposed to be the best in the American League, was pounded for 25 runs and 25 hits.

THE ATHLETICS' PITCHERS have not been the only ones to show that the mastering of the lively ball in that girdle was only temporary. The Yankee hurlers suffered in the same series. In four games played in two days, the two clubs made a total of 100 hits and 71 runs, and the 100 hits included no fewer than 20 home runs. In two games yesterday they made 13 homers, and 10 of these came in one contest, equaling the major league record set by the A's and Tigers in 1921 and duplicated by the Phils and Cardinals in 1923.

On Wednesday, one American League club scored 15 runs and another made 10. In the same league yesterday one team scored 20, two others scored 13 each and another registered 10. So it is clear that the comparatively low scores that prevailed in the younger wheel for a short time, far from proving that that league had the stronger pitching, meant merely that the hurlers there were enjoying a brief run of good form, such as is in evidence in the National also at intervals. In the main, the lively ball knows no brother, and until they ditch the rabbit pill major league baseball will be such in name only.

SPEAKING OF PITCHING, the Pirate staff, just when it appeared to have been brought back to normal by Heinie Meine's arrival at form, suffered another severe setback in the sudden illness of Steve Swetonic, who was operated on last night for appendicitis and will be out of the game for at least a month, and an attack of grip that will keep Ervin Brame, the star of the corps, idle for several days.

Steve Swetonic

Brame has been the club's only dependable starter and Swetonic has saved several games by splendid work as a relief flinger. Thus the most important of all departments is crippled again by two additions to the long run of illness and injury that has made the Rovers the most unfortunate club in either of the big leagues.

THAT THE PIRATES are not in a position to stand any loss of pitching strength was made painfully clear in yesterday's game with the Cubs. Wild and ineffective chucking, with five slabmen pressed into service, caused the Pirate winning streak to be interrupted at four straight in one of the most dismal exhibitions of the season. And it has got to be pretty poor pitching to be lower than the Cubs' own grade right now, when Joe McCarthy has shelved his first-string regulars and turned in desperation to his flock of rookies. Yesterday's game was the tenth in succession in which he was forced to change pitchers.*

NEITHER THE PIRATES nor the Braves can do any chuckling over the Grimes-Jones exchange on the face of developments up to date. Jones fared poorly in another slab appearance here yesterday, but Grims has done no better for Boston, and has failed to finish one of the last five games he started.

If Grimes were delivering in anything like his style of previous seasons, Bill McKechnie's Braves would be considerably higher in the race, as the work of the remainder of the staff compares favorably with that of any corps in the league. Harry Seibold, in particular, is a spring standout. His victory yesterday, when he handed the speeding Dodgers what was only their third defeat in their last 12 games, was his sixth in his last seven starts.

JOE CRONIN, former Pirate, whose hitting and brilliant shortstop play have been big factors in Washington's surprising dash, yesterday won the distinction of being the first player in the American League to make five hits in one game this spring. Joe did it in five times at bat in the second game of the doubleheader against the Red Sox.

Joe Cronin

Four hits have been made in one game by American League players 22 times this spring, but Cronin is the first to reach the five mark. In the National League, five hits in a game have been made by Freddie Lindstrom twice and by Lefty O'Doul, Babe Herman, Johnny Frederick, Taylor Douthit and Virgil Davis once each.

AS FAR AS the distance to the top is concerned, the Bucs did not lose a lot of ground in consequence of yesterday's defeat. Prior to Thursday's doings, the locals were only one game behind the first-place Dodgers. By nightfall the Cardinals had ousted the defeated Robins from the position of honor, and in spite of their own reverse the Corsairs were left only a game and a half from the top.*

FIGURING ONLY THE all-important "Lost" column, which is the one that really counts, the Pirates are actually in a tie with the league leaders, as they have suffered only the same number of defeats. The Cardinals' edge is due merely to the fact that they have played three games more than the Bucs and won them.

The Cards have won 13 of their last 14 games, but, as has been their custom for several years, they have been winners only on their home grounds. They may not look so much like pennant threats when they hit the road, where they generally slump. Last season they were the only first-division club in the National to lose the majority of games played abroad, dropping 42 against only 35 victories.

WHEN TUFFY GRIFFITHS defeated Jack Gagnon in a second match recently he upset the old theory, as did Stanley Ketchel and a BERLIN, May 23.—(AP)—The International Amateur Boxing Federation, convening here today, decided that referees hereafter must officiate from inside the ring instead of outside and that the point judges must be neutrals.

It also was decided to send to the Los Angeles Olympic Games in 1932 only eight competitors from Europe, namely the European champion in each class.

Lipton's Yacht Back in Home Port

PORTSMOUTH, England, May 23.—(AP)—The Shamrock V sailed into the harbor here today with her crew lined up and cheering and with five winning flags on her rigging, symbolizing her quintet of victories at the outset for her racing career.

Large crowds on shore cheered the America's Cup challenger, while harbor craft tooted sirens. Thus Sir Thomas Lipton's speedy boat received a triumphal welcome back to her home port.

YANKEES MAY CLINCH ZONE TITLE TODAY

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—More than three hours of slashing tennis were required yesterday to give the United States Davis Cup team a 2-0 lead over Mexico in the second round of American zone competition, virtually assuring an European invasion by the Americans.

A lithe, 20-year-old Mexican, Ricardo Tapia, fighting tooth and nail, carried blond Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Tex., through five torrid sets, before succumbing 6-3, 3-6, 6-8, 6-2, 7-5.

In sharp contrast, George Martin Lott, of Chicago, overwhelmed Ignacio de la Borbolla, former Mexican champion, without the loss of a game, winning almost at ease, 6-0, 6-0, 6-0.

DOUBLES TODAY

Tomorrow, Lott will tackle young Tapia, while Allison is scheduled to play Borbolla. With the doubles today in the hands of Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, of East Orange, N. J., experts argued that there was little chance that American team plans of sailing for Europe on June 3 in quest of the Davis Cup would be upset.

Both Tapia and Allison played brilliant tennis. Hardly a rally of their closely contested match passed without applause from a gallery of 2,000 gathered in the improvised arena at the Chevy Chase Club.

With the score seven games to six in his favor in the third set, the agile Latin scored a love game to retire for intermission with a clear-cut lead of two sets to one, and the outcome very much in doubt.

After his 10-minute rest, however, Allison returned to the courts with a new lease of life. He frequently dashed to the net, smashing unanswerable drives into the Mexican's court, and employed a soft topped shot into

DOG RACE MEET ON TOMORROW

With some of the fleetest greyhounds in America on hand, the spring meeting of the Bridgeville Kennel Club opens tomorrow night at the Bridgeville racing bowl. Two hundred and fifty dogs are quartered at the kennels.

Improvements have been completed at the track. The turns have been banked, which will insure faster time and keener racing. The dogs have been making splendid time in their workouts.

R. K. (Bob) Kelly, nationally-known racing authority, has been here since early in the week, and has passed on all of the entries. Only high-class dogs have been accepted.

H. M. Barton, identified with tracks at Oklahoma City, Atlantic City, Orlando, Fla., and New Orleans, will be presiding judge during the coming meet. He will be assisted by Dr. R. Lutz, connected with the Bridgeville Post, American Legion.

Nine races will be run each night, the first to start at 8:30 o'clock. Over $15,000 has been expended in improvements to the track and grandstand.

The meeting is being sponsored by the Bridgeville Post, American Legion.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE PECULIAR WORD USED BY GALILEO—Galileo Galilei, the famous Italian astronomer, first turned his telescope upon the planet Saturn in 1610. As he was under ecclesiastical censure, he decided to keep his discovery of the planet's peculiarity a secret. To insure his priority in the discovery, he incorporated his discovery in this long word SMAISMRMILMEBOETALEVMPIPVNENVGTTAVIRAS, the key to which lay in his private code. THE JAIL IN JACKSONVILLE—I recently have featured the fact of the Statue of Liberty being located on a prison. Here is the same paradoxical proposition with the subject reversed. The County Prison, City Jail, Criminal Court and Municipal Court in Jacksonville, Fla., all are situated on Liberty street. GROVERS FACE TECH TODAY

By JESS CARVER.

This afternoon, just to the leeward of old Margaret Morrison section of Carnegie Tech (Carnechie, Dex Very pronounces it), the sons of Skibo will wind up the most successful track and field campaign they've enjoyed for some time, with Grove City's varsity squad on hand to assist in ringing down the curtain.

If Tech wins this meet today, it'll finish with a .600 percentage, having already defeated Washington-Jeff and Western Reserve in dual engagements, while losing to Pitt and to Geneva. Their chances not being considered especially bright against the Grovers, the Tartans are about resigned to winding up with two wins and three losses, which is not bad at all, at all.

GROVE CITY STRONG

Bob Thorn has a pretty snappy sort of a team at Grove City, boasting three or four athletes capable of giving big time performances. He'll present as his aces today Freddy Pusch, in the dashes, discus and hammer throw; Reeves in the hurdles; Bartelbaugh, in the 440; Connor, in the high jump; Sofish in the shot and McCloskey, in the hammer.

Pusch, a Beaver, Pa., boy, is the all-round star of the squad. Last week, against Allegheny, he won the 100, 220 and shot, and placed in the discus and broad jump.

W. VA.-PITT READY

Having announced yesterday that they would not be represented in the I. C. A. A. A. A. meet in Boston next week, West Virginia's Mountaineers will bring their highly successful track season to a close here tomorrow, tackling Pitt in a dual meet in the Stadium, to be run off in connection with the twenty-third Pitt interscholastic carnival.

Meeting for the second time this year, Pryor, Ford City High's crack Negro sprinter, and Mike Milligan, of Peabody, staged a sensational finish in the 100-yard dash at the W. P. I. A. L. meet in the Pitt Stadium last week, with Milligan winning by a "chest," breasting the tape just a jersey's thickness ahead of Pryor. The latter defeated Milligan at the Geneva meet. They'll clash again here tomorrow in the Pitt Interscholastics, and will have Bill Bohlender, Grove City's ace, to take over.

THE LOWDOWN ON THE BUCS

By THE BENCHWARMER.

Well, folks, I don't mind tellin' you that the whole gang this mornin' is sad over Steve's sickness, but it is a great relief to know that the doctors operated in time to check anything bad. Steve's fine disposition makes him one of the most popular players on the club, and we certainly will miss him while he's away.

Things certainly are breakin' tough for Jule, but he says things could be a lot worse and keeps on hustlin'. I guess he's had more hard luck than any manager in the big leagues, but I haven't heard him grumble yet. He can't quite understand why most of his pitchers are gettin' shelled whenever they go to the mound, but if you look at the box scores from day to day you will see what is happenin' to other clubs.

The Athletics and Cubs are supposed to have crack pitching staffs, but look what they are runnin' into. The Cubs' pitchers have been off so far, McCarthy hasn't used any of them in the series here.

STILL IN RACE

Well, anyhow, we're only a game and a half off the top, so what's the use of complainin'? We're gonna get some breaks later, and when we do, the club will look different. We looked like the best club in the league in the two games in Cincinnati, but it seems when we get ourselves at Forbes Field the pitchers begin to fold up.

I got a big kick outa watchin' Dan O'Leary goin' around the bases yesterday. He's almost 91, but I know a lot of birds around 31 that haven't got as much pep. Jule told the pitchers to take a squint at Dan and get a tip on

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

The condition of Steve Swetonic, Pirate pitcher whose appendix we removed last night at St. John's Hospital, North Side, this afternoon was reported by the attending physicians as being satisfactory. The doctors asserted that it was not necessary for them to insert a drainage tube in the abdominal cavity, and that the patient should make fast recovery.

The woes of Skipper Ens and his players were increased, however, when the club doctor ordered Pitcher Ervin Brame to bed. Brame, who was slated to twirl against the Cubs this afternoon, was stricken with the grippe and he was running a fever when examined by the doctor.

The right-handed ace of the mound and home-run hitter complained of pains yesterday afternoon, but he told Manager Ens he would like to take his turn on the slab if her were able. His condition was such today that he was instructed to remain in bed until further notice. The club physician figures he will be unable to pitch for something like a week.

Ens, therefore, was left with only one pitcher to start this afternoon. Heinie Meine was given the assignment.

Swetonic apparently rallied well from the operation which was performed in fast time. It was stated by his physicians that he probably would remain in the hospital for approximately two weeks, but that he should be able to pitch again in about one month.

BLOW TO BUCS

Manager Ens, however, will not count up his relief ace for action in such a short time. Even if Steve is able to be up and around in two weeks, he will hardly be strong enough to endure the strain of pitching.

A touch of irony was noted in the sudden illness of Swetonic in that his manager had just decided to make a starting pitcher of the Native Son. In

Nick Altrock Says:

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Hughey Critz must have been eating four leaf clovers in his spinach to get traded from Cincinnati to the Giants. It's like being promoted from floor walker in a coal mine to a flagpole sitter. Wait till you see McGraw's team now with Terry, Critz, Jackson and Lindstrom sprinkled around the infield. If you can get anything past those Four Horsemen it will have to be in invisible ink. Well, Babe Ruth is in his slugging stride at last. For a couple of weeks Babe forgot he was a homing pigeon and batted like a squab.

PANKA EASY WINNER OVER KNUTE HANSEN

DANE STALLS WAY PAST KNOCKOUT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor

K-nute Hansen is a firm believer in the old saw to the effect that he who fights and takes it on the lam lives to collect shekels in another town and, as a result, he managed to tincan his weary way through 10 grueling (for him) rounds against George Panka, the Homestead bricklayer, in the windup of the opening show of the new Hickey Park A. C. in Millvale last night. A good-sized crowd turned out to see George take the big fellow over the hurdles like nobody's business in every one of the 10 rounds, but miss scoring a knockout victory.

Tall, stately blonde K-nute was an impressive figure until the fight started. As he came into the ring draped in a bathrobe he stalked about majestically for the psychological effect his size might have on his opponent. It seems George refused to scare, for he walked right out at the clang of the first rong and began his systematic job of doing a night's lathering against the Melancholy Dane, who holds a one-round knockout victory over Phil Scott.

K-NUTE HOLDS 'IM

Hansen became noticeably more melancholy as the rounds wore on until at the final bell, after having hung his manly 209-pound frame all over his stocky 192-pound opponent in clinch after clinch it was all K-nute could do to totter over to the ropes and guide himself to his corner, where he sat down and heaved himself a man-sized sigh of relief. He may have had other stormy nights in his ring career and survived them, but he never pulled through any tougher ones than this.

The fight was little more than a good workout for this Panka boy, who has told his manager that he wants to fight the good ones, meaning the heavies with reputations, and to pass up the neverwasers. In every round he sprayed gloves all over his foe and seldom took a punch in return. He sent the elegant K-nute to one knee momentarily in the opening round and from then on the Dane was caution personified and not perhaps. When the bell ended the opening frame he was holding onto Panka closer than a lodge brother.

K-nute began to shape up a little better at the start of the second round, but Panka soon took all of the fight out of him again and bloodied his nose and had him groggy at the bell. The end of the third round found Hansen painted like an Indian in his own blood, and, at the end of the fourth, Referee Al Grayber had to lead the punch-dazed veteran to his corner and put up with an argument as K-nute turned on his flat heels to utter some stirring remarks presumably about the starlit night.

STALLING PREVENTS KAYO

Hansen did so much holding and leaning in the next two rounds that the referee finally suggested that it might be a good idea if he would open up and try his luck with a few punches, to which Hansen replied that he was doing as well as he could and was satisfied to let well enough alone.

Panka set such a hot pace in the seventh, that Hansen's knees began to buckle just before the bell sounded. In the eighth K-nute tried to fight off Panka in sheer desperation and took a beautiful slugging for his efforts and went back into his shell. The remainder of the route was just the old tincan for the Dismal Dane.

Panka was unmarked at the finish and was comparatively fresh, although he had been doing all of the fighting and in addition had been carrying the bulk of his ponderous opponent about the ring. Hansen's both eyes were puffed and he was bleeding from the nose and mouth and was on the verge of exhaustion. He saved himself from a knockout only by remaining strictly on the defensive. The win was a good one for the local product in his climb up the ladder.

SOLOMEN IN DRAW

Mickey Solomen, of New Castle, 156 pounds, defeated Allen Beatty, Negro, of McKeesport, 149½, in the eight-round semi-final, put on after the main bout, but the officials kicked the decision around and wound up by calling it a draw. Judge Jack Bimco lightly voted for Solomen, but Judge Ferris ruled for Beatty, while Referee Henderson called it a dead heat. Solomen wasn't as good as usual but Beatty ran too much and fought only in spurts.

Peaches Gallagher of Swissvale, 129, defeated Jimmy Kirkpatrick, of Youngstown, 135½, all of the way in the second bout of six rounds, and Johnny Warner, of Clairton, 123½ pounds, showed fine form in beating Johnny Montabano of Braddock, 125½, in the six-round opener. Montabano was down for count of eight in the third round, nine in the fifth and three in the sixth, but put up a hard battle between visits to the floor.

The new arena is a well appointed place and promises to become a popular spot.

RODGERS NEXT CARD

Al Grayber and Jack Henderson alternated as the referees, with Jock Bimco and Frank Ferris the judges, Chappie Couch the timer and Harry Klaus the announcer. It was announced that Jackie Rodgers will meet a good opponent in the main bout next Thursday night.

TO GET AWARDS

Trophies are to be presented to the eight University A. A. championship fencing handball team, according to Joe Bach, assistant director of athletics. John Payne and Walter E. Dawson, students in the college of arts, defeated Al Angstadt, Wise and Richard Simpson in the doubles finals, 12-15, 21-16, 21-16, to claim the honor.

PENNSYLVANIA LEAGUE OPENS TOMORROW

GREENSBURG, Pa., May 23.—Opening of the Pennsylvania Baseball League, postponed Tuesday by rain, will take place here tomorrow when the Greensburg Generals clash with Pitcairn.

Elaborate preparations have been made for the game, the local post of the American Legion planning to show their newly uniformed drum and bugle corps for the first time prior to the game in a street parade. The Legion will also draw a percentage of the gate receipts.

The local club has been revamped and will present a strong lineup to engage the Railroaders.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 23.—(INS.)—Frigid water was today held accountable for the failure of Mrs. Lottie Moore Schoenhoff to swim the Niagara River from Erie Beach, Ont., to the Buffalo Yacht Club. She was in the water about two hours and was forced to give up by the cold water when within sight of her goal.

ROCKNE MADE CHAIRMAN OF TRACK BODY

SOUTH BEND, May 23.—It was announced here today that Knute Rockne will act as chairman of the All-America Board of Track and Field, which has been recently organized.

In his position as director of athletics at the University of Notre Dame, Rockne has been in close touch with track and field athletes throughout his entire career, going back to student days, when he was prominent in track athletics and was the first to vault 11 feet in the Middle West.

An all-America track team will be selected each year by Rockne and the All-America Board of Track and Field.

The following prominent track coaches have accepted membership: E. C. Hayes, Indiana; J. H. Huff, Missouri; I. Armstrong, Utah; Frank Hill, Northwestern; Leo Novack, U. S. Military Academy; Harry F. Schulte, Nebraska; George T. Bresnahan, Iowa; C. S. Edmundson, Washington; Dean B. Cromwell, Keene Fitzpatrick, Princeton; Sherman Finger, Minnesota; Frank T. Gormley, Loyola; Guy Halferty, Carnegie Tech; C. M. Jennings, Marquette; Walter Christie, California, and T. F. Keane, Syracuse.

The board when completed will consist of twenty-six track coaches.

"Track and field athletics throughout the country have boomed tremendously in the past two years," remarked Rockne in commenting on the newly organized board. "The annual Drake and Penn relays, in addition to the many duel and intersectional track meets, have aroused a new public interest which will undoubtedly reach a popular climax when the Olympic games are staged at Los Angeles in 1932. I believe a track athlete is entitled to the same All-America honors as a football player and I am very happy to be associated in this new movement with coaches representing leading colleges in all sections of the United States."

The All-America track team for 1930 will be announced at an early date.

CALIFORNIA SPRINTERS

A group of Indiana track coaches were discussing Wykoff's recent feat of running the 100 in 9 2-5 seconds at Los Angeles. One of them, from his remarks, was rather skeptical and spoke as follows:

Knute Rockne

"I was out to Los Angeles at the National A. A. U. Championships in 1921 and saw them give Charley Paddock the fast gun. Charley beat the field off the mark by more than a yard, although Charley was a notoriously slow starter. The chances are they gave Wykoff the same fast gun and he got a rocker start. Wykoff will be lucky to do 9 4-5 seconds when he comes East for the Collegiates."

I disagreed with said coach very strongly and told him that these Eastern alibis had grown rather threadbare. I remarked how Borah came East and set some intercollegiate records with the slow start that they use in the East. Then Wykoff, when just a high school lad, beat every American sprinter at Boston in the Olympic Trials, running the 100 meters in 10 3-5 seconds. The chances are that at the coming Intercollegiates he and Dyer, of Stanford, will beat the Eastern field hands down, slow start and all.

You can't deny class, regardless of where it's found.

LEAGUE LEAD AT STAKE IN FEATURE

SANDLOT GAMES TODAY

By TOM BIRKS.

The Commercial and Industrial League swings into the sandlot baseball limelight this evening with two star games. The feature game of the first half race will find the only two undefeated clubs, B. & O. and Reliance Life tangling at Carrick Park. This stacks up as a real battle, as first place will be at stake. George Miller is pitching Hurley for slab duty, while the Railroaders probably will send Turek to the mound.

The other battle finds Mine Safety traveling to Etna to meet Carnegie Steel at Isabella Field. The Appliance company aggregation will be out to add another victory to its list.

WHITAKER ON ROAD

In the West Penn League Whitaker will make the trip to Universal to meet McKeag's club. The last trip up that section found the Vogt club beating North Bessemer, so McKeag with a victory over the Aces under his belt will probably try to add the scalp of Whitaker.

The City League finds Book Shoe traveling to Magee Field to meet Jimmy Smiths and the North Side Civics and Pleasant Valley tangling at the Smillers park. Pop Geer will send Stowe against W. O. W., this game to be played at Stowe High School Field.

Both these games mentioned are local fights and should be played to capacity crowds.

A real battle is promised in the Central Loop when Soho Board of Trade and the Allegheny Collegians clash at Moultrie Park. Johnny Hornyak will work King, while Tommy Carson has Sammy Leon ready to hurl for the Collegians. The outcome of this game will have considerable bearing upon the first half championship.

CARDS FACE TEST

Three games will be played in the Steel City League. In the east division St. Elizabeth travels to Lincoln place, and seeing that the Lawrenceville club won the last tilt, a good game should be flashed. The East End Cardinals will meet the Young Men's Star Circle at Sullivan field. The Cardinals lost the battle to Star Circle at Homewood playgrounds. Morrisey is winning many games for the Star Circle, and will oppose Hussey on the mound. In the western section Observatory Civics clash with the Clover club.

In the Greater Pittsburgh League, Stephens travels to Verona and Dan Heeps hook up with Homestead Aces at West Park.

The Homestead Grays made it 27 in a row by defeating Franklin last evening at Franklin, 10 to 4. Vic Harris smacked a pair of home runs.

BOOK SHOE WINS

In the City League last night Book Shoe turned in a 9-8 victory over Pleasant Valley. J. L. Thomas won from the Jimmy Smiths, 6-2; St. Johns defeated Stowe, 5 to 3, and W. O. W. defeated the North Side Civics, 11 to 8.

Homewood took a 7-2 victory over North Bessemer, and the Homestead Aces nosed out Verona, 8 to 7, in West Penn circuit frays.

In the Greater Pittsburgh League, Reliance Life downed Whitaker, 8 to 5, and in the Crafton-Ingram Church League the Presbyterians won over Ingram, 5 to 4.

CIVICS DEFEATED

Y. M. H. A. defeated the Lincoln Civics, 11 to 7, in a Central League affair; Bylesby tied Equitable Gas, 1-1, in the Philadelphia Company circuit, and in the North Side Twilight League Ingomar won over Immaculate Heart, 11-6. North Siders tripped Blawnox, 6-5, and Troy Hill defeated St. Boniface, 9 to 1.

In the C. and I. League Joseph Hornes lost to Mine Safety, 9 to 5, and in the Monongahela Valley circuit Monessen blanked Fairhope, 5 to 0.

TECH TRACKERS MEET GROVERS

Panthers are ready for tomorrow's affair, the Panthers ready for another licking and the Mountaineers ready for another win.

The features of the meet will be the sprinting of Capt. R. F. Pete Bowen, Pitt's captain, the hurdling of Callaway, W. Va., and Knoblock, Pitt, the jumping, vaulting and shot putting of Everett Utterback, Pitt, and the doings of West Virginia's hefty pair, Hill and Goldstein, in the field events.

NIGHT CARNIVAL TONIGHT

Specializing in relay events, New Castle High School will stage the first night track meet tonight on its Stadium track.

High schools of the tri-state district have entered relay teams in the various events on the program, and have specialists listed for the individual events, of which there is a minimum. Tomorrow they'll all be here for the Pitt interscholastics, or at Altoona for the P. I. A. A. championship meet.

The Tipoff

At Hammon, N. Y., a tennis match twixt Penn State and Cook old Cagers. At Erie, a baseball game Kiski and the Pitt Junior Chicago Club of Tonawanda. At Morgantown, West Virginia and Morris Harvey with Ira Rodgers flipping on the bench.

Tomorrow another such tryout, choose its 30 rah-rah'ers, the Skibo battery meet Geneva at Beaver Falls. The trackers end it all this afternoon.

Ray Brannigan returns to Atlantic City today, where he will spend the next month getting the place ready for the annual invasion by Herman Schnaps' Dallas Lavin and Broke the Clubhouse Boy.

BIG TEN TITLE TRACK MEET OPENS TODAY

SPRINT CHAMPS RENEW BATTLE FOR HONORS

EVANSTON, Ill., May 23.—(AP.)—Two human streaks of lightning dashed over the cinder paths yesterday and then calmly pronounced themselves fit and ready for the "century of the centuries."

Tht pair of thin clad adversaries, one seeking retention of h cherished crown as the "world's fastest human;" the other determined to gain vindication as such, were Eddie Tolan, the Negro flyer from Michigan, and George Simpson, the slightly built speed king from Ohio State. The two rivals meet to decide their track destinies today and tomorrow in the feature duel of the thirti th annual Big Ten Conference outdoor carnival at Dyche Stadium.

MEET IN 220

The two also will meet in the 220-yard dash with Simpson the defending Big Ten champion and record holder in 20.6 time.

While Tolan and Simpson overshadow the entire meet with their tense rivalry, the meet is replete with stars who threaten records. Seven defending champions are back to defend their individual titles while the team championship is regarded a toss-up with Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin the big favorites.

RECORDS IN DANGER

One conference record fairly certain of tumbling during the meet is the pole vault. Tom Warne, of Northwestern and McDermott of Illinois, tied last year for the conference records with leaps of 13 feet, 7 inches, but each has bettered the mark this season, especially Warne, who has been flirting for weeks with Lee Barnes' world record.

Ted Shaw, Wisconsin's jumping jack, is a big threat to the conference high jump record of six feet, six inches, which was established in 1925 by Russell, of Chicago. The Wisconsin star has been increasing his leaps with almost every jump and looks to be the class of the field in that specialty.

PEABODY WINS

PEABODY HIGH won a triangular track meet over Schenley and Westinghouse yesterday afternoon at Westinghouse.

DETROIT, May 23.—(AP.)—The date of a scheduled bout between Primo Carnera and K. O. Christner, of Akron, O., has been changed from May 31 to June 5. Floyd Fitzsimmons, promoter, announced yesterday. The date was changed because both fighters are under suspension, and Fitzsimmons says he hopes the N. B. A. will sanction the bout.

Jack Kearns, manager of Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, who is scheduled to fight Charles Belanger, Canadian light-heavyweight champion, tonight at Olympia Arena, has announced Walker will challenge Carnera or Christner, if either becomes eligible to box here.

Oliver vs. Allegheny.

W. P. I. A. L. SERIES.
Peabody, City Section, vs. North Braddock, Section II.

The City League scholastic baseball campaign comes to a close this afternoon in a somewhat drab setting, the sectional titles having been settled on Tuesday and today's games merely completing the schedules.

The important scholastic encounter of the afternoon will bring Peabody, representing the City Section of the league, and North Braddock, defending champion, together in a W. P. I. A. L. title elimination series fracas. The game will be played on Edgewood's diamond. In the other W. P. I. A. L. semi-final game, also carded today, McKees Rocks and Aliquippa clash at the Crafton High field.

In Section I of the City League, the defending, three-year, league champ, Schenley, will meet Westinghouse on the Silver Lakers' field. The Peabody-Vocational game was played Wednesday.

Over in Section II, Oliver, sectional champs, winds up its regular season by meeting Allegheny, while Carrick takes on South Hills.

some respects. Steve was the steadiest pitcher on the club, his cleverness in emergencies saving several games already this year. Swetonic jumped into the opening game of the season in Cincinnati and saved it, thereby making it possible for the Buccos to get a running start which kept them on top for some time.

Members of the Chicago club state that Steve, without doubt, was the best relief pitcher in the league. Boss Ens was quite convinced that Swetonic was about ready to start and win his own ball games, and had given him the assignment for yesterday just before the former Panther star was stricken.

Ens probably has had met more misfortune this season than any other major-league pilot, but he takes all the bad developments in a philosophical manner. Jewel, however, is cheered by the return to action of Capt. Pie Traynor and he gets further comfort out the late reports on Lloyd Waner.

Swetonic's sudden illness caused Ens to switch to Jess Petty as his pitcher yesterday in the second clash with the Cubs. Led by Rogers Hornsby, who cashed in with a first-inning homer, the Bears trimmed the Buccos, 12 to 5. Petty had a lot of stuff on the ball, but he left the game for a pinch-hitter in the seventh and his departure marked the appearance, of reserves, some of whom gave almost tearful exhibitions on Fogarty Knoll.

It was a real contest as long as Petty toiled, but the relief men soon gave the enemy enough runs to allow him to put the game on the ice.

Bob Osborn pitched the bigger portion of the game for the invaders, he leaving the scene in favor of Southpaw Malcolm Moss during a home rally of the sixth.

SUHR HITS HOMER

Gus Suhr and Gabby Hartnett also came through with homers. The new screen that fronts the rightfield stands made Hornsby its first victim in the seventh. The Rajah hit the netting with a drive and was held to two bases.

A great throw to the plate in the fifth by Hazen Cuyler did a lot to sway the game to the Cubs. Cuyler's shot caught the fleet Brickell, who was trying to tally from second with a run that would have put the Buccos out in front.

SKIBO TRACK LEADER NAMED

Pole vaulting Ray Barger, of Brunswick, Md., was named captain of the Carnegie Tech varsity track and field squad for 1931 at the second annual sport dinner of Carnegie athletes last night.

Members of the swimming, track, basketball, rifle and cross-country teams were guests of honor at the affair, which was well attended and had for a toastmaster John Laboon, president of the athletic council.

Barger is sophomore in the school of architecture and holds the school record for the vault, which he set this year. He cleared 12 feet.

Members of all the teams honored, the coaches and student managers were introduced to the banqueters. Among the speakers were Track Coach Guy Halferty, Basketball Coach Ralph Hogan and Tennis Coach B. P. Hoover.

Two brilliant pitching performances featured the second division encounter, Lefty Grove sending the St. Louis Browns into fifth place and the Detroit Tigers to seventh while Chicago and Boston dropped to sixth and eighth respectively.

CARDS GRAB LEAD

First place in the National League passed into the hands of the St. Louis Cardinals as they gave the Cincinnati Reds their seventh straight defeat, 4 to 2, while the Boston Braves were beating out Brooklyn [illegible].

Brooklyn found Ed Sanicki to hold a big lead and he pitched his eighth complete game of the season and drove in the winning run himself with a single in the ninth inning. It was Sanicki's sixth victory.

Chuck Klein, leading National League hitter of the season, found the range in the Polo Grounds in the second inning to open a slugging bee between the Phillies and the New York Giants and give the Phillies a 10 to 8 victory and their first triumph over the Giants this season.

The Chicago Cubs likewise did some range finding to make 13 hits good for a 12 to 5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates who made the same number of blows.

SEC. II WOMEN TEAMS CLASH TODAY

By VERNE SWARTSFAGER.

The women have it again! The third women's team league match of the week is being held today at the Aleoma Country Club with the six teams of Section II captained by Mrs. Hugh C. Anderson, of Longue Vue, in action.

Aleoma and Longue Vue got away to the first contesting at 10:30 this morning, the Country Club of Pittsburgh team meeting South Hills at 11 o'clock and St. Clair played Westmoreland at 11:30.

Only one other tournament is on the books for today's local golf and that is an event of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Phi Delta Theta at the Wildwood Country Club. Joseph Langfitt is chairman of the event and more than 50 are expected to participate.

Wildwood yesterday was the scene of a great get-together party in which members and their guests had a real day's fun.

Women golfers of the district yesterday found the Oakmont Country Club still Oakmont when the Section I women's team league matches were played there. Oakmont whipped Stanton Heights 8 to 0. Fox Chapel won from the Pittsburgh Field Club 6 to 3. Edgewood bumped Chartiers Heights 7 to 2, and Allegheny whitewashed Shannopin 8 to 0. The results of the four somes follow:

Homestead Trackers Win Over Duquesne

Homestead High School defeated Duquesne in a dual track meet yesterday afternoon at the Homestead Athletic Field, 73 to 41.

The Gold and Blue athletes captured nine first places in 13 events. Brown and Marks, of Homestead, tied with Acheson, of Duquesne, for individual scoring honors, capturing two firsts for total of [illegible] points.

Homestead defeated Duquesne last week in a close match, 43½ to 42½.

Sport Vignettes

For variety, Pittsburgh holds its own with any community when it comes to sports. . . . In addition to baseball, tennis, golf, boxing shows, track meets and all of the other standard pastimes, it has ahead of it within the next few weeks dog races at Bridgeville, Milt Crandall's turtle derby at Duquesne Garden, the horse show at the Allegheny Country Club, wrestling at the Meyers Bowl and automobile racing, also at Bridgeville. . . . If you can't get a kick out of at least one sport on the local calendar, you had better go back to your crocheting. . . . Our dear old Pirates certainly are getting their share of tough breaks this season in the way of illnesses and injuries to the stars. . . . The latest victim, Steve Swetonic, crack relief pitcher, will be sorely missed, his work having been a feature of the campaign so far. . . . Sammy Mandell, the lightweight champion, will be a spectator when Al Singer clashes with Ignacio Fernandez, the Filipino, in their return bout in Madison Square Garden, New York, tonight. . . . Sammy has a date to defend his title against the brilliant young Singer this summer and wants to get a line on his form. . . . Jimmy Conrad, manager of Johnny Dunn, the New Kensington featherweight favorite, has turned down an open-air match with the hard-hitting Eddie Shea for Johnny at Erie. . . . He accepted a bout with Battling Battalino, the featherweight champion, in Erie, but Pete Reilly, Battalino's manager, wouldn't take this bout in that town because he figured he could get more with it here. . . . Battalino is signed for two more showings at the Meyers Bowl this summer, according to Pete, and the latter is willing to cut the champion loose against our best local talent after his warm-up bout against Vic Burrone there the other night. . . . Whitey Wenzel, former rugged middleweight boxer of the North Side, who now is employed in the Jones and Laughlin plant, is planning to return to the umpiring field. . . . Whitey officiated in a number of sandlot baseball battles several seasons ago, but dropped out of the sport only to discover now that he would like to get back into the old excitement of being called a crook and a robber by birds hiding in the grandstand or standing behind a six or seven-deep crowd. . . . Whitey during his ring campaign was a hard hitter and boxed a lot of good ones. He met the late Harry Greb no less than a dozen times and wound up his career with a stand against Gene Tunney, then the American light-heavyweight champion, at Philadelphia.—HARRY KECK.

Mrs. Moody's tennis showed a vast improvement over yesterday, particularly in overhead play, volleying and service. Queen Helen won all four of her service games without any of them going to deuce and she scored five aces.

Penn State Election Ends in Deadlock

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., May 23.—The election of officers for the Penn State Athletic Association for next year, held yesterday, resulted in no candidate having a majority. A special election will be held next Monday to choose a president and secretary of the organization; the two candidates standing highest in the first balloting will be the only ones considered in the new election.

The presidential contest will be between Cooper French, football and baseball star, and Johnny Zorella, a football player and wrestler.

The candidates for secretary will be Dick Detwiler, track and cross-country runner, and Tommy Evans, football player.

Gallant Fox Not To Run in Withers

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, trainer for William Woodward, announces that Gallant Fox, winner of both the Preakness and Kentucky Derby, will not start in the Withers stake at Belmont Saturday, May 31.

If Gallant Fox is withheld from the Withers, Harry Payne Whitney's Whichone, crack juvenile last year, will be a heavy favorite. Whichone and Gallant Fox probably will meet in the Belmont stakes on June 7.

GOB, ON EDGE, TO REST

ORANGEBURG, N. Y., May 23.—(INS)—After what the scribes reported as a violent display of temper, Jack Sharkey was regarded today as closely approaching the peak of training for his fight for the heavyweight title against Maxie Schmeling of Germany on the New York Milk Fund card, June 12. The Boston sailor was no cross in his workout yesterday, an almost immediate letup in rigid training was expected.

Annoyed by remarks of spectators that Johnny Grosso, one of his sparring mates, might be as good a man as Sharkey himself, the irked Bostonian gave Grosso a severe pummeling, flayed Paul Cavalier and King Solomon, two other shock absorbers, and called it a day by whacking his manager Johnny Buckley, a good clout on the head.

Then Sharkey punched the bag viciously, finally smiled and peace in camp was restored. Sharkey displayed some vicious jabs and left hooks. He expects to leave probably Sunday for Boston to rest for two or three days, resuming training Tuesday or Wednesday.

MAX BACK IN CAMP

ENDICOTT, N. Y., May 23.—(INS)—Cheered by a radiophone talk to his mother in Berlin, Max Schmeling was back at his training camp today preparing for his fight with Jack Sharkey. Schmeling talked to his mother over a special hookup from Schenectady.

New sparring partners were in sight for the German. Don Petrin, of New Jersey, was expected to retire today, having several ring engagements of his own, and Jack de Mave has announced his retirement. De Mave, however, may decide to finish his engagement with Schmeling, remaining until the German's training is ended.

YANKEE CUP STARS LEAD

the forecourt that had helped earn him the first set.

Not until the final game, however, was the match decided. Tapia continued his back court play, after driving hard, clean shots that passed Allison for placements. He tires, noticeably in the last three games, however, and Allison settled the issue with hard service aces and well directed placement shots which the Mexican could not ach.

The story of Lott's overwhelming victory over Borbolla is told in the score sheet. The Chicago youth scored 22 placements against three for the Mexican, and committed only 39 errors while forcing Borbolla into 60 faults.

Not until the fifth game of their first set did Borbolla gain even a deuce. Then, in the fifth game of the second set, when the Latin needed only a single point to score a game, Lott smashed over five straight points.

BRYON DICKSON DEAD

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—Byron Wright Dickson, former star football player at Pennsylvania, died in Miami, Fla., it was learned here today. He was aged 54 years.

UMPIRES MEET TONIGHT

The West Penn Umpires' Association will hold a meeting in the Hotel Henry tonight.

Long's Sport Comment

few others, that a fighter who has once been knocked out by another is certain to receive a second beating if he ever faces the same opponent again.

Further evidence that the ancient dope does not always hold good is likely to be produced in New York tonight when Al Singer enters the ring with Ignacio Fernandez.

Ignacio Fernandez

ON MAY 17, last year, Fernandez knocked out Singer in the third round of a bout in New York. No other battler has ever succeeded in flattening Singer for the count, and it might be figured that in a second meeting Al would be working under a mental hazard that might cause him to lose again. But it will not be surprising if he changes the result and wins. After his victory over Singer in 1929, Fernandez lost to Tony Canzoneri in three rounds and was also beaten by Kid Chocolate and Frank Klick, whereas Singer has since won 14 contests in impressive style and has lost only a disputed decision to Chocolate. On comparative performances since their first clash, therefore, Singer has a decided edge in form, and besides he will have an additional incentive to spur him on, as if he is beaten he will forfeit his chance to meet Sammy Mandell for the lightweight championship on July 17. It will be surprising if tonight's bout does not end in a victory for Singer.

Going Home for Week-Ends

The old home town . . . mother's cooking . . . the gang and old friends . . . no wonder you like to go home for week-ends. Expense is the only objection. That makes every young fellow consider the advisability of making the trip.

Now if you had a car . . . one that didn't cost too much to buy and operate . . . things would be different. You and your chum could "shove off" Saturday P. M. and be home in no time.

Here's a thought. Spring is here and Summer is just around the corner. There will be many, many times you will wish you could drive home. A good used car is easily within your means if you buy it now. Why not buy a Used Car and be all set for some fun? You can get your favorite make and model at a price you can afford to pay . . . easy terms, too. Right now is the time to settle the car question. Turn to the

DAILY TRUE STORY

Palace Inc. ... to ... Sylvester Cummings

Palace Inc. was James Palace despite the "Inc." He appreciated the efficiency of Cummings, who had been an able executive with his concern for many years, and he made him a very substantial present when he left.

Cummings [illegible] and the admiration [illegible] money [illegible] noted [illegible] Lora [illegible] rude [illegible] Mrs. Cummings [illegible] Lora [illegible]

Lora and the new home and she made many friends. She was very popular [illegible] Club. Mrs. Cummings began to feel that [illegible] before [illegible] the eyes of the [illegible]

Harriet Sylvester Cummings was a [illegible] and independent. It was much easier to live especially with a charming and popular daughter to provide [illegible] and provide for [illegible] a man [illegible] membership in the [illegible] Club and suitable [illegible]

Cummings' investments gave him an income [illegible] needed assistance, and Cummings looked about for the right sort of a position after the worry about his wife was over and it was established that she was on the road to recovery. Return to the home city was out of the question. Mrs. Cummings would have to remain in the city with altitude if she would remain in good health.

Cummings was only 48. He considered himself to be right in the prime of life. There was one big concern in this city where Cummings hoped he would find a suitable position as an executive. It was a big concern and there should be plenty of opportunity for him. He became friendly with Oliver Wayne, head of this concern, a man about his own age. He expected that his friendship would ultimately lead to his connection with the firm.

Serious Life Views

"There's no need to worry," Sid, his wife told him. "You deserve a long rest. Lora will be married before long. She has a half-dozen nice young men at her heels."

"Nonsense, my dear. A man, my age has no right to retire and now is the time to add a little more to our funds and increase the old income. Besides we owe it to Lora to give her everything."

Lora, in the storeroom after some odds and ends of things, heard this as plainly as if her parents had been there instead of in the room below. It worried her a little.

Not all of Lora's admirers were exactly young men. There was Col. Garland, extremely wealthy widower of 50, and Oliver Wayne, equally wealthy and about her father's age. Wayne had inherited the big business and big private fortune from his father. He had known how to run the business and have plenty of time to play and keep young.

Donald Roberts was a third possibility with Lora, or better say, "another." Col. Garland wasn't a possibility. He hadn't a chance. Lora liked Don immensely. If only he would seem to take just a little more interest in the serious side of life. He was secretary of the Consolidated Utilities Company, but it seemed to Lora that he must be a secretary in name only, as he was seldom away from his golf, fishing parties and other forms of adult playing.

Lora was a sensible girl. She didn't want to marry a man with no ambition who would be just a flop in life. She would like a nice rich man, being a perfectly normal and sensible girl, but if she loved a man enough she'd marry him if he were not rich, only he would have to be ambitious and steady, or else she wouldn't love him. A man like her father—perfectly adorable, a good provider even though he never attained great wealth, would be adorable.

Oliver Proposes

Oliver Wayne seemed to tip the scales of favor with Lora better than all others. Despite his 48 years, to which he owned unblushingly, he looked like a man of 35. He was a fine appearing man, well educated, amusing, and plainly quite mad about Lora.

He told her frankly that until he met her he had entertained no serious thoughts of marriage.

And then he proposed.

He didn't go to Lora's father about it. He said he didn't believe in that. It was old stuff. Lora was 20, quite capable of deciding, and the modern girl would marry as she pleased, regardless of anything.

Lora wanted to think it over.

"You ought to know by now, my dear," Wayne pleaded.

Lora did know. But she didn't want to shout "Yes" the moment he proposed. That was one thing Wayne didn't know. Wayne believed that he knew practically everything.

The time came, however, when Lora made up her mind.

She said "Yes" to Oliver Wayne.

Oliver was very happy.

"We won't announce it just yet. I'll wait until I think mother is in the mood. She isn't strong yet and she might not take it just right, you know, this involves the losing of me, in mother's eyes, Oliver."

"Yes, my dear—only don't wait too long, please."

He bought her a stunning ring.

"Wear it on any finger, dearest, until you are ready to announce our engagement, but ours is a bona-fide, sure-to-goodness engagement, isn't it?"

Associated Other Lora [illegible]

Col. Garland had given up trying to win Lora and married a charming widow of 40.

Don Roberts, not suspecting Lora's engagement to Wayne, had not given up hope.

He seemed to dog Lora's footsteps.

"Don't you ever sit at a desk? Don't you ever do something to earn your salary, Don?" Lora asked him.

"Oh, yes now and then I go into conference over there and hand out valuable advice," he said lightly.

"Advice on outboard motors and putting on Dunlops?" Lora laughed.

Refuses Dun

"The fact that you are worrying about me is hopeful a sign that you are interested. I'm going to propose, Lora."

"A better game: a honeymoon in Bermuda? Come on, Lora, propose, you'll make the course with me—for life!"

Lora smiled at him and shook her head.

"Think it over, take a lot of time, take 10 minutes—"

"I think not, Don," Lora said soberly.

"Won't accept that take another think—I'll ask you every day from now on."

It was at this time that Sylvester Cummings decided he should ask his friend, Oliver Wayne, for the position of sales manager in his concern.

Cummings spoke to Wayne about it at the club as they sat in the shade one hot afternoon on the knoll by the rough enjoying the view and the breeze.

Wayne didn't seem to be properly interested.

"Sorry you brought this up, Cummings, and don't be offended when I tell you my position and my views. You are 48. You are doubtless capable, but your years of usefulness are few. You'll be aging right along. I need a younger man, one who will grow into a knowledge of the business and then be valuable for 20 years or so."

Cummings stared at him.

"My days of usefulness are numbered? Is that a joke, Wayne?"

"No, I'm serious."

"And you consider your days of usefulness numbered? You are my age you know."

"There is a difference. I am in business. I am looking into the future. I want young men to grow up in my enterprise thoroughly competent so that when I get older I won't have to jump into the harness of petty details. Take my advice, live on your little income and be happy, Cummings."

"Thanks, Wayne. Sorry I can't take your advice."

Cummings was hurt and failed to hide it. Wayne was hard boiled when it came to business. He felt that he had lost Cummings' friendship temporarily, that when he knew that his daughter was to become Mrs. Oliver Wayne their friendship would be renewed automatically.

Breaks Engagement

Luck seemed not to have deserted Sylvester Cummings. He had scarcely finished telling his wife of his bitter disappointment when a messenger brought a letter from the Consolidated Utilities Company stating that if he considered getting back into business the company wanted his services.

It was that evening at the monthly hop at the country club that Lora sat out a dance with Oliver Wayne. They sat it out in his imported car.

"Why not announce our engagement tonight, darling?" Wayne asked.

"Because the engagement is broken, Oliver," Lora told him, sweetly, handing back the ring.

"Don't joke—"

"No joke. I've thought it over. You are 48, your days of usefulness are numbered—"

"Lora! Your father has embittered you—I hoped—"

"My father knows nothing of our engagement. I haven't told him. The Consolidated Utilities Company sent for him this afternoon. I came up in the rough this afternoon just in time to hear him tell my father that at his age he wouldn't be useful for long. That made me think about you. Probably you are right—father won't be useful many years as a husband. I want a younger man who will grow along with me in years—and while I almost wept to hear you hurt father, I was glad to have overheard. It saved me from making the mistake of marrying such an old man!"

Oliver Wayne, very red in the face and with a wild desire, for the first time in his life, to strike a woman, opened the door of his car. Lora stepped out and didn't wait for him.

Don Roberts was waiting for her.

Don had been with her in the rough and had overheard Wayne's talk with her father. Don, being the son of the owner of Consolidated Utilities Company, had been instrumental in having a place made for Cummings on the executive staff.

Wayne was so sore that he tried to cut Lora socially. It didn't work. When she returned from her honeymoon she met him with a group at the club.

"My dear Mr. Wayne," gushed Lora, as he tried to ignore her, "don't be offended because I didn't invite you to the wedding reception. You see it was just an affair for young people."

A WASTED LIFE

I saw him on his mother's knee
With look as joyous bright.
I heard his laugh of baby-glee.
The echo of delight.

I saw him at the altar stand—
A dear one by his side—
I saw him clasp a maiden's hand.
And kiss his chosen bride.

I saw him in a gambling-hell,
I saw his ready purse;
I watched him as his treasures fell,
I heard his horrid curse.

Eschew, of life, the spice

Local Bosses Repudiated

Punchot Voters showed Way to Smash Machine Rule in City and County—That Second Ward Phenomenon and Musmanno's Triumph.

Gifford Pinchot's victory in Allegheny County was a rousing declaration of independence by the citizens, and should have salutary effects in curbing the arrogance of local political bosses. Without the support he received here Pinchot could not have won the nomination.

The surprising majorities given the former Governor in many of the so-called "controlled" districts serve as warning that they are not always controllable. If the self-appointed czars of the Armstrong-Kline machine who presume to dictate how ballots shall be marked have the sense to read the handwriting on the wall, they will perceive the advisability of changing their course and giving a little more heed to public sentiment.

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong may well ask himself for example, if it pays to assume a "public be damned" attitude as he has done in ignoring the Town Hall mandate and arrogantly refusing an explanation.

Mayor Charles H. Kline may well ask himself if it is profitable to make "bread and butter" speeches.

Here was an election in which practically every outstanding leader in the local Republican organization except James F. Malone, a defeated candidate for mayor, had declared for Francis Shunk Brown. There is a suspicion, it is true, that some of the minor leaders supported Pinchot—but if they did, it was not openly.

Yet in the face of machine opposition Pinchot carried even such supposedly controlled wards as the Second.

The Forester's victory in the Second Ward, by the way, should silence any who may be disposed to call his winning of the nomination an indorsement of prohibition. Sentiment in the Second Ward is almost vehemently anti-dry. There is not a ward in New York or Chicago in which the people more bitterly resent being deprived of the legal right to drink a glass of beer than they do in the Second. Can anyone be so fatuous, then, as to imagine that in going for Pinchot the Second Ward indorsed prohibition?

Pinchot carried Allegheny County because of public resentment against bossism, because his record proved he would not accept orders from the bosses, and because he had the courage to champion causes to which the bosses were hostile.

No less impressive than Pinchot's nomination, as evidence of the people's uprising against bossism, is the splendid victory won by M. A. Musmanno in his campaign for re-election to the Legislature. He received what is believed in some quarters to be the largest vote ever received by a candidate for state representative in a hotly contested fight, polling about 19,000 votes, and, with four to elect, topping his nearest competitor by 4,000.

Musmanno had the audacity at the last session of the Legislature to defy the Fisher-Grundy machine. He waged a brave fight, almost single-handed, for the abolition of the coal and iron police, thereby incurring the hostility of corporations and politician hirelings who have exercised powerful influence in the affairs of the Commonwealth.

Musmanno's fresh triumph at the polls should encourage other members of the Legislature to pursue an independent course and, regardless of what the bosses may dictate, battle for what the people desire and the public welfare demands—the repeal of the Blue Law, for instance.

Tristate Aerial Plan Might Be Profitable

What appears to be an excellent course of procedure is the regional planning of development of airways and airports in the vicinity of Philadelphia. This is an intelligent attempt to foresee the future of the air as it affects the communities embraced in the territory covered. The first fruit is the preparation of an orderly plan of promotion, instead of having airports just "happen," and to co-ordinate purely local enterprises to the wider purposes of surrounding country.

This work, performed by the aviation committee of the Regional Planning Federation, was based on the need for a general plan having in view the relation of the larger community, highways, railways and other facilities not considered in a general way in individual aerial development. A published report on the plan shows the committee studied many angles and details and thus was able to recommend proper and economic treatment of aerial transportation problems as seen from both local and regional viewpoints.

The importance of such a plan is indicated in the statement of Harry H. Blee, director of aeronautic development, United States Department of Commerce, that a "real service" has been performed in presenting "this carefully prepared comprehensive plan for the development of suitable ground facilities for the future air traffic of the district."

Since our own development of aerial facilities has been mostly of an individual nature and more or less haphazard, as pioneering is apt to be, survey and study likely would be profitable in the Pittsburgh-Tristate region, too. It is much better to plan before building than afterwards.

Courageous

Like a Frog.

Without the ballyhoo attending a Kentucky Derby or a heavyweight match, California held a world contest the other day that was much more significant. It was at Angel's Camp, and it was staged to see whether "The Pride of San Joaquin"—a gallant bullfrog who was defeated last year for the broad-jumping championship of frogdom—could come back.

"The Pride of San Joaquin" held the title in 1928, losing it in 1929 to a dark frog. Instead of retiring into oblivion he went into a grueling course of training this year at Stockton. He shunned publicity, but his practice leaps gave his friends cause for hope.

"Pride" was the last frog to perform at the Angel's Camp contest. Some of his rivals had set marks of 10 feet. When he came up to scratch he drew in a deep breath, croaked defiantly and hurled himself through the air a distance of 12 feet 10½ inches.

Despite his aging limbs, his courage was as high as ever. There is a moral in that frog, namely, that an inflexible determination to win will triumph over every obstacle. He deserves to rank along with Horatius at the Bridge or the thin red line at Waterloo. And when he dies he should be stuffed with excelsior. That was his slogan, living.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

A Hop, Skip and Jump

You cannot cure jaywalking. They will not stay on the curb.

A jakehopper is a man who thinks with his ankles and has his destiny in his shoes.

Cities have legislated profusely in laudable municipal attempts to conserve the wild life of our big towns. We have homes for stray cats, hospitals for dogs and museums for beetles.

But the carrier pigeon and the leaping pedestrian are fast disappearing from the haunts of men. The last real jaywalker was potted with an elephant gun as he was seeking safety in a Florida bird sanctuary.

When Mr. Hoover was Secretary of Commerce he studied the needs of jaywalkers because he knew that everyone was a presidential vote.

He discovered that this quaint species of humanity paid no more attention to warning horns than a porcupine does to shaving cream and seemed to think that red and green lights were fire-flies.

The result was that the obsolete American was getting right, left and center. He would scramm across the street, get lowbridged in the safety zone, do the inverted falling leaf and lay there with his eyelids fluttering in the breeze and his shoulder-blades opening and closing gently like the petals of a rose fanned by a gentle wind.

It was finally decided that the only fair and safe way to take the census was to put every motor car in dead storage and then check up on who was alive.

Vehicular traffic is regulated by law but jayhicular traffic runs as loose and as free as corn stills in Arkansas.

The middle of the street is no place for shadow-boxing and spring dances. The chauffeurs seem to think that walking is a bad habit that can be cured.

The passage of jaywalking amendments would mean the trebling of the police force for enforcement. And we have discovered that enforcement is something that is always in the repair shop.

We seem to think that prohibition signs are paper hoops to be jumped through. Germany used to have 1,000 placards to the square acre. And you know what happened to that nation.

New York City is experimenting with jaywalkers but will soon run out of citizens and will have to resort to Guinea pigs.

We hope that they get this thing solved while there is still some one alive to enjoy the benefits.

THE IDEAL SCIENTIST

By Archibald Henderson

All sciences nowadays which make serious pretensions to exactness acknowledge the basic importance of mathematics. Number, calculation, comparison of numerical results are used in all scientific subjects.

But it has been found necessary, in order to arrive at the underlying generalizations and fundamental laws, to employ the methods of the differential and integral calculus. So complex and involved were the ideas involved in Relativity that Einstein had to employ a sort of generalized calculus, which had only been developed in recent years. The basis of all science, properly speaking, is differential equations.

It is one of the miracles of science that Michael Faraday, who was never able to master the difficulties and intricacies of the higher mathematics, achieved a series of results of extraordinary influence in the development of the study of electricity, by pure experimentation.

Faraday was not the supreme type of scientist, of which the type figure in the history of electrical development is Clerk Maxwell. Faraday was an Edison, not a Millikan—a born experimenter and not a master of theoretical skill in devising mathematical theories to explain electrical phenomena. Faraday was endlessly patient, fertile in devising ingenious apparatus and conducting novel experiments, to test out certain beliefs which he entertained.

It is literally true that he never gave up. He never acknowledged defeat. The result, in his case, was invariably and ultimately, a triumph over indifferent nature and recalcitrant material.

Faraday's first deep interest in electromagnetism dates from the year 1821, when he observed Wollaston, at the Royal Institution, attempt to make a wire carrying an electrical current, revolve around its own axis when the pole of a magnet was brought near.

Although Wollaston's experiment was unsuccessful, it excited Faraday's interest; and he added experiment to experiment in the effort to arrive at the truth. Finally he set up the following apparatus, thus described in his own words, September 4, 1821:

"Apparatus for revolution of wire and magnet. A deep basin with a bit of wax at botton, and then filled with mercury. A magnet stuck upright in wax so that pole is just above surface of mercury. Then piece of wire, floated by cork, at lower end dipping into mercury and above into silver cup."

All the features of this apparatus were very carefully calculated; for on passing a current through the wire, it revolved continuously around the magnet. The incident is historic, with incalculable consequences to invention, industry and the wealth of nations.

The apparatus described above was the first electric meter in history!

Even more indicative of Faraday's almost infinite patience was his long series of experiments to demonstrate how to convert magnetism into electricity. Faraday firmly believed in the reversibility of scientific laws. A geometrical proposition has its converse; so Faraday believed that every scientific proposition concerning cause and effect should have its converse.

It was well known, from the experiments of Oersted and others, that one could convert magnetism into electricity.

Faraday was sure it could be done.

He began his experiments in 1822. Repeated experiments, following indicated and apparently sure methods, led to no results. Six years of experimentation revealed complete failure.

In 1831, Faraday tackled the problem once more. He secured a slight, but sensible effect on the needle, which oscillated and settled at last in its original position. On the fifth day of continued experimentation he got his effect. On the ninth day, he produced a continuous current by turning a copper disk between the poles of a powerful electro-magnet, the periphery of the disk being connected to its axis through an indicating galvanometer.

Faraday, after years of experiment, had at last attained the goal of many of the greatest scientists of his day.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD ∴

By Elsie Robinson

"Human nature doesn't change"—you've heard that scores of times. It's one of our oldest axioms, and still going strong. Particularly these days when people don't want to admit a lot of startling, new facts.

"Don't worry about the world! Don't fuss about the younger generation!" they say complacently. "Everything's all right. These youngsters aren't really any different than we were at their age. They'll settle down. You'll see. HUMAN NATURE DOESN'T CHANGE."

A comforting argument, but there's not an atom of truth in it. Human nature DOES change. HUMAN NATURE IS WHAT THE TIMES MAKE IT.

Remember, in school, when you read about "the Stone Age" and "The Bronze Age?" It was easy to realize how different men must be in those two ages. Men who had actual instruments of bronze, and the skill and the culture that came with the making of those instruments, must naturally be very different from ignorant creatures who lived like apes. They thought different things, and felt and did different things. The "human nature" of the Bronze Age men was a million years removed from the "human nature" of the Stone Age men.

Sometimes human nature takes a million years to change. Sometimes it changes almost over night. Young Bill's human nature is as different from his grandfather's as the Bronze Age was different from the Stone Age. Life was a very simple thing 50 years ago. It was measured by horse power and it went at a horse pace. And men's thoughts and emotions were conditioned accordingly. There was beauty and dignity in their lives, but there was very little speed or pressure or competition. Life then was as different from life in 1930 as living in a shaded garden is different from living on the edge of a volcano.

Suddenly, almost as though a magician waved a wand, everything changed. Changed more in 50 years than it hanged in the preceding 5,000. For millions of years man had been an earth-bound creature, hemmed in by time and space. Now steamboats, trains, airplanes, submarines, automobiles, electric lights, X-rays, radio, telephone set him free—make him master of water and air as well as earth—loosed his life into a new dimension—gave him, actually, a new world to inhabit.

Change the time in which a man can make a date or a get-away and you change your man. You've changed his attitude toward life, toward himself, toward his fellow man. He's bound to think about distances and difficulties, about obligations and penalties, about money and morals, about work and play and his own right to the breaks. He'll think faster, more recklessly and restlessly, more extravagantly than his father ever thought—and he'll take, he MUST take, greater chances.

Human nature HAS changed. The "good old times" have gone forever. This is a new world and you must use a new technique to deal with it. You'll never get very far with your own life or your children's lives unless you acknowledge that fact, stranger.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

There is a guy in Milwaukee that claims he was driving along a road about 20 miles out of town one night late and come across a good looking woman just bawling her eyes out, setting in the middle of the road. You understand, I don't believe it. This guy just brags about his luck.

He stops his car and says, "Goodness me, pretty lady, what you bawling about?"

"Why, we're going to have waffles and honey for breakfast at my home in Milwaukee tomorrow!"

"Well, that's a funny thing to bawl about, sure enough!"

"Funny, is it, smarty!" she says. "It ain't so funny 20 miles from home and not a drop of gas left!"

A Night in Spring

A night in spring . . .
The moonbeams fling
Across the world their glory;
Old world by day so hoary,
But now in moonlit splendor
Like Eden's garden, tender
With youth and all the rapture
Which youth alone can capture!
Through sweet spring night
Red rose and white
Weave rapt delight;
Down all earth's highways lonely
Now gleaming moonlight only
Goes, shod in silver, lightly;
Goes, clad in silver, brightly,
While south winds sing
What dreams you bring,
Oh, night in spring!

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

The problem has been to give a full and exact account of this difficult subject, an account which a lawyer, let us say, or a schoolmaster or anyone of general intelligence but without special biological training, might be expected to follow with interest and understand, and at the same time not to confuse, weary and defeat the natural widespread curiosity about these things.

We decided to eliminate every avoidable technical term, and those we have found unavoidable, genes, germ-plasm, chromosomes, for example, we have explained with sedulous care and much mutual criticism.

H. G. Wells

Much of the current literature of heredity resorts to symbolism and formulae that suggest a mathematical textbook. It sends inquiring spirits weary and empty away.

Some passages here were first shaped in that fashion and then, when their meaning had been completely worked out, very carefully rewritten in the English language.

We fought each other not indeed for compression, but for simplification and compactness.

This Book Four was at one time, we may mention, twice as long as it is at present. We hope after all this labor to have produced a story as readable as the rest of this work and certainly, we believe, more stimulating to the imagination. For the implications of these minute particulars are immense.

For a time, then, we shall set aside the great interrogations of the previous section as if they were quite open questions, and give the essential facts of individual development and reproduction.

It may come as a novel idea to some of our readers that sex, identified in their minds with reproduction, probably had nothing to do with it in the first place and that the two were only slowly entangled. We shall then describe the minute mechanism of sexual union and inheritance.

The reader will follow the work of the Abbe Mendel from its modest beginnings to its broadening and developing consequences. Then, stripped of all jargon, the central concepts of genetics will be displayed in their essential beauty and importance. Some further sections of interest about sex will follow, and then we shall take up again those notes of interrogation with which we ended the previous section.

We shall then find that we are able to estimate the factors in the evolutionary process far more surely than we are now able to do.

We shall put the Neo-Lamarckian on trial and come to grips with that widespread and popular idea of an upward evolutionary urge, of which, as we have said, Professor Bergson and Mr. G. B. Shaw are perhaps the best known exponents.

And then emerging from such controversial matters we shall treat in the next book of the marvelous growth of the Tree of Life from its beginning.

BOOK IV.
CHAPTER TWO.
HOW INDIVIDUALS ORIGINATE.

Section One.

Can Life Arise Spontaneously?

WE have asserted already several times that all life derives from preceding life. But we have given very little to sustain that assertion. Here we will deal rather more fully with this very important issue.

Our proposition is that life is a branching tree. We want to dispose of the possibility that it is several branching trees or that new life-trees have or can originate. We have to answer the question whether under existing conditions living things may not still be able to arise from lifeless material.

Right down to the middle of the last century it was thought, even by many biologists, that living creatures could so arise "spontaneously." It was believed in not as a miracle, a rare and occasional wonder of nature, but as a fact of everyday experience. The swarm of busy maggots that appears whenever anything is left to decay was supposed to be directly generated from the putrefying material.

In antiquity it was supposed that frogs and reptiles could be generated out of mud and slime; Virgil in the Georgics gives a recipe for producing bees from the carcass of an ox; and Samson's riddle (Judges XIV) seems based on a similar misconception.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 23.—Thoughts while strolling: Bird store sells: "Kitchenette parrots." The pervasive smell of hot bread. What became of Thomas Meighan? A birthday card shop. Dr. John Erskine. Prince Matchebill, a millionaire perfumer. Why isn't there a five and ten in the Woolworth Building?

Paul Block, an Elmira, N. Y., boy, who made good in the city. The boiling hub-bub of Washington street. Syrian cafes. Swarthy children. White whiskered men who sit all day in sidewalk chairs puffing gold-tipped cigarettes. A cafe: "The Fifth Musketeer." There is an Elizabeth Arden—in the flesh.

The second-hand radio market. And its deafening squawk. Fading sign on a brick wall: "Brandy-Spirits." Trucks drawn by Percheron horses. Dollar hat shops for factory girls. Furniture in helter-skelter piles. Dimlit drug stores with red and green window bottles. And skull-capped proprietors.

Evening rat killings around old warehouses. With the entire block joining in with clubs. Fish and chip stands for seamen—like those in London. Blood and thunder movies. Cellar restaurants with coal oil lamps and red checked table cloths. Soiled white poodles.

Pool halls with shifty eyed shieks loafing in doorways. The gloom of Greenwich street after dark. Strange odors of hemp, tar and burlap. Caterwauling cats. Among the queer shadows, a casual passerby becomes suddenly mysterious and pursuing. Spooky! The chemical smells from New Jersey.

Wall street's nightly desolation. And geysers of steam spurting up from manholes. Fast pedalling bicycled messengers. Robin's restaurant. And the old Fraunce's Tavern where Washington bade farewell to his troops. Still scars on the Morgan counting house from the dynamite blast years ago.

The midnight bubble around Brooklyn Bridge. Printers hurrying for lunch. Newspaper trucks. Toothless women with pretzels on spikes. The peace of City Hall Park. Vague shuffling figures of the night. And that cerulian blue haze like a Maxfield Parrish Sky, that envelops New York just before dawn.

Montague Glass tells of a fellow returning from a funeral parlor to announce the deceased looked wonderful. "Why shouldn't he look wonderful?" a cynic observed. "He's been in Florida all winter."

I asked Charles Hanson Towne the other day why he didn't write more of his excellent poetry. "Poets are born," he laconically observed, "not paid."

It is a hoary whine of writing beginness that only a prominent name receives recognition among magazine editors. The truth is nothing adds to an editor's fame so much as discovering a new writer. That is why manuscripts from unknowns are so thoroughly searched for the divine spark.

Recently there came to a certain magazine an excellent bit of fiction by John Le Bar. His name was unknown but his piece had a wallop. A letter of acceptance and check were sent immediately and he was asked to submit further material. "John Le Bar" was the pseudonym of Harold Bell Wright, Jr., son of the novelist. The magazine suggested the story might have added interest if he used his real name. He refused.

In the year of 1929 some 700 writers sold their first stories to magazines of standing which constitutes more discoveries than were made in any other creative field.

I stopped in one of the upper avenue hotels the other day to meet a gentleman by appointment who was awaiting breakfast. A grand overlord in a cutaway tapped at the door, bestowed a jack-knife bow, clapped his hands and two waiters in gold braid brought in a slight table upon which was a half grape fruit and a pot of coffee. And I suppose it was rude but both the gentleman and myself burst out in a caliope shriek of laughter.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Have you ever thought how your best friends can be your worst enemies?

Not intentionally, but incidentally.

They are interested in you and your career and want to do something to further your progress or success.

Their minds enlarge on every accomplishment you have, and after a while they see with eyes prejudiced in your favor.

They think you are capable of doing all the things they lay at your door, but sometimes a statement can overbalance the real good that you have succeeded in doing and enemies spring up.

As soon as a person has gone over the top in any position whatsoever there are others who wish they might have done it instead.

It is human to be jealous, and the feeling grows.

Then come the little jabs of scorn or envy.

The envious ones don't care about truth, either, and they can take truth and twist it so that you could not recognize it about yourself.

If you really care about your friends, don't be too extravagant in your praise, and don't tell your friend's business, even though it seems to you that that big story should resound to your friend's glory.
